'BRUTAL' BODYCHECKS PROTESTED BY SOVIETS

MOSCOW (CP)—A fast, young Soviet hockey team handed Chatham Maroons a 4-3 defeat today in a game played at Voskresensk, a town near Moscow.

The Canadian team handed out heavy bodychecks in the second period after they fell behind and the Soviet news agency Tass reported that the Canadians played "cruelly and sometimes even brutally."

ROYAL HAIR STYLES

New hair styles were displayed by Princess Margaret, left, and Queen Elizabeth in recent appearances in London. Princess Margaret's fluffy hairdo with low fringe was seen when she attended premiere of film, "The Three Worlds of Gulliver." The Queen is shown leaving Buckingham Palace for Sandringham, driving in a new green Rover saloon car instead of customary royal black limousine.

'Copter Lost on Island With 3 Men Aboard

A giant RCAF Piasecki helicopter from Sea Island started a search on Vancouver Island this afternoon for a smaller helicopter, with three men aboard, missing since 1 p.m. Friday.

The missing machine, owned by Northern Helicopers Ltd. of North Vancouver, and flown by a New Westminster pilot, RCAF-trained Roy Webster, 36, was on its way from a mining camp on Big Interior Mountain to Bedwell Lake, 25 miles west of Port Alberni.

Passengers, as yet unidentified, were diamond drillers from Vancouver and Quesnel who were making test drills in the wilderness north of Port Alberni for a mining firm.

The miners had a base camp at the head of Great Central Lake, and operated from there to prospect sites on Big Interior Mountain, about eight miles northwest of the base camp.

CARRYING SUPPLIES

It is understood they were on their way, with supplies to Bedwell Lake when they went missing. Although the aircraft had radio aboard, and all ships in the Alberni area have been alerted, there has been no word of the missing men.

They were reported Friday at 11 p.m. as overdue. A search was made today by a B.C. Airlines light plane, but scattered cloud prevented close examination of the land where the 'copter is believed to be down.

The pilot and passengers had food and fuel, according to Air-Sea Rescue officials.

In the Piasecki, which was accompanied to the scene by an RCAF Canso, was a transport department official who has been investigating the crash of another Northern Helicopters machine in the area about a month ago.

Mr. Webster is the son of Mrs. E. G. Webster, 408 Dallas Road. He flew helicopters for the RCAF for about eight years, until his discharge two years ago.

Fiery Death For Canine Astronauts

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Two canine astronauts today were the martyrs of Russia's latest probe into space seeking answers to the problems of manned space flight.

The dogs — Pchelka (Little Bee) and Mushka (Little Fly) plunged to a fiery death Friday aboard Russia's third space ship satellite.

The space ship burst into flames when it hit the dense layers of the earth's atmosphere while Russian scientists were attempting to retrieve it from its elliptical orbit around the earth. Moscow radio, in its announcement Friday night of the failure to retrieve the space ship, said the five-ton vehicle descended along an "uncalculated trajectory."

The announcement said the order for the space ship's return was given after sufficient information had been obtained for manned space flight in the near future. The space ship which orbited the earth every 88.5 minutes followed its elliptical path for less than 48 hours.

Mail Lost in Fire

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Firemen early today brought under control a fire in the CNR's old yard offices after it destroyed one end of the $100,000 building and an unestimated amount of CNR files and public mail. No one was injured.

'CHILDREN OF INDIA'

Island Boys Set Example

(Times Duncan Bureau)

The Times "Children of India" fund on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee is $5 richer today because a group of Duncan school children are more concerned with the plight of India's starving youngsters than with their own pleasures.

Children of the Duncan Christian School were saving to buy a badly-needed soccer ball when they heard about India's hungry youngsters.

"I showed them a copy of the Times with the picture of a starving Indian boy and told them about the fund," said teacher Miss Anne Bultsma. "They thought it was a wonderful idea to give the money to the fund and forget about the soccer ball for a while."

With one exception, the 18 youngsters at the school, which opened in September, are children of Dutch immigrants.

Chosen to bring the donation in to the Times bureau were Zweitse de Wit and Wesley Elzinga, both 11.

(Money or cheques made payable to the "Times Children of India Fund" may be brought to the main Victoria office, 2631 Douglas, or to the downtown office, 1215 Broad. Receipts will be given and donations are deductible from income tax.)

'DON'T NATIONALIZE UNLESS YOU HAVE TO'

MONTREAL (CP)—Prof. J. C. Welden of McGill University said today the New Party should not regard nationalization as a doctrine.

"Do not commit yourself to nationalization as a method," the Montreal economist said during a panel discussion attended by members of groups that will form the party.

Nationalization should be resorted to when part of the economy was not functioning properly or was not pulling its weight.

Trains Running As Bill Passed

Saves Nation From Chaos Says Dief; Opposition Attacks Gov't Methods

OTTAWA (CP)—By Parliament's edict, the trains are running today across Canada.

At the 11th hour Friday night, Parliament outlawed a country-wide walkout threatened for early today by 111,000 operating railwaymen.

In the face of fierce criticism from the opposition, Prime Minister Diefenbaker called on Parliament to pass an emergency law to postpone any strike action until after May 15.

It went into effect just half a day before the national strike was to start in Newfoundland and work its way westward by time zone.

The emergency law, Mr. Diefenbaker said, saves the nation from the chaos and catastrophe of a transcontinental tie-up of the major railways.

But opposition critics contend it also destroys the right of railwaymen to strike for better wages, discredits the conciliation process and merely shunts the rail crisis ahead to May 15.

TIME, TACTICS FOUGHT

The government had to fight fast-ebbing time and the delaying tactics of the opposition to get its special law through the Commons and Senate in time to prevent the walkout, set for 8 a.m. local time today.

The stop-the-strike bill was proclaimed law at 6.30 p.m. EST after a three-day emergency debate.

It postpones any strike action by "non-op" rail workers until after May 15, by which time the government hopes a more favorable atmosphere will exist for settling Canada's biggest labor scrap.

Faced with the ban, chief union spokesman Frank H. Hall suspended the strike order and told the members of the 15-union "non-op" group to remain on their jobs.

"We would have beaten the railways in a strike if the government hadn't come to their aid," he told reporters.

There was no immediate comment from the two major railways, the privately-owned CPR and the publicly-owned CNR.

MEETING SET

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons he will summon the disputants to regular meetings to try to resolve the dispute over a 14-cent hourly pay increase proposed by a federal conciliation board — accepted by the unions but rejected by the railways.

Mr. Hall said he would go to such meetings, but added

New Call For Summit

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government today called for another UN "summit meeting" next spring to take up the problems of world disarmament.

Western observers saw the call as a move by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchey to pave the way for another visit to the United States and a possible meeting with President Eisenhower's successor in the White House, John F. Kennedy.

The call for the summit meeting came in a point communique issued by the Soviet government and Premier Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, who just completed a visit to Moscow.

The communique said:

"The Soviet Union and Cambodia regard as advisable the convocation in the spring of 1961 of a special session of the UN general assembly with participation of heads of state or governments to examine the problems of disarmament."

Khrushchev headed the Soviet delegation to the general assembly during the opening days of its current regular session. But any hopes for a summit meeting then were dashed when French President Charles de Gaulle stayed home and President Eisenhower attended the assembly only briefly.

Board Under Heavy Grilling

By JOHN MIKA

Charges that arena manager Joe Dukowski spent about $50 a month of arena money on liquor over a period of years—while the commission did nothing about it—were revealed today at an open meeting between city council and the arena commission.

About 30 people, including arena manager Dukowski, office manager Kenneth Noakes, and some other former arena employees attended the session in City Hall.

After almost two hours of preliminary hassles in a charged atmosphere, E. E. Pearlman, lawyer for Mr. Noakes, said:

"The commission is now trying to hide this by saying they knew nothing about it, and blame someone else.

"But I point out that vouchers for this have been available there a number of years, and the commission did nothing about it."

His statement came after Commissioner William Pinfold said a transcript of a commission hearing last month showed that Mr. Noakes knew about the liquor purchases, but never brought it to the commission's attention.

Mr. Noakes retorted that he did not dare go to the commission because he would lose his job.

"As far as I was concerned," said Mr. Pinfold, "I did not know of any authorization for expenditure of funds on liquor, except once, last fall, when there was a party for the hockey club representatives and the press."

Commissioner Saw No Liquor Cheques

Mr. Pinfold said during discussion at the commission hearing when the six former employees filed affidavits, that Mr. Pearlman was asked how much money was spent on liquor in a given year.

"When we tried to pin him down as to how much was spent in a year, the biggest figure he came up with was $300," said Mr. Pinfold.

Mr. Pearlman jumped up and snapped, "That is not correct. I stuck by my statement of $50 a month, and I suggested you look up your vouchers. Have you?"

Mr. Pinfold said he had never seen any cheques for liquor in the arena commission's monthly statement of accounts.

He said Mr. Noakes made out the vouchers, and "if there is anything covered up, shouldn't it be here in these vouchers?"

Mr. Noakes interjected that there was another sub-statement on cash pay-outs in the monthly reports. Mr. Pinfold replied: "but you knew that it was being spent for liquor, and you never brought it to the commission."

Mr. Noakes began replying "I never was in a position . . ."

"Just a moment," interrupted Mr. Pinfold.

"Let him finish his answer," burst out Mr. Pearlman.

"I wasn't in a position to bring it to your attention," continued Mr. Noakes, "while I was employed because I would have lost my job."

This brought a chorus of "No's" from some of the commissioners.

The liquor charges as outlined in Mr. Noakes' affidavit were revealed to the meeting after Mr. Pinfold began a synopsis of his interpretation of the controversy. He said Mr. Dukowski hired Mr. Noakes 11 years ago, and they had been very close friends, in a sense, "drinking together,

2-Prong Rebel Drive On Laotian Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—The Communist Pathet Lao radio said today that Red guerrilla forces had "surrounded" the Laotian royal capital of Luang Prabang. There were reports the Communists were advancing on the city to drive out rightwing troops.

The Communist broadcast said the Red guerrillas were making a two-pronged thrust at Luang Prabang, seized recently by rightwing forces led by pro-Western revolutionary leader Brig.-Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

Nosavan's revolutionary committee is one of three factions involved in the struggle for control in this southeast Asian kingdom. It has been involved in negotiations toward a new coalition regime with Premier Souvanna Phouma's neutralist government at Vientiane and the Pathet Lao Communist forces.

CRASH MOURNERS MARCH 'FROM CHURCH TO CHURCH'

CHIPMAN, Alta. (CP)—A giant procession of mourning relatives and friends moved from church to church in this village today to attend funeral services for 14 of the 17 teen-agers killed Tuesday in the collision of a school bus and train.

The services followed a joint prayer service and all-night vigil in the village school. By 10 a.m. today, church and school officials estimated 10,000 people had paid respects to the children. A steady procession moved past open coffins in the school auditorium until 4.45 a.m.

Members of the families remained on vigil all night.

From the school, the procession moved to the National Hall, next door to the Ukrainian Catholic Church, where services of that faith were conducted for three victims by Rev. Myron Daciuk of Mundare, Alta.

Four hundred people jammed the hall and stood throughout the service. There were no chairs. Scores stood on the steps and in front of the building.

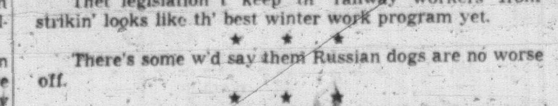
Following the service, the throng moved to St. Bonaventure Roman Catholic Church, where Solemn Requiem High Mass was sung for seven victims. Among those taking part in the rites was Archbishop Anthony Jordan of Edmonton. Earlier, there was Low Mass in the temporary chapel at the school.

The final service was for four students at the Russian Greek Orthodox Church.

Meanwhile, services were being held for one student at St. Elias Ukrainian Orthodox Church in Edmonton and for another at St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic Church in Calmar, Alta. The 17th victim was buried Friday in Edmonton.

Throughout the night, women of the district served coffee at the National Hall to an estimated 4,000 people.

Many became hysterical and many more fainted. Six members of the St. John Ambulance Corps and two from Edmonton Ambulance Service were kept busy throughout the night tending to the overwrought relatives and friends.



Thet legislation t' keep th' railway workers from strikin' looks like th' best winter work program yet.

MOON ORIGIN THEORY BACKED BY EVIDENCE

LONDON (Reuters)—A Soviet scientist said today Russia has new evidence the moon broke away from the earth in an area now filled by the Pacific Ocean.

Nikolai Gorsky, a fellow of the Soviet Geographical Society, said the evidence was obtained by Russia's series of experiments with cosmic rockets.

His statment appeared in the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star. It was quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Gorsky said the rockets have shown the moon has no magnetic field and no metallic core.

The moon, according to the Pacific Ocean theory, consists of the same kind of matter as the upper layers of the earth.

EDINBURGH — Doctors and clergymen are successfully ending the spooky ordeals of an 11-year-old Irish girl haunted by abnormal phenomena, the Church of Scotland said Friday night.

The church issued a formal statement signed by two doctors and a minister describing the strange things they saw while keeping watch at night over the girl, Virginia Campbell.

Virginia and her mother came to the Scottish village of Sauchie two months ago from County Donegal, the supposed heart of the Irish leprechaun country.

According to their signed statement, the three men and other observers heard "knocking and scraping" as they watched over the girl. They said they saw pillows moving, bedclothes "rippling" and "violent opening and shutting" of a linen basket which moved.

"We realized the need not only for medical care for the child, but also for spiritual help for the whole family, and we consulted certain ministers who have had experience of abnormal phenomena of a similar nature.

"In our opinion the phenomena are rapidly diminishing and it is our belief that they may soon disappear altogether . . ."

LONDON—Posters advertising Britain's leading birth control organization, the Family Planning Association, have been banned from London subway trains, it was announced Friday night.

A spokesman for the British Transport Commission said the posters, which went up about a month ago, are being withdrawn because of complaints.

"There is a code of standards for advertising, under which we try to avoid any kind of controversial matter, and there was quite obviously an element of religious controversy in this case," he said.

IFIELD, England—Dark goings-on among the gods of ancient Greece have roused the wrath of Ifield's mortals.

The vicar is in the middle of the rumpus rocking this normally peaceful Sussex village.

Disapproving whispers were started after Rev. Alan Williams organized an amateur village play about ancient Greece: Amphitryon 38 by the Frenchman Jean Giraudoux.

The villagers say it's too sexy; the vicar says it isn't.

In the play the god Jupiter assumes the guise of Amphitryon, a mortal, and seduces his lovely wife Alkmena while he is away at the wars.

The vicar plays the part of a Greek warrior, which is too much for some of the women of the parish. They have taken him severely to task.

"It is just larded with sex, and double meanings," said one member of the parish church council Friday.

"As far as I'm concerned, the play is moral and not in the least bit obscene or even suggestive," said the vicar.

He left by the nearest door, wiser if not wealthier.

GOV'T ACTED TOO LATE IN RAIL CRISIS

Workers Treated Unfairly—Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson spoke to a national radio audience Friday night and scolded the government for its handling of the rail strike crises.

"I do not believe the workers are being treated fairly by the legislation which the government has introduced and which, of course, merely postpones the whole question for a few months when it will have to be faced all over again," he said.

Mr. Pearson spoke in the CBC's free-time political series The Nation's Business. His speech dealt mainly with the government bill to head off a national rail tieup by prohibiting non-operating railway employees from going on strike at least until May 15.

Repeating the stand taken by his party in Parliament, Mr. Pearson said the Liberals, if they had been in power, would have intervened sooner in an effort to find a compromise formula.

DIFFERENT PLAN

"If we had failed, we would have introduced legislation so that there would have been no strike. But it would not have been the kind of legislation the government has introduced . . . there would have been no strike but there would have been a very different approach and a different bill. Our bill would have been based on the report of the conciliation board."

The majority report of the board recommended a 14-cent hourly increase for the 111,000 "non-op" workers, spread over two years beginning Jan. 1, 1960.

The Commons opposition leader said Parliament should not, in normal circumstances, compel acceptance of conciliation board reports—"we believe in collective bargaining."

"But when Parliament does intervene with legislation to forbid a strike, to compel men to work, then the situation is certainly not normal."

The course proposed by the Liberals would have done justice to the workers without doing an injustice to the companies.

playing poker together, and going to parties together.

"Suddenly there were accusations last September and then there is a blow-up."

Mr. Pinfold said "the whole controversy boiled down to a fight between Mr. Dukowski and Mr. Noakes, and we as a commission are sitting in between as goats, and we are suffering for it."

'Trial by Press' Charged

Earlier both Mr. Pinfold and commission chairman F. G. Mulliner said they were undergoing "trial by the press" for the past six weeks.

Ald. J. L. W. McLean said despite all the publicity he still does not know what had happened, and he asked for details from the commission.

He asked Mr. Pinfold, the commission's personnel chairman, who hired the permanent staff. Mr. Pinfold said Mr. Dukowski would have to answer.

Ald. McLean later asked Mr. Mulliner who had hired the office staff, and he was told by the commission chairman that he presumed Mr. Noakes was hired with Mr. Dukowski's approval. Mr. Pinfold in answer to a question on how many employees the arena had, referred again to Mr. Dukowski.

The meeting was continuing at press time.

he was not optimistic about any settlement before the May 15 deadline. The top policy committee of the unions—a body of some 100 general chairmen—is to meet soon to decide the next union move.

The legislation was poked and prodded at every stage through the Commons. Introduced Tuesday night—after last-ditch negotiations had collapsed—the bill moved with dramatic slowness.

After a nine-hour marathon sitting that went into the early hours of Friday, the Commons set the stage for third and final reading.

FINALLY CLEARED

The bill cleared the Commons at 3.25 p.m. Friday by a vote of 127 to 33. The Conservatives supported it, opposed by the Liberals, the CCF and the single New Party MP.

The Senate took two hours to send the bill through three readings—an unusual procedure in a single sitting. Royal assent was given by Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, on behalf of the governor-general, at 6.05 p.m.

More than 5,000 telegrams were sent across the country by the union leaders—notifying each local that the strike had been suspended by government order.

The government said it could not take sides—that it was steering a neutral course that simply postponed the strike to a later time when the railways will be allowed to go after higher freight rates.

Both the Liberal and CCF-New Party groups advocated a settlement based on the conciliation board award.

Senator Arthur Roebuck said the government's bill drives a spear through the heart of the federal system for settling labor disputes.

The Toronto Liberal told the Senate shortly before it approved the legislation that the measure makes a farce of collective bargaining.

Senator Roebuck, who often acts in a legal capacity for railway unions, was the only senator who stated he would not vote for the bill. Three other Liberal senators criticized the bill but said they would vote for it because they did not want a railway strike.

GOVERNMENT CREATION

The railway strike crisis was created by the government, Senator Roebuck said.

"It is as a result of government inefficiency, bungling, lack of wisdom and neglect."

Senator Thomas Crerar (L—Manitoba) supported the bill saying it was the only way a strike could be averted.

The public interest was paramount.

Senator Crerar said he has never been opposed to labor unions but that there is a growing feeling in Canada that labor unions have become all-powerful.

Dam Tragedy Recalled

FREJUS, France (Reuters)—Five thousand people stood in silence in the main square of Frejus Friday in remembrance of relatives and friends who died a year ago when a valley dam collapsed. Stores were shut and blinds of houses drawn in this town of 13,000. Men, women and children wept openly as the services brought back memories of the night of Dec. 1-2, 1959, when 400 persons died and another 50 disappeared without trace.

MUSIC SEASON IN FULL SWING

Three Programs Presented

Three musical programs Friday night attracted large audiences.

These were the Fine Arts Festival at Victoria High School which will be repeated at 8.15 tonight; annual festival of carols in aid of the 60-Up Club sponsored by the Victoria Lions Club at Metropolitan Church, and a student musical presentation at Victoria College.

The Fine Arts Festival includes vocal and instrumental solos, choruses, the school band and symphony orchestra and the play "Elizabeth Refuses."

SCHOOLS CONTRIBUTE

Tolmie, Uplands and Doncaster elementary schools, together with Oak Bay Junior and Oak Bay and Mount View high schools, contributed to the program at Metropolitan United, together with the Oak Bay Handbell Ringers.

At Victoria College the men's choir and college chorale sang Christmas selections and feature of the evening was performance of the first portion of Handel's "Messiah."

Peggy Walton Packard was guest artist as soprano soloist. Kiwi Westinghouse sang contralto, Peter Challoner, tenor, and Ken Oliphant, bass.

UN TROOPS FREE REBEL TRIBESMEN

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—UN Moroccan troops today released hundreds of captured rebel tribesmen in the southern Katanga town of Luena, after screening and disarming them.

The UN command in Elisabethville reported that about 50 of the rebel leaders were still held under close arrest.

The rebels were captured by the Moroccans after an abortive dawn raid on Luena Friday in which six Negro townspeople were killed.

The United Nations also reported the rebels attempted a second raid on Luena at dusk Friday. The attack was quickly repelled by the Moroccans who had Sten guns and mortars.

Large bands of tribesmen estimated at about 1,000 continued to circle round the town which was said to be "still potentially under siege."

BY HOWARD GREEN AND U.S. SENATE LEADER

Action Pledged on Columbia

WASHINGTON (CP)—Howard Green and Mike Mansfield have taken the usual action of joining directly to pledge to work for swift passage of a proposed Canada-United States treaty to harness the Columbia River for power.

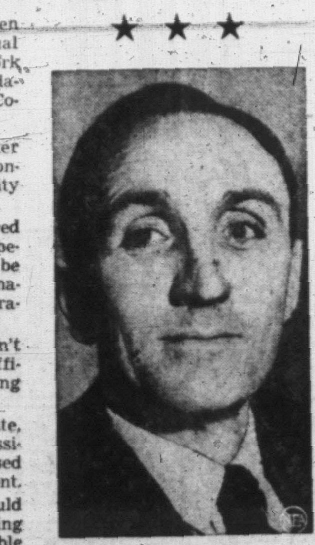
The Canadian external affairs minister initiated the move in a letter to the Montana senator, expected to become majority leader in the U.S. Senate next January.

Replying Friday, Mansfield assured Green he will do "all I possibly can" on behalf of the treaty that would have to be ratified by the U.S. Senate and the Canadian Parliament before it became operative.

Mansfield, a Democrat, said he doesn't anticipate that "we will have much difficulty, as I see it at this time, of securing ratification."

Now majority whip in the Senate, Mansfield said he is glad to see the possibility of constructing the much-discussed Libby Dam is included in the agreement.

Even without Libby, he said, "it would be my intention to do my best to bring about a ratification of any reasonable agreement reached between our two countries."



MIKE MANSFIELD

For a long time Canada held out against construction of the Libby Dam on the Montana-British Columbia border. This would freeze the Kootenay River into a pattern of flow that might prevent its use in purely Canadian power construction later.

However, the Canada-U.S. agreement forming the basis for drafting the treaty gives the U.S. a five-year-option on going ahead with the project. Mansfield has said the option will be taken up.

Under the agreement, Canada will build a series of dams on the Canadian side of the Columbia in British Columbia. She will get one-half of the power produced on the American side of the border in return for her new water storage works.

Canada also will get a cash payment from the U.S. of $65,000,000, representing one-half the flood-damage saving made possible by the dams.

Normally, diplomatic correspondence between Canada and the United States is carried on between the external affairs minister and the U.S. state secretary who until next Jan. 20, is Christian Herter. However, Mansfield disclosed that he and Green have had previous exchanges on the Columbia negotiations.

KENNEDY KIN TOURS AFRICA

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Edward M. Kennedy, a younger brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy, is making a 15-day trip to 11 African nations and will give the president-elect a report when he returns.

The younger Kennedy flew Friday to Southern Rhodesia, where he will join Sen. Frank Church (Democrat—Idaho) and other members of the Senate foreign relations committee.

CASTRO PROTESTS

U.S. Aids 'Refugees'

HAVANA (AP)—The government-controlled press today charged the United States is giving aid to Cuban counter-revolutionaries by setting aside $1,000,000 to assist refugees from Fidel Castro's regime.

But the press refrained from mentioning the reason Washington decided to assist the refugees: the United States now considers Castro's regime Communist-controlled.

President Eisenhower announced Friday he was releasing the funds under terms of the Mutual Security Act, which provides assistance for refugees from Communist-dominated lands. About 30,000 refugees from Cuba have congregated in Florida.

More trouble was shaping up for Castro in his bitter fight with the Cuban Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Church sources said the hierarchy has drafted a strongly-worded reply to Castro's accusation that the clergy accepted bribes to preach against his regime.

Cuba's prelates met privately and drew up a firm rejection of Castro's attack last Sunday in which he termed priests "henchmen in cassocks."

In the Far East, Castro's diplomats have established formal relations with two major Communist states—North Viet Nam and North Korea.

Russia Backing Down In Colonialism Fight

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Soviet bloc, which has been bombarding the General Assembly with demands for an immediate end to colonialism, was reported giving ground today to a more moderate Afro-Asian proposal.

Informed sources said the Russians—realizing they have little chance to defeat 45 Afro-Asian countries backed by many Western states—have decided to support the rival plan.

The Soviet delegation has made overtures to get the Afro-Asians to make certain key changes in their resolution, which merely calls for "immediate steps" to get the colonial powers to grant freedom to their dependent territories.

The Russians want the Asian-African resolution to read more like their own, which demnads that independence be granted to all colonies "forthwith."

The Communists were said to be making little headway, however. Many of the more moderate members of the Afro-Asian bloc have cautioned that too quick a transition to freedom might be disastrous for some dependent peoples.

They have cited the chaos now existing in the former Belgian Congo as an example.

The marathon colonialism debate in which more than 70 nations were listed to speak, winds up its first week today.

The United States has been the main target of the Soviet bloc nations. They accuse Washington of trying to crush independence and using its influence through NATO and SEATO to keep colonial regimes in power through the world.

City Council Flayed At Election Meeting

VICTOR MIDGLEY
. . . 'who are they?'

City council was criticized for the arena controversy, loss of industries, poor traffic flow and a host of other problems by budding civic politicians Friday night.

The criticisms were made during an election forum in Newstead Hall sponsored by Victoria Ratepayers Educational Committee, which drew eight of the 11 aldermanic candidates and 52 persons to hear them.

W. C. Hudson, retired businessman, said he would work for attracting and retaining industry here, a one-way street system and a new City Hall. He added that he was sure present city council would "clean up" the arena situatoin this month but if it did not "it would be the duty of the new council in January to do so."

Charles Nelles, apartment house owner, said he would concentrate his efforts on "holding the line" on taxes. He said the city should increase attempts to persuade the outlying municipalities to share some of the extra costs placed on city ratepayers to provide area-wide amenities and he urged a drive to obtain relief from the three-mill cost of providing service to tax-exempt provincial property here.

Education Costs Up to Province

C. M. Parrott, retired businessman, said he would emphasize encouragement of industry here and claimed it "is the duty of city council to get together with the provincial and federal governments to get the expensive burden of education off the home-owner."

A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of Victoria Labor Council, favored evening council meetings so that working men could run for office. He also advocated more vocational facilities here, a multi-purpose auditorium which could handle large conventions, an industrial development commission and re-instatement of the former arena employees.

Elgin Neish, commercial fisherman, attacked council's decision to send Mayor Percy Scurrah to Ottawa in an effort to obtain federal assistance in developing off-street parking. He said citizens should "not finance this junket" because they rejected a parking bylaw last year.

Mr. Neish also drew the only spontaneous applause of the meeting when he said today's council-arena commission meeting should be open.

"I say we ratepayers should plug that City Hall and force them to hold an open meeting," he stormed.

Tourists, Light Industry Boosted

Sam Lane, tourist industry spokesman, said he would work for greater development of the tourist trade to enable the city to benefit from the millions of dollars it could bring to the community. He also said he would support any plans that would encourage light industry to locate in the city.

Michael J. Griffin, plumbing firm director, said the administration of the city "should be operated on sound business principles." He advocated tax relief for persons improving their properties and said city council should give leadership in solving the problem of too many charitable appeals.

Victor Williams, real estate salesman, attacked closed arena commission meetings because "any troubles in City Hall are the public's troubles. If you've got dirty laundry it should be hung on the line so everyone can take a crack at cleaning it."

He favored more non-business representation on city council, comfort stations in the downtown area, free buss passes for senior citizens and efforts to obtain more equitable methods of civic taxation.

Absent from the meeting were candidates Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald A. I. Curtis and Mrs. Sarah Rogers, housewife.

'POLITICIANS'

Construction Association Castigated

Victor Midgley, Victoria representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Friday, termed the B.C. Federation of Construction Associations "just a bunch of politicians."

The association this week presented a brief to the cabinet requesting repeal of union dues check-off laws.

Mr. Midgley said the organization is an offshoot of the B.C. Federation of Trade and Industry.

"I would like to know where they were set up, who set them up and where is their charter?" he said.

The group claimed to represent 700 B.C. construction and contracting firms.

Mr. Midgley said the check-off doesn't affect the construction industry as members pay union dues to the secretary at the union hall.

This proved, he said the group had little or none of the affiliation it claimed with the construction industry.

'Neutralism Wrong For Canada'

TORONTO (CP) — Adlai Stevenson said today he believes it would be wrong for Canada to adopt neutralism in world affairs.

"I would have to take very sharp issue with the suggestion that Canada's future should be decided on a neutralist basis," Mr. Stevenson said.

"I think Canada has a very deep philosophic and ideological commitment to the issues of our time."

Mr. Stevenson, twice Democratic nominee for the United States presidency, was in Toronto today for speeches to two Jewish groups here.

CANADA SHOULD LEAD

"I think Canada should be a leader and not an escapist," he remarked, when asked at a press conference for comment on suggestions of neutralism by James M. Minifie, CBC Washington correspondent, in his recent book "Peacemaker or Powder-monkey."

Premiers Meet Again In August in P.E.I.

QUEBEC (CP) — The 10 provinces Friday launched a new co-operative enterprise with the establishment of periodic conferences dedicated to discussing policy matters solely within provincial jurisdiction.

Charlottetown, site in 1864 of a Maritime meeting that led to Confederation three years later, was picked as the site of the next meeting in August.

A standing invitation was extended to federal ministers to attend.

The Railway Freeze

THE ELEVENTH-HOUR LEGislation passed by the Canadian Parliament yesterday prevents an immediate railway strike but, of course, it settles nothing permanently. The problem of wages for the non-operating railway unions has merely been postponed until the middle of next May when it must be solved one way or another.

These wages are only one aspect of a much larger problem—the confused economics of the whole railway industry in this and other countries. Everywhere railways are undergoing profound changes as they meet the increasing competition of other public carriers, mainly trucks, busses and airplanes. Britain, for example, has a much costlier railway problem than ours in Canada and is subsidizing its railways on a scale that would stagger any Canadian government.

At the moment the Canadian railways are being studied from all angles by a royal commission under the able Mr. Murdoch MacPherson with a distinguished Victorian, Mr. Herbert Anscomb, as one of his colleagues. The commission is expected to file a report some time in the spring.

Meanwhile the level of wages cannot properly be considered apart from the basic changes in railway economics which the commission undoubtedly will propose. But of course the rights asserted by the railway unions in the present dispute must not be curtailed or imperilled in any way until these larger questions are settled, either by conciliation, strike or arbitration.

That was the position taken by the federal Government when it asked Parliament to freeze the existing situation for a few months.

The alternative courses open to the government were either a devastating railway strike, a state subsidy to cover an increase in wages, an increase in railway rates to provide this extra money or a compulsory arbitration.

Those solutions would all be unsatisfactory. The nation could ill afford a strike. A government already sinking again into budgetary deficits could ill afford more subsidies to the railways, certainly not until the MacPherson commission tells it whether subsidies are necessary or advisable. An increase in railway rates (now frozen pending delivery of the report) to pay the wage increases demanded by the unions would merely establish the precedent that the railway workers can always secure their wage demands at the expense of the taxpayers. And besides, rate increases will not help the railways in the end anyway, but will merely damage them in competition with other carriers.

Hence the solution arranged by the Government's legislation — a solution temporary, unsatisfactory but, we think, unavoidable. The Liberals and CCF in Parliament opposed this policy as destructive of the whole established conciliation procedure but it should be remembered that a Liberal Government, in 1950, ended a brief railway strike by enforcing an arbitration by legislation. The principle, though not the details, was the same then as it is now.

In any case, the conciliation procedure has not been destroyed but only postponed until next May when the unions will have the right to strike, if they so decide, and any wage increases they may secure will be retroactive.

For these reasons we think Mr. Pearson was wrong to oppose the Government's legislation and to demand the immediate payment of a substantial wage increase before the MacPherson commission had proposed fundamental changes in the whole railway system.

Until the commission's report is filed Government and Parliament can gain nothing by tampering with the fringes of a great national problem. But in the spring that problem must be tackled with courage. Its solution probably will involve a further reduction in the number of railway workers and of various uneconomic railway services.

But Not Unemployed

SEVEN WEEKS FROM NOW Richard M. Nixon will be out of a vice-presidential job and will probably be addressed as plain Mr. Nixon again. But he won't be unemployed.

Defeated in his bid for the United States presidency he remains the "titular head" of the Republican Party. By present indications he may be expected to make that something more than a courtesy title despite Mr. Rockefeller's attitude.

Political observers look to Mr. Nixon to keep himself in the running for a 1964 presidential nomination, retain his authority to a degree which will give him a decisive voice in naming the 1964 candidate if he does not seek office himself, or, perhaps, seek the governorship of his native California before the next convention rolls around.

Those close to Mr. Nixon predict a continuing and active political life for him in addition to a legal career.

In these days of lingering presidential campaign post mortems, the stature of the man who carried much of the load for President Eisenhower and who distinguished himself in the new, though not disloyal, position he assumed as Republican standard bearer, has remained impressive. It is natural that the conservative wing of the party should be testing the sound of "Goldwater for president." And it is not unnatural that the more liberal wing should be fixing its sights jointly on Rockefeller and 1964.

Should the division between the two widen in the next few years, Mr. Nixon, with a claim to nomination in his own right, might look even more attractive to the nominators than he did at the Chicago convention.

To outsiders schooled in the parliamentary system of Canada and Britain, it must seem unfortunate that a man of such acknowledged talents is not permitted, by the United States congressional arrangements, to be the leader of an informed and active opposition.

But though he leaves the administrative duties to which he has been accustomed for many years, he will not be idle—least of all in the political vineyard.

Evolution for Tito

PRESIDENT TITO'S PLANS FOR a new Yugoslav constitution in 1962 appear to reflect a realization on his part that nationalization of all activity is an outworn principle no longer applicable to this day and age.

He seems to be getting away from total state control and moving into at least a limited field of private enterprise. The new constitution, he says, would make man the "producer and manager while the state should appear only as a factor of co-ordination." The citizen, he adds, "has the undeniable right to work and acquire an equivalent for his work."

There is nothing particularly startling in this concept. It is a process of evolution already passed by leftists in Britain, West Germany and Canada.

The concept is one of readjustment to the present from a state system that is becoming as old-fashioned as early Victorian capitalism.

Threatening the Balanced Man

MR. JOHN HASTINGS JAMES, deputy master and comptroller of the Royal Mint, has come forth with a radical proposal. He suggests that Britain produce plastic coins instead of the heavy metal pieces which wear holes in the Britishers' pockets.

The British housewife will sing his praises. No longer would she have to take up needle and thread every few weeks to sew up hubby's pockets if he stopped carrying around in them enough metal to establish a scrap industry.

But we plead with Mr. James to think a little more seriously about his plan. It could revolutionize and possibly destroy the image of his countrymen.

The Englishman is known throughout the world for his steady, balanced approach to everything—a stout fella not given to mercurial take-offs, the kind of man for whom there is an increasingly important place in a jet age with all its accompaniments.

This has come to be regarded as a national characteristic. Of course it isn't. It is a simple demonstration of a mechanical principle. "An Englishman with his pennies and ha'pennies loaded in one trousers' pocket, and shillings, florins and halfcrowns in the other, is so counter-weighed, like familiar balancing toys, that he has to preserve an even keel.

Will Mr. John Hastings James destroy the illusion?

Nature Rambles

By FREEMAN KING

TAKE a walk down some of the by-roads where there is a pasture land and look for depressions that have filled up with the rains.

There you can watch the mallard ducks that have come in to feed on the plentiful supply of food amongst the grasses in the water. Perhaps there will be a seagull or two as well.

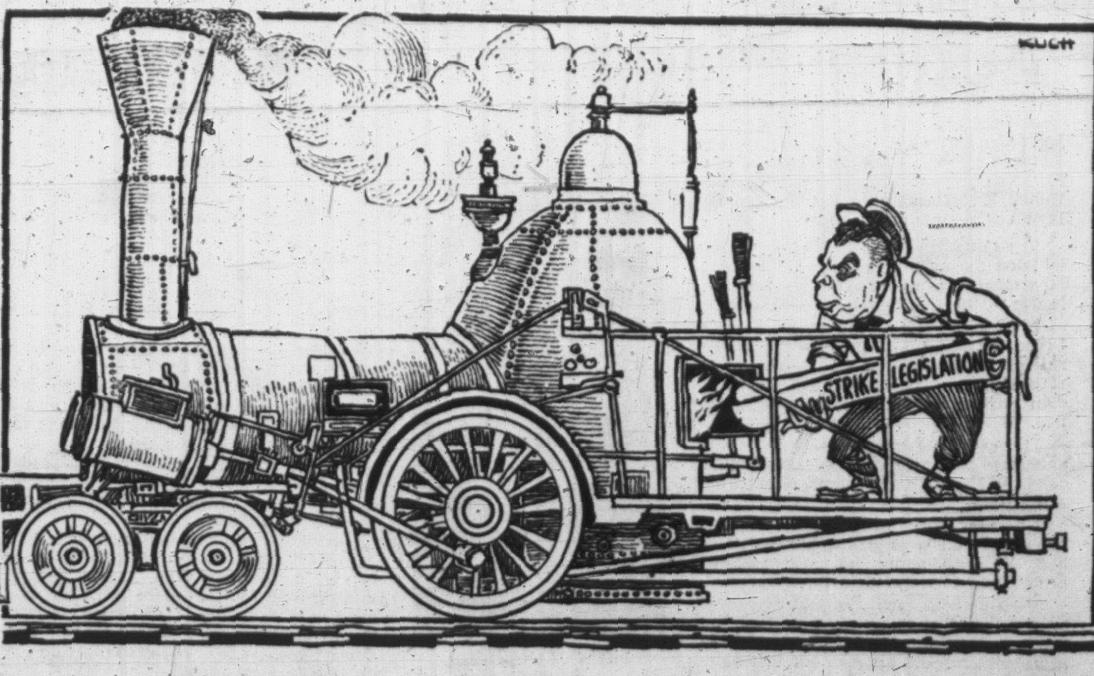
Notice the pine siskins as they dart in and out of the fir trees along the margin of the road.

Is it sight that makes these birds all move in the same direction at once?

Suddenly there is a swish and a flicker darts between the trees with a flash of white. He disappears, only to come again, giving his cry of "flicks-flicks-flicka" as he darts about looking for food.

On the ground under the canopy of the tall timbers you will see the white ghost-like leaves of plants that seem to flutter as you walk along.

In the moss you will find the mottled light green leaves of the rattle-snake plantain, and possible nestled in the crown a drop of rain looking like a jewel.



A FEW SUGGESTED REMEDIES

By MAURICE WESTERN

Growing U.S. Domination of Our Economic Activities

OTTAWA — There is wide agreement among economists here that a variety of measures is required to reverse the trend towards bigger and bigger deficits in our international accounts. One official put the matter this way. If the government is seriously concerned about the scale of Canadian borrowing abroad (and he felt that it ought to be), ministers should examine all their expenditures and all their tax policies from the standpoint of our balance of payments deficit.

Western

The Conservatives, in opposition, perceived great dangers in the growing American domination of Canadian economic activities and pledged action to meet the situation. In the last three years the problem has not diminished; on the contrary it has grown greatly in magnitude.

But very little has been done, up to the present session, along the lines favored by Mr. Diefenbaker in election campaigns. The only minister who has shown much awareness of the danger is Mr. Alvin Hamilton who, earlier this year, introduced new regulations covering Arctic exploration for oil and gas.

Marginal Safeguard

This is action at the margin of the economy to safeguard a future situation. Across the broad reaches of the economy, we are at least as vulnerable today as we were three years ago.

American capital pours into this country because there is a demand for it, because there is nothing to stop it and because some U.S. tax laws make it advantageous for Americans to invest here.

In some respects, and not by mere chance, our economy is the most open in the world. Throughout our history, we have been short of capital. Our governments, after confederation, frequently went begging for it abroad and the idea of placing obstacles in the way of investors interested in Canada would have seemed to them one of the larger lunacies.

More Onerous

Some officials now feel that the time has come to make the conditions of investment considerably more onerous for outsiders. This proposition is not, however, unchallenged.

Other advisers to the Government point out that such action would do harm if its effect was to deprive Canada of resources which Canadians themselves could not supply.

In a good many cases foreigners, drawing on a fund of special skills and technical knowledge not available in this country, have established plants here which have improved our ability to earn by exports and which Canadians, lacking these assets, would not have established.

Alternatively, it is suggested that a good deal could be done to remedy the situation by offering special inducements to Canadians to invest in Canada. This would involve preferred tax treatment, which might take various forms. According to the throne speech, Parliament is to be asked at the present session "to consider means to encourage a greater participation by Canadians in the ownership and control of industry and resources in Canada." The meaning of this passage should become more apparent when the budget is presented.

There is also a strong feeling in Ottawa that the market for investment funds in Canada is unduly restricted. In Britain insurance companies commonly invest as much as 20 or 25 per cent of their holdings in common stock. The Canadian act and regulations are imbued with a much more cautious spirit.

There is, for example, a stipulation that the insurance company may venture into this field only if the business firm seeking funds has shown a dividend of at least four per cent over seven consecutive years. It is thought that a more liberal act would so enlarge the money market in Canada as to reduce very considerably Canadian borrowing in the United States.

The throne speech seems to indicate that the officials who favor this sort of action will have their way. Parliament is to consider legislation "to enlarge the investment and other powers of insurance companies."

Spirited Controversy

Borrowing by provincial governments and municipalities in the United States has also contributed powerfully to our rising foreign indebtedness. This problem also provokes spirited controversy in Ottawa.

Some officials favor direct action to bar or restrict provincial access to American money markets. They admit that such a course might involve difficulties but feel that the "Ottawa lawyers" could find ways and means of accomplishing the purpose if the government desired to achieve it. There is no present evidence that the government has any such thought in mind.

The contrary view is that the provinces and local governments can be induced to borrow in Canada by quite different means. They have gone to the United States not by choice but because the money was not available on comparable terms in this country.

Interest rates in Canada are in large part a reflection of the financial and monetary policies of the federal government and the Bank of Canada. The limitations of monetary action have been repeatedly stressed by Mr. Coyne. But the government's responsibility for the high interest conditions of a year ago is very clear.

Virtually Excluded

Huge federal deficits led directly to such heavy federal borrowing that interest rates were forced up and the provinces found themselves virtually excluded from the Canadian money market.

Mr. Fleming has set himself this year to limit federal borrowings. He is counting, of course, on a balanced budget and it is extremely difficult at the moment to believe that this will be achieved. But he has recognized explicitly that the provinces are directly affected by federal policies.

The limitation of federal borrowing will, he has frequently said, "greatly ease the problems of provincial and municipal governments and also of private industry in meeting their essential financial requirements in the domestic market."

This is the sort of policy, in the view of some advisers, which ought to be followed consistently in the effort to reduce Canadian borrowing in the United States.

FROM OTTAWA

Get Out of Their Offices and Start Selling Products

GEORGE HEES has for years been plagued with the label "millionaire playboy from Toronto." It's not exactly the type of label that leads to political success. But there is evidence in Ottawa of a new and grudging respect for George Hees since he took over the Trade and Commerce portfolio from Gordon Churchill. Very few people here are non-committal on the subject of George Hees. Many, including Tory backbenchers, accuse him of being a straight man for his executive assistant, Mel Jack, a real pro in the political realm. There is no denying the effectiveness of Mel Jack. He is head and shoulders above the rest of the executive assistants in Ottawa.

Gould

But who can deny the sagacity of Mr. Hees in hiring Mr. Jack?

That's where George Hees shines. He can get a group of people working for him, and, from his days as a football player, is able to meld them into a team. Pep talks and rah rah are his stock in trade, and surprisingly enough it works. Corny, but it gets results.

George Hees is also cast as a backslapper. And anyone who has been belted in the region of the shoulder-blades by Big George would agree. His travels through the Centre Block are punctuated by his shouts of "Hiya!" and the groans of his victims.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker must have taken all of this into consideration when he appointed Mr. Hees to the Trade and Commerce job. When you embark on a sales campaign, you first hire a good sales manager.

This week the sales manager is holding his first promotion meeting. Canada's 111 trade commissioners have been hauled home for a pep talk. When the doors close, they are going to be told, literally, to stop wearing bowler hats and carrying rolled-up umbrellas, stop affecting English accents, get out of their offices, and start selling Canadian products.

In itself, that would be a good thing.

Far more important, Canadian businessmen have been invited to come to Ottawa for personal interviews with the trade commissioner, and their response is nothing short of incredible. Some real excitement has been generated, and George Hees created that excitement.

By the time the conference is over, about 900 individual businessmen will hold over 8,000 interviews with the trade commissioners. One-fifth of them have never before sold outside of the domestic market.

If only a fraction of these newcomers decide, on the basis of the information they receive, to enter the export field, the conference will have justified its cost. For, as George Hees said, in typical sales manager language, "it takes a bit of a shove to get off your backside and out across the world."

He has already managed to stir up some of his enthusiasm within the department, a department that had grown lethargic under Mr. Churchill, who is anything but a human dynamo.

When the conference is out of the way, the amiable Mr. Hees will meet his real test. With new trading blocs formed and forming in Europe and South America, Canada faces trade problems that cannot be overcome by hoopla and enthusiasm.

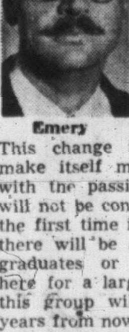
When he is confronted with these deep and disturbing trade problems, and provides the solutions, if he can, then, and only then, will the lingering doubts of his ability be dispelled.

A DIFFERENT SHAPE TO EVENTS ON CAMPUS

By TONY EMERY

To be More and More Apparent With the Passing Years

IT is interesting these days to watch how Victoria College is changing under the impact of a relatively small group of third- and fourth-year students. Heretofore the students disappeared from Victoria about the time they were beginning to have some ideas worth listening to, but now they are staying on for upper-year work their presence is already beginning to give a different shape to events on campus. This change in the atmosphere will make itself more and more apparent with the passing years, and its effect will not be confined to the campus. For the first time in the history of Victoria there will be a group of young near-graduates or pene-graduates resident here for a large part of the year, and this group will be large enough five years from now to exercise a perceptible influence in the community.



Emery

Signs and Portents

It is perhaps too soon to prophesy the exact nature of the changes that will come about, but already there are signs and portents. One of these portents is to be found in the burly person of Mr. Garry Nixon, who is one of those who hope to graduate in the class of 1961 from Victoria College.

He has already made himself responsible for enlarging our cinematic experience by bringing in some interesting experimental movies for noon-hour showing, and his boundless energy shows no sign of stopping there.

His zeal may very well have outrun discretion in his choice of Louis Bunuel's movie, Le Chien Andalou, for screening to an audience that was chomping and rustling its way through two hundred sandwich-lunches.

Surrealist Warhorse

I don't know how well you are acquainted with this old surrealist warhorse of the avant-garde silent days, but I can tell you that I was pretty glad, at the moment when an eyeball was being sliced by a cut-throat razor, that I wasn't in the process of biting into a hard-boiled egg. Just a matter of taste, I guess.

In spite of these little drawbacks I am grateful to Mr Nixon for putting the movie on. I hadn't seen it for years, and it brought back a flood of memories of those dear dead days when surrealism was a live issue in the arts, and there was a war on in Spain, and young people were bounding about, as my tutor used to say, "all acne and radical politics."

The script, such as it was, for this "Gothick" masterpiece was written by Salvador Dali, and it was well up to sample. He spared us nothing in the way of "disquieting"—a favorite word of the surrealists—and faintly horrid symbols, mostly borrowed from the case-histories in Herr Kraft-Ebing's celebrated treatise, from the look of them.

But corny though it was, and slow-moving to boot, there were some memorable scenes which achieved a peak of lunatic farce.

Take the sequence where the heroine, to use an old-fashioned expression, who had already been exposed to more and rarer perils than Pauline ever dreamed of, was about to suffer a fate worse, far worse, than life among the surrealists. At the moment when the male protagonist, who apepared to be something of a cad was—how shall I put it?—pressing his unwelcome attentions on the lady, and the whole scenario was the purest Mary Pickford, there was a neat twist.

The man suddenly found himself impeded in his wild lunge by an elaborate leather harness. Pulling and straining against this tackle he made slow yardage across the boudoir, and as the objects attached to the other end came in view what should they be but two rather surprised-looking priests sliding slowly along on their backs.

Dead Ends

The importance of movies of this kind far transcends their squalid subject-matter. Surrealism and neo-surrealism turned out to be dead ends in art, but they stimulated a great deal of thought about what art was for, and they also did a great deal to illustrate the more spectacular kinds of abnormal psychology.

The neo-surrealists themselves managed to extend the field of conflict to include politics as well, and it was in their frenzied quarrels and hysterical pleas for admission to the Communist Party that the battle lines for the politics of the artist in France began to be laid down.

So surrealism raises questions of art and psychology and politics. It is an excellent "school" of art for the beginner to cut his critical teeth on, because the technique of surrealism raises very few problems for the viwer: men like Dali and Magritte and Delvaux and Pierre Roy presented their visions with a relentless determination to be "super-real."

Vivid Nightmare

What they painted was as vivid as a nightmare recollected in the moment of waking, and so it is the "why" of the work that baffles the uninitiated, not the "what," as is usually the case.

The next time that the students are told about surrealism, or read about it, they will have the experience of an actual surrealist work to draw on. It will be easier for them to use the expression correctly than it is for the average man, who stretches surrealism to include all art since the impressionists, which is about as sensible as calling Laurier a Social Crediter, or Dizzy Gillespie a Dixielander.

And all this we owe to Mr. Nixon, who, not content with being Victoria's movie Diaghilev, is now taking over the Scene, and donning the legendary topcoat of Norman Granz, the impresario of jazz. I called him a portent, the shape (Heaven forbid!) of things to come. And he's a great deal bigger than a man's hand.

BEFORE THE JUDGE By SILENUS

Le Mot Juste

SILENUS

IT IS refreshing to see in the newspaper that the prime minister of Great Britain has declared himself the implacable enemy of the nice nellies and the mealymouthed. Mr. Macmillan deplores the modern tendency to euphemism and the decline of the robust insult.

This column is with him all the way. Mr. Macmillan is saddened by the dullness of debates in the House of Commons today, and would like to be able to enjoy some vigorous crossfire on occasion without having his ears assaulted with dismal cries of "Ungentlemanly!" and "Shame!"

It is not just in the House of Commons of England (and that of Canada is worse, if anything) that language is suffering this sad decline. Nowhere is the direct expression of forceful malediction regarded with favor. It is a crying shame. Why has it happened? Why has public debate degenerated into such dull stuff?

One could go on for volumes discussing the puritan influence and suchlike horrors, but this is not the place for it. This column advocates that some leadership be given by those who have the entree to public ear . . . politicians, journalists and the like. The use of good, plain English, well arranged and aimed at an exact objective, is all that is required.

Who among our political commentators of today would dream of referring to the enemy as a ". . . bug with gilded wings, this painted child of dirt, who stinks and stings . . ." Not one would even try to approach such heights. And it is not merely incompetence which holds them back. Fear of libel suits, fear of being called "ungentlemanly," fear of offending all, reduce public comment upon public affairs to a lukewarm affair of thin porridge and adulterated sugar. No wonder the public is bored stiff with its affairs.

With a modicum of research and some imagination, useful invective can be employed with impunity. It is surprising, when you think of it, how difficult it is to put a politician into the hatred, ridicule and contempt of his fellow citizens. Many of our public figures are in fact hated, or ridiculous, or contemptible, and some qualify for more than one of the adjectives. Let the commentator make sure of his ground before he lets fly, and he has nothing to fear from the law of libel.

As for the politicians themselves, how poor and puling are their attacks upon each other! Even when operating under their Parliamentary immunity, in the mephitic calm of the legislature, they fail to speak except in the same tired, old platitudes. It is so bad that even an old pro like Mr. Macmillan complains.

Aux armes, politicians! Up and at 'em, editors! Let's hear someone call a minister so corrupt that like a rotten mackerel he shines in the dark, and like a mackerel stinks.

The bored public, if not perhaps the minister, would undoubtedly approve.

TODAY'S TRAFFIC TROUBLE TIP

WHAT IS CARELESS DRIVING?

More drivers could benefit by a curiosity like "S.B.'s," who asks—without having been charged—"What is considered careless driving?"

Frequently, a motorist does not learn what this offence covers until he has been called to court, and naturally by that time it is too late.

The law covering careless driving is stated in the Motor Vehicle Act, a provincial statute by which we get all rules and regulations for the operation of vehicles, including bicycles.

Reader S.B. thinks the term "careless driving" is ambiguous, perhaps because it may include other offences such as passing on the right, weaving in traffic or speeding.

A close look at the law, however, shows just how appropriate the term is, for the very reason that it can be applied to situations that amount, after all, to nothing but carelessness, even if other specific violations are present.

The section is so short and to the point it can be quoted in a sentence:

"No person shall drive a motor vehicle on a highway without due care and attention or without reasonable consideration for other persons using the highway."

Of course, a driver's interpretation of "careless" may differ from a policeman's concept, in which case the decision is left to the court, where every aspect of the alleged offence can be examined.

For instance if a policeman sees a car sail sail through a stop sign without stopping, but without immediate danger to anyone or to other traffic, he may charge the driver with failing to stop for the sign.

But if that car had gone through the stop sign and crashed into another car that was going through the intersection in accordance with the rules, the offence could be interpreted quite obviously as carelessness:

The first driver failed to obey the stop sign and then was unable to avoid the other car, which is certainly more serious and more careless than the first case.

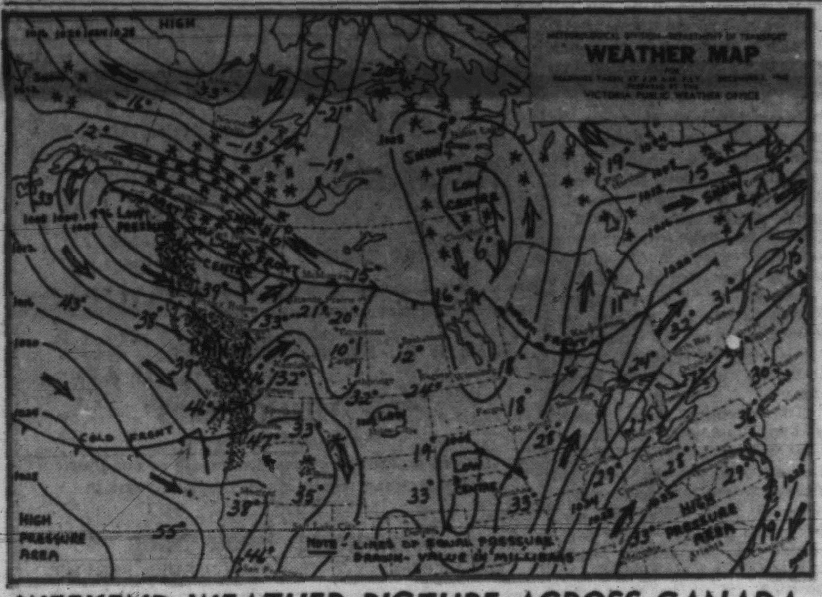
Winter can come up with some deadly tricks on motorists. Safe Driving Week is a good time to change driving habits from summer to winter.



WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—A Paficic disturbance has reached western B.C. and continued to move across the province today. This will cause snow-flurries or rain showers in the interior. Following this system there will be a gradual clearing. On Sunday a ridge of high pressure will bring mainly sunny weather to the province.

ACTH Synthesized

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh announced Thursday that a team of researchers headed by Dr. Klaus Hofmann has achieved the first successful synthesis of the cortisone-producing hormone ACTH.

ACTH is a hormone produced by the pituitary gland, the body's so-called master gland.

CONVENTION

Old Cars To Wheeze Into City

Antique autos from many parts of the United States will grind up to Victoria next June when the Horseless Carriage Clubs meet at the Empress Hotel.

They will take part in an "old crocks" race at minimum speeds around Saanich Peninsula.

Charles Moore, Empress Hotel convention manager, says 1961 is shaping up as a big convention year.

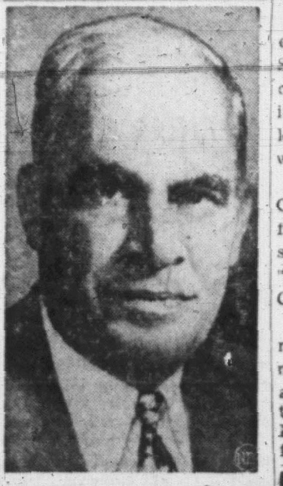
More than 600 Canadian and U.S. delegates will attend a conference of the National Retail Credit Association in May. The same month 125 star salesmen employed by Moore Business Forms, San Francisco, will meet at the hotel.

700 FORESTERS

The Canadian Order of Foresters expects at least 700 delegates to attend its convention here next June.

Pacific Northwest Trade Association, the National League of Insured Savings and Medical Services Association will also hold conventions here next summer.

Mr. Moore says 1962 will be a big tourist year for Victoria in view of the Century 21 exposition to be held in Seattle from April to October.



NAMED secretary of commerce today by President-elect John Kennedy in his new cabinet is North Carolina Governor Luther Hodges, 62-year-old former textile industrialist.

Heart Group Awards

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Ray F. Farquharson, professor emeritus in medicine at the University of Toronto, became the first winner of a special award of merit from the National Heart Foundation on Thursday. Dr. John D. Keith, president of the foundation in 1956 and 1957, and A. B. Hill, president from 1958 to 1960, each received president's awards.

KHRUSHCHEV WINS 'SPLIT DECISION'

LONDON (Reuters)—Western observers today gave Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a split-decision victory in his latest political bout for leadership of the Communist world.

The decision was based on Communist statements issued following the close of the secrecy-shrouded Moscow "summit" conference of world Communist leaders Thursday.

The observers noted a statement by East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht and interpreted it as saying the conference endorsed Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence with the West and repudiated a tougher line called for by Communist China.

Ulbricht, quoted by the East German news agency ADN, said the Communist leaders agreed the East-West balance of forces has "changed so much that it is possible to avoid wars."

FAR FROM UNANIMOUS

But backing for Khrushchev appeared far from unanimous, particularly as revealed in the official Communist communique.

The observers noted that the communique, issued Thursday, did not say the 81 Communist parties represented at the three-week conference had reached agreement.

The key words of the statement simply said the delegates "exchanged experience and familiarized themselves with each others' views and positions."

Informed sources in Belgrade said it was understood at one stage of the conference Communist China was joined by Albania and Czechoslovakia in its opposition to Russia.

THIS IS AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT to cigarette wholesalers and retailers
by the manufacturers of No7 cigarettes

We regret that owing to the demand and enthusiasm which consumers in Victoria have shown to our New King Size No7 Cigarette, supplies of the 20 pack will be short. In the meantime limited quantities of the 25 pack are available.

The reason for this shortage is that demand for No7 has outstripped supply beyond all reasonable expectations, and we as manufacturers cannot jeopardize quality for quantity.

Your smokers-our smokers-demand perfect cigarettes. To manufacture perfect cigarettes takes time, so please be patient if supplies are short—we are doing our best to supply you with Victoria's Most Wanted Cigarette No7, now in short supply in 20's but available in 25's for your regular clients.

A WRITER'S DIARY

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

Travel presents people who like books with a special difficulty, because books are so heavy. At present I am travelling for a few weeks in the northern United States, and already I have had to jettison more than half the books I brought with me.

I know that my attitude is irrational, but whenever I face a short time away from home, I am assailed by an unreasonable belief that there will be no books where I am going; the only prudent thing (it seems to me in my madness) is to take plenty of books with me, books to suit every mood.

So I go off, heavily laden; porters and bellboys curse me; Customs men (who do not seem to be great readers themselves) are suspicious of a man with such strange possessions, and they handle my book as if they thought I might be smuggling dope hidden among the pages.

A Canadian customs man once pondered long over my books, and at last made out a form on which they were described as 'Hobby Materials'. The description is adequate, but unusual.

Diaries Make Good Companions

Yet I suppose there must be many people who travel with books. I have seen special pieces of luggage designed for their transport—odd little leather boxes lined with felt, and arranged with slots for the books; I have admired these containers, but I never wanted one; they hold six books at most, and that is not enough. Anything that limits the number of books I may take with me gives me a sense of uneasiness.

There must be limits, of course; And there are books which lend themselves to travel in a special way. Diaries are first-rate; they can be read in scraps. One of the best travelling books I know is 'Everybody's Pepys', in which the best of the great diarist is printed on thin paper, with a light binding, but with the luxury of charming illustrations by E. H. Sheppard.

A companion volume is 'Everybody's Boswell', which I think has been on rather more journeys with me than the Pepys.

There is an 'Everybody's Lamb', too, but I do not really like Charles Lamb. People have wasted much splendid rhetoric telling me why I should, but without effect.

Another fine diary is that of Parson Woodforde, which is available in the World's Classics; it is the record of the life of an eighteenth century English country parson, not very clever, and certainly not acquainted with a brilliant group, but a lively, curious, busy man, who has noted down so many details of country life in his time that slowly, and by a kind of hynotism, we share his experience as we read.

And of course there is Kilvert's Diary, by another English country parson, this time of the nineteenth century, whose gentle spirit, honest piety and enthusiasm for nature make the book a classic; the full diary is in three volumes, but there is a single-volume condensation made by William Plomer.

Travel Leisure Fritters Away

I once knew a man who never travelled without a volume of Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire; he had read it many times in his jauntings. But I cannot settle to anything so demanding when I am on the go. Therefore, I must carry some novels,and this is where real trouble begins.

The notion of travelling sharply diminishes my sense of reality; I fall victim to the delusion that when I am from home I shall be the possessor of boundless leisure, and pass all of it in reading.

Five hours on the train; one book won't be enough. Or suppose it holds out for five hours; I may still want a change; therefore, there must be two books, and preferably three, in case of a change of mood. Thus my wild thoughts whisper, as I stuff books into my briefcase and suitcase.

If I ever learned anything about travel from experience I would know that the train journey would be passed in looking out of the window, in dozing, in consuming the curious, denatured victuals which are offered in the dining car—and not more than half an hour in reading.

When I arrived the situation will be no better. I shall be busy all day except for a few minutes before I fall asleep at night.

On this present jaunt, as I pursue a play through a short tour, I work all the time, even at meals, either writing, or talking to people about writing, or planning what I must write.

Read? The idea is madness.

If I read, some of it will certainly creep into what I write, and that has to be avoided; all writers know the humiliation of discovering that they have spent this morning writing something which is full of echoes, or even minute quotations, of what they read before going to sleep last night.

It is like being possessed by a demon, and the only way to avoid it is to be very careful about what one reads.

So I have read very little, and Pepys, Boswell, Parson Woodforde and four glossy new novels have been sent home because they are too heavy to be carried simply in order to ornament my hotel bedroom.

I am keeping one novel by Trollope—"The Three Clerks" in the World's Classics—and four Penguins.

I won't get them read; I know that; but just in case, suddenly, the time, the leisure, the desire for a book, should coincide . . . And thus the madness goes.

ART IN REVIEW — By ARTHUR CORRY

Sid Barron's Other Self Proves Fine Serious Artist

After a preview of Sid Barron's exhibition at the Art Gallery this week, I feel he should certainly be encouraged to fulfill his ambition to become a full-time serious painter and to continue his earnest study of art in Paris. His talent as a creative artist is certainly evident and his use of color, and construction of shape, form, and line are of top quality.

Corry

There is some slight commercial or illustrative property about Mr. Barron's paintings, but he has developed a very original style of his own. "Noon White" is the finest example of this style and deals with, as indeed do all his compositions, the sea, boats and wharfs. It is painted in shades of turquoise and steel grey, with the pinkish sky reflected in the sea.

"Harbour", "Tramp Ship", "Fraser Side", and "North of Aden", are four paintings having excellent creative characteristics, colour and design.

Influence of the Group of Seven might be detected in "Breakwater", but this is nevertheless a fine painting. More realistic than his other semi-abstract compositions and the sombre colours of grey, blue, with contrasting yellow accents, are a change from the more brilliant colours of the other paintings.

It is my belief that this artist should make a change in subject matter, possibly going to the human figure as a base for his compositions. And I feel, once orientated, he would return with an even more forceful and strong concept of form, shape and colour.

This week at The Point, W. D. West and R. De Castro are holding a joint exhibition. The former with graphics and sketches, and the latter—which I will report on next week—with sculpture.

Bill West is well known in Victoria and his excellent prints will be found in numerous homes and collections.

Using a crystaline type rock formation, Mr. West has created an abstract woodcut called "Crevice"; which shows his masterly skill in this ancient craft. However, I believe "Fog At The Bridge", surpases all other prints in this exhibition.

One can almost feel the fog seeping about the eerie lights, and the dark looming structure of the bridge.

RECENT WORK

Showing two sections of a Douglas fir on a beach, "Fallen Tree", is a very fine ink, line and wash drawing. "Three Men In a Boat", also an ink sketch, is a free, abstract type, with the fine underlying draughsmanship still visible.

Rythmic circles form a delightful pattern in "Water Scooters", and the artist has shown a keen creative ability in forming insects and their tracks into an intriquing composition.

Bill West's most recent work, and to me the most interesting, are three drawings, "Recollection of Rome", "Recollection of Amalfi" and "Recollection of Rome 2".

Using an old technique, the artist has created and captured a fresh feeling, and the ancient spirit of Rome.

Children's Book Awards Announced

VANCOUVER (CP) — Authors William Toye of Toronto and Marcelle Gauvrear of Montreal have won medals from the Canadian Association of Children's Librarians for the best children's books published in Canada in 1959.

The awards were announced by Margaret Turnbull of the Vancouver Public Library, chairman of the medal award committee of the association.

They go to Mr. Toye for his English-language book "The St. Lawrence," published by the Oxford University Press, and to Marcelle Gauvrear of Montreal for his French-language book "Piantes Vagabondes" published by Le Centre de Psychologie et de Pedagogie.

The awards runs a year behind to make sure that all association members have had a chance to read the books put up for the awards and to allow children's librarians to assess opinions of the children to whom they have introduced the books.

This is the first year that both the English and French language awards have been given to books of non-fiction —one on history and the other on natural science.

"The St. Lawrence" contains in its broad flow the history of Canada for more than 200 years, beginning in the mists of the river's creation and ending with the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"Piantes Vagabondes" is a presentation of the wandering plants of Canada.

PROFITS, YEAR'S RUN ASSURED

Camelot New 'Fair Lady?' Broadway Decides Tonight

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Nine months before the scheduled opening of "Camelot," the show was a financial success.

This is the first product of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe since "My Fair Lady," and the ticket-buying public needed no further recommendation. The musical comedy opens on Broadway tonight. Last March, the first advertisement that it was coming brought more than $400,000 in orders for tickets.

This was before it was completed, cast, scheduled, or booked into a theatre. The producers placed no further ads until October, yet they came into New York with an advance sale of close to $3,000,000, a new cash-as-cash-can record for Broadway.

Even if it is roasted alive by the critics, it will run at least a year and be a profitable venture.

This situation both pleases and worries Lerner and Loewe. They are understandably happy about the prospect of profit. But they are concerned over the heavy responsibility placed on them by the huge advance order. Should the show fail to live up to expectations, it will be a large letdown.

"We're always nervous about opening on Broadway," says Lerner, "but this feeling is intensified because of all the advance hoopla."

And this hoopla is the biggest thing in theatrical history. Ever since the fabulous success of "My Fair Lady," the public has eagerly awaited the next Lerner-Loewe creation.

As Lerner says, "Our biggest competition is 'My Fair Lady.'"

The public expects so much that they are almost certain to be disappointed; no matter how good "Camelot" is, it cannot possibly live up to the expectations.

Perhaps because of this, the strain on those connected with the show has been tremendous. Lerner, during the first tryout in Toronto, was hospitalized with a bleeding ulcer. Director Moss Hart first called this the most difficult show he'd ever been connected with, then suffered a coronary attack. It was so severe that he had to leave the show, and Lerner took over the direction after he was released. The director of the Toronto theatre where the play opened had an ulcer attack, too.

The opening in New York had to be postponed, from Nov. 19 to Dec. 3, because of the Toronto difficulties. At the opening there, "Camelot" ran until 12.30—an hour and a quarter more than the usual musical. They had to cut it all out before New York.

The major surgery, plus the assorted illnesses, gave rise to countless rumors that "Camelot" was in trouble — not financial, of course, but artistic. This Lerner denied at the time.

"The show," he said, "is in approximately the same shape now as 'My Fair Lady' was at a similar time. We know that a good hunk has to be cut, that other music has to be put in, but we will spend the next six weeks experimenting to make everything work perfectly."

The critical success or failure of "Camelot" remains to be seen, but nothing can stop the "hoopla" from continuing. The recording industry is working full speed to get out discs of the score. Already many singles are cut and Columbia is ready to record the original cast album immediately after the opening.

Lerner and photographer Milton Greene are working on a book about the musical's trials and tribulations, from inception to New York opening.

The opening night, itself, will be the biggest on Broadway this season. Micheline Lerner, Alan's wife, went to Europe to get the gowns she'll wear at that event and the parties to follow.

And so "Camelot" heads towards its opening in an odd position; if it satisfies the critics, it will be no surprise; if it is a failure, it could be Broadway's gaudiest flop.

Moiseyev Tribute Lavish Ice Ballet

The rousing "Moiseyev on Ice," one of 10 giant productions in the all-new 20th Birthday Edition of Ice Capades coming to the Victoria Memorial Arena on Dec. 12, serves as a tribute to the famed Russian ballet which was so widely acclaimed during its tour of the United States.

Set in Old Russia, "Moiseyev on Ice" is "skanced" (an Ice Capades choreographic term combining skate and dance) to authentic folk melodies brought back by Ice Capades' producer, John H. Harris, from his recent trip to Moscow.

This number calls for a larger wardrobe of brilliant costumes than any other single number in the history of the ice spectacle.

Starring the entire cast, there are nine separate changes for the skaters who appear as Cossacks, gypsies, peasants and aristocrats.

Evening performances will be at 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 p.m. Saturday with matinees at 1.30 p.m. and 5.30 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets are now on sale at Eaton's Music Centre.

Courage to Change the Things We Can, by James Audain. Pageant Press. 145 pp., $3. A novel based on a series of events in the lives of a group of problem drinkers. Central character, a recovered alcoholic, strives to aid a young night club hostess who is a compulsive drinker.

Gift to College For Name's Sake

BOSTON (UPI) — When a new instructor in broadcasting was appointed to the Emerson College faculty, he was surprised to find that the college's otherwise extensive music library had no literature on Gilbert and Sullivan operettas.

The new faculty member, Gilbert N. Sullivan, promptly bought the library an illustrated book on the subject.

Life in Bohemian Slums Lures American in Paris

THE TROUBADOR, by Louis Vaczek. George J. McLeod. $4.25.

(Reviewed by Jack Cameron)

What there is of Mr. Vaczek's plot occurs in the dingy alleyways, musty hotels and smoky cafes of the Paris Left Bank, and is intermittently spiced by a gun-battle, two brutal fistfights, a knifing, and a lively belt-swinging tiff between two masochistic lovers.

The central figure in these Bohemian big leagues is Victor Hirondelle, a cynical unknown composer who revels in his small-scale exploitation of his fellow man for food and drinks, but who is honorable enough to pay off old debts and chivalrous enough to drop the occasional five-thousand franc note into the purse of a helpless woman.

In spite of his boredom with the bourgeois, he dreams of an idyllic life on a Montana ranch, which is impossible without money and a visa. To obtain these, he hopes to plagiarize the forgotten ballads of a medieval troubador.

PUNGENT SATIRE

The ballads are also discovered by an ingenuous American history professor, whom Hirondelle plans to remove by leading him into Bohemian degradation.

Some of the best writing in the novel describes the adventures of the pair in the bistros and markets of backwoods Paris, and their sometimes pathetic, often bawdy, always noisy and unsanitary life in a rundown pension on the Left Bank.

Along the way, the hero unloads some pungent satire on manners and morals.

On teachers: "The biggest servants of all are teachers. Scullery maids and janitors in the museums of culture, at best licensed guides hired on starvation wages, like all true servants, to train the young how to swallow the past and deny the present."

The novel is weakened by some pointless digressions that do no more than introduce irrelevant characters, by some fuzzy introspection by the hero in the gnarled jargon of the amateur existentialist, and by the author's rather pat resolution of the professor's romantic conflicts in the last chapter.

Only poor Victor is left alone, ready again to begin a new symphony that will never be heard. We do not pity him, however.

What will happen when the royalties from the best seller that he has co-authored start rolling in?

Perhaps Mr. Vaczek figures the answer can wait for another book.

AT EASE HARDY, it's not Nelson. However, England expects every Victorian to do his duty and see "HMS Pinafore" next week. Ellis Todd, as Sir Joseph Porter, dropped in on the RCN to add a bit of color to his part in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta at the Royal Theatre Monday through Wednesday. Piping him aboard HMCS Ottawa is a "side party" of ABs J. Johnston and J. Turcotte with Lieut. D. Whitman at the salute.

The Sounding Board

By AUDREY St.D. JOHNSON

Something rare — something exotic — something utterly enchanting.

Isn't that the sort of parcel everybody would like to find under their tree on Christmas morning?

But of course not everybody will—only symphony patrons. The Christmas special from our symphony orchestra to its loyal followers will not actually be presented Christmas morning under a tree, but it will be everything else as stated below.

Just wait till you see what you're getting. Confidentially, I've looked under the covers and I'm going to cheat and tell about it because I can't bear to think of anyone missing out.

You won't have long to wait. Duncan gets its share first next Friday, Victorians Sunday and Monday at the Royal Theatre.

At these—the fifth series of concerts this season — there will be introduced the most fascinating troupe of miniature actors roving the North American continent today.

They are small entertainers with big, big personalities; they are thoroughly accustomed to symphony orchestras with which they regularly perform and they are all born actors.

They are, in fact, the creations of a man of genius—Daniel Llords, who has made his international puppet theatre an outstanding artistic success on two continents.

Among the unique facts about Mr. Llords and his puppets — or marionettes as they should be called for they are string not fist-operated — is that they know no hand but Mr. Llords' from the moment of creation to the end of their existence.

He moulds their heads and bodies, using plastic wood under water, paints their expressive faces, designs and makes their clothes on a child's sewing machine out of the most glamorous and expensive material including real mink and ermine.

He is also the sole operator of his spectacular productions, standing in full view of the audience above the six-foot proscenium of his stage and often manipulating as many as 187 strings at one time.

DANIEL LLORDS
. . . with actor friend

An Artist With the Gift of Tongues

In addition, Mr. Llords is a gifted linguist. He has several languages and numerous voices and accents at his command. He has, in fact, presented his marionette shows in five languages — French, German, Italian, Spanish and English.

Now, as his art becomes more and more widely known, in anticipation of more far-flung tours, he is adding Russian, Portuguese and Afrikanse to his linguistic store.

The stage he has designed and built is equipped with every feature desirable to the theatrical producer's heart, such as trap doors, revolving floors and versatile lighting.

Next weekend's symphony goers are likely to see sacrificial fires leap up, skyrockets streak across the puppet theatre sky-drop and "waltzing waters" dance across the stage.

But not the least unique feature of this remarkable presentation is that the marionettes perform interpretations of symphonic music.

Victorians and Duncanites will see them perform to music of Gounod's "Faust," Offenbach, and Mozart's Eine Kleine Nachtmusik.

Mr. Llords has coined the word "concertheatre" for his presentation and further describes it as "Puppets for Adults to Share with the Young," which, all things considered strikes me as most apt, but an intelligent concept to be expected from a young man with such astonishing gifts.

Headquarters for this true "little theatre" organization is Cannery Row on the Monterey Peninsula in California.

PIANIST, TOO

Association with symphony orchestras began early for Daniel Llords, whose professional stage debut was made as soloist with a symphony orchestra at the age of nine.

He is without doubt one of those rare persons in which all streams of human talent arrive at a confluence. Sometimes this meeting of forces so eddies and sucks and drags within the human brain that nothing firm or substantial is ever achieved.

But Mr. Llords has found a way to channel all the streams into one reservoir from which he draws fulfilment for himself and enchantment for others.

Interspersed between the puppet performances, the orchestra, alternately conducted by Hans Gruber and Clifford Evans, is offering the audience its own version of a Christmas sugarplum—an all-pops program, including Weber's "Invitation to the Waltz" and Strauss' "Roses from the South."

Surprise ingredient is a musical satire, titled by its composer, Don Gillis, as Symphony Five-and-a-Half (Symphony for Fun).

The four movements are subtitled "Perpetual Emotion," "Spiritual," "Schizophrenia," and "Conclusion!"

Singer, Dancers In Traditional Yule Ceremony

At the annual Carol Tea to be held next Saturday at Holyrood House by Victoria Musical Art Society, the program will have a Scandinavian theme.

Featured will be a performance of the St. Lucia Ceremoney of Candles by contralto Pamela Paver and the ynne Shaw Dancers.

Mount View High School ngers under S. G. MacFarnd, will sing a group of rols and Christmas songs.

Reservations may be obined by phoning Miss Adamn, EV 4-2682 before Dec. 7.

Ballet Visit To Brighten Holiday Mood

Gala Boxing Day entertainment will be provided this year by the National Ballet of Canada. The company will give two performances—at 3 p.m. and 8.30 p.m.—in the Royal Theatre, Dec. 26. On the evening of Dec. 27 "Coppelia" in its entirety will be danced.

On the holiday afternoon "Les Sylphides," Act II of "Coppelia" and "Princess Aurora" will be be presented; in the evening "Aurora" will be repeated and the program will also include "Ballad" and "Pineapple Poll," the company's famous ballet on Gilbert and Sullivan music.

Canada's leading, internationally recognized, stars Lois Smith and David Adams will head the company. George Crum directs the orchestra.

Phil Lee's Two for the Show

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile) B (For Rainy Days) A (Don't Miss) C (To put in time)

(BB) "THE SUBTERRANEANS" (Royal) — I find it most difficult to rate MGM's tale about those of the beat generation who make like crazy in the subterranean cellars of lovely San Francisco.

If I didn't know I was a square I would declare it an utter waste of time, a thorough bore and give it a "C."

On the other hand, admitting my squarish tendencies, I realize that those who are hep to the jargon and a script that seems to have been written by bongo drums may very well get the message and thereby deem it worthwhile, even a privilege.

Therefore I thought the medium "BB" rating to be the only fair solution. At least it was the easy way out.

It's all about young novelist George Peppard who can't find himself, look where he may. This shouldn't be too difficult to understand because George is lost, man. In fact he's gone!

Then he stumbles into the Bohemian quarter of San Francisco and bumps into Leslie Caron who has forsaken "Gigi" for jitters. Any old how she eventually takes Georgie to her pad and before long they are launched into an orbit reserved for lost souls and lost sleep.

Are they happy? Man, happiness is for cows and squaresville. They are so unhappy that it's beautiful. What's more they are unhappy for the film's entire 89 minutes running time.

Direction is by Rabald MacDougall.

New Victoria Artist In Cathedral Recital

Eleanor Ashford, a singer with a fine contralto voice who has had wide experience in oratorio, operetta and concert work, performing extensively in Regina, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Vancouver, will be featured soloist next week in another of the current recital series at Christ Church Cathedral.

She will appear Wednesday evening with organist Richard Proudman, presenting a program of sacred music.

Bach, Dvorak, Beethoven and Schubert compositions will be sung by Mrs. Ashford. Notably she will perform Beethoven's Creation's Hymn and Schubert's The Almighty.

Organ solos by Mr. Proudman will include the Bach C Minor Prelude and Fugue and Mendelssohn's Sonata No. 6.

Mrs. Ashford has only lived in Victoria for two years but her vocal gifts and highly trained musicianship have already been felt to advantage in the cathedral choir.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. and there will be a collection.

'Shrew' for College

Victoria College Players Club breaks into a new field this year with the production of "The Taming of the Shrew," first Shakespeare play to be done by the group.

Scheduled for February of next year, the play has gone into rehearsal with a cast of fourteen, starring Karl Wylie as Petruchio and Dale Irvine as Katherine.

This is a break from the custom at the college in recent years of producing only plays by modern or contemporary playwrights.

"Shrew" is under direction of Prof. Anthony Jenkins of the college's department of English.

MICKEY STILL HOPES TO SET LAND RECORD

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Mickey Thompson's enthusiasm for speed will carry him back into record attempts next year.

Only a month ago a speedboat accident nearly ended his racing career. He was told his legs might be permanently paralyzed.

Thompson, of El Monte, Calif., told reporters he hoped to try for a world's land speed record in late July or August. Earlier this year he travelled 406.6 miles an hour in his Challenger I over the 11-mile salt track. He was able to set a record when his car broke down on the return run.

Thompson wears a back brace from the speedboat accident, but can walk.

PICKING UP THE PIECES:

Calgary coach Gus Kyle upset more than the Cougars at Memorial Arena Friday night when he elected to make use of a new Western Hockey League ruling that gives the visiting coach the choice of ends. He also irked several season ticket holders who pick their seats to watch the Cats on attack in two of the three periods.

It could be that the rule, brought in because of faulty lighting in some arenas, will get heaved out before next season . . .

Kyle is mighty happy he didn't send Art Lariviere to Penticton Vs as he had planned. The Vs folded and the rookie netminder has played some solid games since taking over for Lucien Dechene, who was sidelined by a wrenched ankle and played only four minutes before aggravating the injury when he returned to action last week. Luce now has the ankle in a cast . .

Eddie Dorohoy, who may be dealt to Portland by Vancouver, hopes to be playing again in about two months. Eddie, who suffered a fractured ankle last season and broke it again in a fall during the summer, is now skating twice a day. He says the leg muscles are coming along well, but condition of the ankle bones is still doubtful . . .

DID-YOU-KNOW DEPARTMENT:

The "heart" of the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts is made up of players who were cast adrift by other NFL clubs for $100 or less—Johnny Unitas, Gene "Big Daddy" Lipscombe, Milt Davis, Buzz Nutter and Bill Pellington . . . So great was the respect for major league umpires in the 1800s that the National League had a rule requiring all players to address the arbiters as "Mr. Umpire" . . . Harry Criss, a one-armed pitcher who played under the name of Hugh Daley, won 72 games during a five-year major league career between 1882 and 1887.

It was just a couple of weeks ago that Victoria Kickers drew a reprimand from Eddie Viggers, president of the Victoria and District Football League.

Kickers own lots of booting ability. They also have some over-enthusiastic talkers and were causing more than a little dissatisfaction around the 11-team soccer circuit with their tendency to squabble and bicker.

The result was that Viggers decided enough was enough and instructed the club to either do less talking or step out of the loop.

Apparently Kickers agreed that Eddie had a point and they were a pleasing club to watch while hustling to a 3-2 victory over Victoria West last weekend.

And there was no doubt that spectators appreciated the change, and the quality of the match. Among them was veteran observer Percy J. Woodley, who sent along a letter with his impressions.

Mr. Woodley wrote:

"These impressions are by a spectator at Central Park on Sunday afternoon.

"Victoria West and Kickers played a league soccer game, the issue of which was in doubt until the final whistle.

"Kickers had the ball in the net in the first minute and the facial picture suggested a walkover. But such was not the case. A good company of fans enjoyed a grand game, not one of whom left the ground until the final whistle.

"Absence of sideline coaching and spectator remarks were noticeable, contributing largely to the quality of the entertainment.

"There was not a dull moment. The decision to entrust (referee) Murray Speller with the outcome was a commendable one. From start to finish the game was played at a cracking pace, but it was not too fast for the referee whose work was beyond question, ably supported by two efficient linesmen.

"Sportsmanship predominated. Fouls were few and far between. Players of both teams are accorded a bouquet for efforts to give the fans improved soccer entertainment.

"Carry on the good work.

Vikings Drop Verdict To Towering Trojans

It was a tall man's game all the way at Victoria College gym Friday night and the Viking basketball squad missed the inches.

Beaten 50-34 by the Everett Junior College the game locals were run off their feet by juniors who boasted an average height advantage of four inches.

The game featured short, accurate passing by the visitors and long, often intercepted, passing by Vikings.

Outstanding man for the Vikings was captain Tom Wyatt, who played all but five minutes of the gruelling game, finally giving out towards the end of the last quarter.

STRATEGY SIMPLE

Trojan strategy was simple. Presenting a towering opening lineup, they built up a healthy lead in the first quarter, ran the shorter Vikings off their feet for two quarters and put on a scoring spurt in the last fifteen minutes.

Top scoring honors went to the losers' Darrell Lorimer, who sank 11 points, trailed by Everet's Chuck McMillan with 10, in a game featuring so much close team work that individual scoring was low.

This was the first of a series of games Victoria College hopes to play with American university teams.

Lineups:

Everett—Brost 4, Mahoney 7, Frank 2, Johnson 8, McMillan 12, Olljar 3, Cook 3, Merrick 1, Sterling 4. Total 50.

Victoria College — Lorimer 11, Sadler 6, Wyatt 6, Littleton 7, Brice 4. Total 34.

Scramble Test Slated Sunday

Opposition from two or three Vancouver riders is expected Sunday when the Victoria Motorcycle Club stages a scramble program at the old Colwood race track.

Scheduled are four main events in which all entrants will start. Each event will have a reverse start, with the top-rated riders starting from the rear.

Donations will be accepted from spectators and all proceeds will be turned over to a Christmas fund.

Par Tourney

Mrs. W. A. R. Hadley won the Silver Division in the Victoria Golf Club annual par competition this week. Mrs. W. B. Leach took the first Bronze Division award and Mrs. H. F. Morrow won the second Bronze Division.

GET THAT PUCK OUT OF HERE!

Sliding out to edge of crease to slide shot, rookie Calgary goalie Art LaRiviere is apparently plenty worried as he yells at his mates to get puck out of Stampeder zone in Western Hockey League game Friday night at Memorial Arena. One of busiest men on ice, Art had reason to be concerned since he yielded seven goals to Victoria Cougars. However, Stamps managed to do even better than Cats and grabbed 9-7 decision. Ready to help LaRiviere are defencemen Fred Hucul (right) and George McAvoy.

Gene Says He'll Wreck Sugar's Secret Weapon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gene Fullmer, Utah strong boy and co-holder of the middleweight crown, promises to wreck Sugar Ray Robinson and his "secret survival weapon" tonight in their nationally televised third title fight at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

If he does, Gene probably will send 39-year-old Robinson into retirement and thereby end one of the most glamorous careers in ring history.

"Robinson plans to show me a left hook and then nail me with a right uppercut for a quick knockout," bull-shouldered Gene explained today.

"That's his secret weapon. We found out all about it. He practised it for weeks. I'll wreck that combination tonight and him along with it."

Fullmer, the 29-year-old mink rancher who is recognized as 160-pound champion by the National Boxing Association (NBA) and the California commission, makes his fourth defence of that title tonight.

COMEBACK EXPERT

He defends against the greatest comeback fighter of all time—an old but possibly still explosive Robinson, who is getting an unprecedented seventh shot at the title and trying to win it the sixth time. No other champion ever won the title of one division more than three times.

Because of Gene's age advantage, his bullish attack and his stamina, he is favored at 13-5 to register his second victory over slender Ray.

It's "even money" that the bout doesn't last its scheduled 15 rounds, regardless of who wins.

Italians Win Upset Match

MELBOURNE (AP)—Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, won the Victorian tennis championship today by beating Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, 8-6, 5-7, 8-6, 6-3.

Earlier, Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola won the doubles final, stunning Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson of Australia, 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. The match was delayed nearly two hours by rain.

The doubles victory gave the Italians a tremendous psychological boost for the Davis Cup interzone match against the United States next week in Perth, Australia.

Aces Tie Royals In Juvenile Loop

Royals and Aces battled to a 4-4 tie at Memorial Arena Friday in a Victoria Minor Hockey Association juvenile league game.

In other juvenile games this week, Leafs downed Aces 6-4 and the juvenile all-stars defeated the midget all-stars 8-6.

In midget league games Barons bested Bears 5-3, Bisons defeated Reds 7-5 and Barons trimmed Indians 6-1.

Next week's schedule:

Monday—7 a.m., bantams, Royals vs. Tigers.

Tuesday—7 a.m., bantams, Vampires vs. Senators.

Wednesday—7 a.m., midgets, Bears vs. Bisons; 5.30 p.m., midgets, Reds vs. Barons.

Thursday—7 a.m., juveniles, Leafs vs. Aces; 6 p.m., juveniles, Royals vs. Vics.

Friday—7 a.m., bantams, Capitals vs. Tigers.

Saturday—7-10 a.m., peewee and Tom Thumb leagues.

Canadian Clubs In Tourney Final

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Canadian teams pulled upsets here Friday night and as a result, the 1960 Totem basketball tournament will feature an all-Canadian final tonight.

University of British Columbia Thunderbirds upset Western Washington College of the Evergreen Conference 72-65 after overtime in the first game and Vancouver Dietrich-Collins defeated Seattle Federal Old Line 67-60.

Grad Hoop Win

Graduates of Oak Bay High returned to the basketball floor Friday night to edge the school team 36-33 in the annual homecoming game. Don Farquhar led the winners with 12 points.

Gus Rates Assist For Calgary Spree

Cougars Handed 9-7 Defeat By Stampeders

By DOUG PEDEN

Gus Kyle is known around the Western Hockey League as a "disturber." The man who calls the shots for Calgary Stampeders just loves to pull tricks that might confuse rival clubs.

Old Gus was at it again Friday night at Memorial Arena. The Calgary coach tried his hand with a new league rule which dictates that the visiting club has its choice of ends.

He upset tradition when he elected to have the Stamps start out defending the north goal, which meant that for the first time in as long as even veteran Cats can remember, Victoria Cougars spent two periods defending the south goal.

If Gus was hoping to confuse the Cougars, he apparently achieved his purpose, and once the game progressed past the first 10 minutes his quick-skating forwards did the rest. Although the Cats ended up with their best goal total of the season, it wasn't enough and the Cowboys wound up their road trip with a 9-7 victory.

RETAIN LEAD

Winning the highest-scoring game of the current campaign kept the front-running Stamps one point ahead of Edmonton Flyers, and the result left Victoria in a seventh-place deadlock with the climbing Spokane Comets.

Playing before 2,616 fans, Cougars opened on the attack and then lost the initiative in each of the first two periods. They grabbed a 1-0 lead but trailed 4-1 after the first period and were on the short end of a 6-3 count after two sessions.

Continually having trouble moving the puck out of their own zone, they contributed to their own downfall by haphazard defensive work that often left a Calgary forward unmarked in front of goalie Marcel Pelletier, who seemed more confused than any other Cougar.

STAMPS ON ROPES

To their credit, the Cats didn't quit. Their forwards kept plugging away and they had the tiring Stamps on the ropes in the final period, missing a chance to pull out at least a tie when they gave up a pair of soft goals after bringing the score to 7-5.

Brightest spots for the Cougars were provided by hard-working efforts of most of the forwards and the four-goal production of the Bill Saunders-Gerry Goyer-George Ford line.

Saunders continued his sizzling scoring pace, collecting two goals and an assist, making it nine goals in eight games since joining the Victoria club. Goyer also earned two goals and Ford chipped in with a pair of assists.

Completing the Victoria scoring were Bert Fizzell, defenceman Don McLeod and Jim Moro.

BROWN GETS THREE

It was a big night for little Jimmy Brown of the Stamps. Brown, who has had trouble finding the range this season, banged home three goals.

Former New York Ranger Wally Hergesheimer, another pony-sized forward, zipped in for two tallies and lanky rookie Cliff Bristow also added two goals to the Calgary total. Stampeder linemates Ron Leopold and Lou Jankowski remained in a tie for the league scoring lead as each fired his 19th goal of the season and picked up his 15th assist.

It wasn't fun for all the Stampeders. Rookie defenceman Ed Van Impe, attempting to body-heck Cougar Bill Johansen in the first period, suffered a severely wrenched right knee and is expected to be out of action for several weeks.

AT SEATTLE SUNDAY

Also on the Calgary injured list is talented centre Norm Johnson, who received a shoulder separation at Vancouver Tuesday night and will probably be on the sidelines until January.

Rookie goaltender Art LaRiviere, filling in for the injured Lucien Dechene, finished the free-wheeling game with a total of 25 stops, including 12 in the final period. Pelletier turned aside 24 drives at the Victoria net.

Cougars are slated to play at Seattle Sunday before tackling Winnipeg in their last home game before embarking on their first Prairie trip of the season.

Victoria coach George Agar, still hoping defenceman Georges Roy will find his way to Victoria, wasn't announcing any lineup shuffles this morning. George was still shaking his head, trying to figure how the Cats could score 13 goals in two of their last three games and manage to lose both of them.

CANUCKS LOSE

Flyers Rough On New Goalie

EDMONTON — Wait a minute, George, don't pack those pads yet!

If losses bother Coach Art Chapman as they have in the past, chances are there will be another change in goal and rookie George Wood may be back at his old stand with Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League.

Wood, part-time goalie with the Canucks, stepped aside Friday night for newcomer Claude Evans. Vancouver's fourth netminder of the present campaign didn't enjoy the success Chapman had expected.

Edmonton Flyers, coming from behind a 2-0 deficit after two periods, handed Canucks a 4-3 defeat in overtime.

Victory that kept Edmonton one point behind the leading Calgary Stampeders proved to be a happy homecoming for centre Gene Achtymichuk and winger Ed Diachuk.

WINNING GOAL

The veteran Achtimychuk, returning after starting the season with Sudbury Wolves of the Eastern League, scored the winning goal.

And Diachuk, back in action after missing six games because of a leg injury, set up the winner, another counter by linemate Chuck Holmes and also scored Edmonton's first goal for one of his best displays of the year.

Wood has handled most of the Vancouver netminding and Canucks have won nine of 11 games with him in goal. Wood also has the best goals-against average among WHL regulars with a 2.60 mark.

Bruce's Big Effort Needed by Dockers

Esquimalt is in a first-place tie with Oak Bay in the Inter-High School Senior Boys' Basketball League—but the Dockers just barely made it.

It took a 27-point effort by their big gun, Bruce Mitchell, including the winning points, to down Mount View's pesky Hornets, 45-44, in a real thriller Friday night at Mount View.

Dockers entered the final quarter sporting a 38-29 bulge, but Mount View just wouldn't give in.

The Hornets found their sting and overhauled Esquimalt to go into a 44-43 lead. They lost it with four seconds remaining when Mitchell's hook shot deflected in off Pete Bridgewood's outstretched palm.

Bridgewood, starting in his first game for the Hornets, led the team in scoring with 12 points, and held Mitchell to five points in the second half. Del Clark counted 10 for the Views and Ray Williams turned in another solid game with a nine-point evening.

VIC HIGH WINS

Bill Brain of North Saanich dropped in 17 points but it wasn't nearly enough as Victoria High School Totems waltzed to a 56-19 triumph.

Contributing to Vic High's third straight victory were Ken Gregory with 10 points and Mike Gallo with nine.

In Friday's other league game, Belmont Braves were shaded, 46-41, by St. Louis College, with Ken Walters and rookie Barry Maloney contributing 14 and 16 points, respectively, for St. Louis.

WORK ON AMENDMENT

QUICK SOLUTION POSSIBLE

Decks Clearing for LA Shift

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The way is being cleared for the American League to move into Los Angeles and open the 1961 baseball season with 10 teams, The Associated Press learned Friday.

Baseball's top officials have worked out what they are hopeful will be a quick solution to their problems. At a two-day summit meeting in New York earlier this week, Commissioner Ford Frick and league presidents Joe Cronin of the American League and Warren Giles of the National worked on an amendment to rule No. 1 which they feel has a good chance of being approved by club owners.

Rule No. 1 now reads that a major league, desiring to move into a city already occupied by a big-league club, must acquire consent of all 16 club owners.

If the amended version is approved at meetings of club owners here, the way will be payed for placing an American League franchise with the blessing of Walter O'Malley, owner of Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League.

O'Malley's steadfast refusal to permit the American League to open shop in Los Angeles, blocked the junior circuit's 10-team expansion program for 1961 and resulted in a proposal for two nine team leagues with an interlocking schedule next year.

The National will vote on the nine-team proposal Monday.

An American League official said "there are only one or two comparatively minor points that stand between the two leagues agreeing on the amendment to rule one."

No details of the amendment have been made public.

CURLERS' CORNER

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The Victoria Curling Club today is on the hunt for a new secretary-manager following the resignation of Bill Oliver.

Applications for the position are now being accepted by the club's board of directors.

No reason was given for Oliver's resignation.

Oliver has served as the club's secretary-manager for a little over two years. Until the position is filled, directors will handle the business affairs of the club.

From a newspaperman's standpoint, Victoria Curling Club's roster booklet is a dream. This isn't to say, of course, that the average curler won't find it extremely useful.

Directors responsible for publishing the book must be congratulated. It took six members four months of hard work to compile the roster.

In addition to the names, addresses and phone numbers of each club member, the book also lists dates of social events, office personnel, directorate, rules and regulations concerning club draws and a schedule showing ice times allotted each league.

Announcement from Toronto this week declares a 16th curling club will be in operation by next October. The newly-organized Beaver Curling Club plans a $25,000 project at suburban Vaughan Township.

Initial plans call for six sheets of ice with provision for another six later. When the first six sheets are in play, Metropolitan Toronto will have 112 sheets of ice. Winnipeg still has more sheets of ice than any other Canadian city—115.

Snead Beats Wind; Jumps Out in Front

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead jumped into the lead at the half-way point in the $15,000 West Palm Beach Open golf tournament Friday with a 70 for a two-round total 138.

A gusty wind sent most of the scores skyrocketing.

Snead supplanted George Bayer as the leader of the field. Bayer, who had a seven-under-par 65 for a three-stroke margin in the first round, was trapped into a 75 Friday and his total dropped him into a tie for second place with John Barnum who had the best round Friday—68.

The field still was warily watching Arnold Palmer, the record money-winner. Palmer is five strokes off the pace at 143 following his smooth 36-36—72 Friday.

Toronto pro Al Balding, who shot a two-under-par 70 in the first round, went two over par Friday and ended with a 144.

PUNCH IMLACH
. . . risks $1,000

Punch Says Ref Really Rated The First Star

By The Canadian Press

George Punch Imlach, general manager and coach of Toronto Maple Leafs has to be really sore before he'll risk $1,000 by taking a public verbal crack at National Hockey League officials.

Not usually the explosive type, the Leafs' pilot blew his top at the Montreal Forum Thursday night as Toronto lost 6-3 to Montreal Canadiens in what he called "the worst officiating I've seen since I came up to the NHL."

His ire was directed at referee Frank Udvari and linesmen George Hayes and Loren Doolittle. His blast, directed primarily at the linesmen's blue line calls, left him open to a maximum league fine of $1,000 for public criticism of an official.

Later he repeated in private what he had bawled in public with a sharp protest to NHL President Clarence Campbell.

"STOLE THE GAME"

"They should give Udvari the first star and the linesmen the other two stars," said Imlach. "They stole the game from us." Imlach's beefs:

1. Canadians' fourth goal by Guy Gendron was hand-steered into the crease by Bernie Geoffrion from where the former Boston Bruin scored.

2. George Armstrong should have been allowed a goal which went in under the crossbar of the Montreal net and came out quickly.

3. The linesmen didn't blow the whistle to call Canadiens offside on Dickie Moore's goal which ended a late Toronto rally.

Referee Udvari, commenting on Gendron's goal, said he was screened by players and saw only the puck entering the net. He conferred with the linesmen who saw no rule infraction.

Imlach's woes were increased Friday with the news that rightwinger Ron Stewart will be lost to the club indefinitely. In the final seconds of Thursday night's game he broke his right ankle when he crashed into the boards, his skate slicing into the wooden planking as he fell.

With all NHL clubs idle Friday night, Imlach made a hurried trip to Rochester, N.Y., to watch the hometown Americans play Springfield Indians in the American Hockey League. The visit resulted in Johnny McMillan being called up for Leaf's game against New York Rangers at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night.

Booster Tourney Rated Success

By MICHAEL ROSE

Victoria's infant fivepin association has concluded its first booster tournament amid a general air of satisfaction.

A total of 945 bowlers took part in the affair, run in conjunction with regular bowling last week.

Lone criticism came from rollers who thought the winning team's prize money too small in relation to the total amount offered.

Association officials explained that it was not a special tournament requiring extra lane fees and entry was only 20 cents a person which doesn't make for giant jackpots.

Further to this, the association will consider establishing the tourney on a weekly basis at a meeting Dec. 11 in Gibson's.

The prize money of $25 to Braves of the Canadian Legion seems perfectly adequate considering the players' investment and, indeed, you won't find this team complaining.

Braves racked up 4,219 to beat out Jokers of the Dockyard league, who had 4,129 and earned $20. Skunks, of the B.C. Government Employees' League, were third with 4,093.

The prize-money hunters will have a chance to show what they can do Dec. 17 through 23, when the association will run a Christmas tournament.

The viewing-with-alarm department this week turns its sights on a Canadian Press item from St. Catharines, Ontario, which reported a perfect 300 game Wednesday by 32-year-old Walt Bohaychuk.

Walt won $2,000 and this is fine. We all, I am sure, wish him nothing but good.

However, fellow Islanders, the item goes on to say that officials believe this to be the "first perfect score ever reported in a sanctioned tenpin bowling league in Canada."

This is not true, as you are all, no doubt, thinking, especially Marg Beaney.

Marg rolled a game such as that in 1947 and it is inscribed on a board at Gibson's for all to see.

All members of the Victoria Tenpin Association are asked to attend the annual meeting Wednesday at 9.15 p.m. in the Ingraham Hotel banquet room.

Officers will be elected and a site chosen for the annual city tournament. Choice is between Gibson's and Aurora Lanes.

Ed Olivier was the top tenpin bowler on city lanes in the past week with a 640 series at Aurora Lanes on games of 204, 224 and 216. It was one of nine over-600 series bowled at Aurora.

Colin Corbett checked in with his best-ever series, a fine 632 (205, 247), followed by Jack Hobby, 628 (213, 225); Roy Begg, 627 (201, 215, 211), 567 (212); Cec Laughton, 617 (245); Norm Gamble, 615 (233.

Cy Wallis rolled 921 at Gibson's for the top fivepin score of the week, followed at those lanes by Geoff Worrall, 878 (356); Harry Smith, 852; May Lovrod, 811; Dave Fedler, 806 (361); Scotty Robinson, 780, and Sid Jenkins, 762 (335).

MILLION-DOLLAR PAYOFF

Bally Ache Owners Get Record Cheque

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bally Ache's owners "salvaged" a million dollars on their investment in the horse Friday when they collected the insurance on the dead thoroughbred.

Bally Ache died of an intestinal disorder on Oct. 28 at the Bosque Bonita Farm in Versailles, Ky., where the syndicate which purchased him for $1,250,000 last May hoped to have him stand at stud.

The colt, which won $758,522 in a brief but spectacular racing career, had been knocked out of training through injury shortly before his death.

Milton M. Weiss, president of the Animal Insurance Company of America, which underwrote the largest policy ever paid off on an animal, handed the million-dollar cheque to Morris Fruchtman and Joseph L. Arnold, members of the syndicate which had hoped to realize between three and five million dollars in stud fees with Bally Ache.

Stout Line, Bellino Features Dream Team

NEW YORK (CP)—A mammoth line and a backfield built around Navy's Joe Bellino highlight the 1960 All-America college football team selected by The Associated Press.

The other halfback is Pervis Atkins of New Mexico State. Quarterback is Jake Gibbs, Mississippi, and fullback, Bob Ferguson, Ohio State.

The line is composed of Dan Larose, Missouri, 221 pounds, and Mike Ditka, Pitt, 218, ends; Ken Rice, Auburn, 250, and Bob Lilly, Texas Christian, 248, tackles; Tom Brown, Minnesota, 224, and Ben Balme, Yale, 215, guards, and Roy McKasson, Washington, 205, centre.

The team was selected on the graded recommendation of eight regional boards of expert sports writers who also voted on the top 10 teams throughout the season.

Bellino was a standout in a season in which, generally, attention centred on the line rather than the backfield. He scored 110 points for Navy's Orange Bowl-bound team, including 18 touchdowns, and gained 834 yards rushing, 280 yards catching 17 passes, and threw five passees for 112 yards.

The five-foot-nine, 181-pound halfback wound up his academy career in a blaze of glory by intercepting a pass on the goal line in the closing moments of the Army-Navy game, saving Navy's 17-12 lead.

Archery Results

Scores recorded this week, out of a possible 540, by members of the Victoria Bowmen Archery Club:

New Financial Deal Assures Big B.C. Mine Development

By GORDON BELL

A major development in B.C.'s mining industry is expected to result from a new agreement between Craigmont Mines Ltd. and Canadian Explorations Ltd. aimed at bringing into full production Craigmont's rich copper ore body in the Highland Valley area 10 miles northwest of Merritt.

The details of the agreement were disclosed today by J. Stewart Smith, B.C. superintendent of brokers, and will be up for ratification by Craigmont shareholders at a Vancouver general meeting Dec. 21. He announced that if shareholders ratify it, his office will grant the necessary certification for issue of new shares involved.

Mr. Smith said in his announcement he is satisfied that the new agreement between Craigmont and Canex, which supplants a previous agreement between the companies made June 1, 1958, protects the position of individual shareholders and does not diminish the equity worth of Craigmont shares.

SOLE OPERATOR

Under the terms of the new deal Craigmont will become the sole operator of the property and Canex will advance the funds to bring the mine into production on or before June 1, 1965. Canex is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Placer Development Ltd.

The project, according to Mr. Smith, "under normal circumstances will provide direct employment for approximately 250 workers for many years to come. It is anticipated the original capacity of the mill will be 4,000 tons per day."

Company officials said they could not comment on their future plans until the new agreement has been placed before the shareholders, but the Times has heard from other sources that as well as the many millions of dollars that will be spent on a mill and mining operations there is a strong possibility that a new townsite will go up near the Craigmont mine to accommodate workers and their families. It is one of the largest mining developments in B.C. for many decades.

The new Craigmont-Canex agreement, according to Mr. Smith, contains the same essential provisions as the old one with regard to division of net benefits, raising and repayment of funds and date for equipping the mine for production. However, several administrative and financial difficulties have been eliminated.

AGREEMENT DETAILS

Craigmont will issue to Canex and associates 3,046,365 shares for renunciation by Canex of contractural rights under the old agreement which included the right to receive 60 per cent of the net benefits of the property. These shares will be equivalent to exactly 60 per cent of the total issued Craigmont common shares. They will be held in escrow and will not be entitled to vote in Craigmont affairs until the mine is equipped for production and ready to start operating.

Canex also renounces the rights to $1,135,527 which was to have been paid under the old agreement and agrees further to advance or obtain advance of all funds necessary to Craigmont to equip the property for production. Preferred shares will be issued by Craigmont to cover funds advanced and will be nonvoting and redeemable from the proceeds of production.

The agreement also provides that if, through any fault of Canex, the mine is not equipped for production on or before June 1, 1965, the common shares held in escrow will be forfeited.

Latest report on the property by consulting engineers, Chapman, Wood and Griswold Ltd., gave an indicated ore reserve of 22,241,000 tons with an average grade of 2.09 per cent copper and 19.8 per cent iron.

The main ore body is on four claims out of a total of 90 and some fractions held by Craigmont in the area—McLeod Nos. 5 and 6 and Merrell Nos. 7 and 8.

According to Craigmont's geologists, "mineralization is more or less continuous for 2,200 feet on strike of the main ore body and for 1,000 feet at least on strike of the syncline ore body. The known vertical extent of mineralization is 1,500 feet over the two ore bodies. Horizontal widths of ore range up to 230 feet in the main ore body and up to 310 feet in the syncline ore body."

1,000 GREEK SHIPS ROAM WORLD'S SEAS

ATHENS (Reuters)—One thousand ships of all kinds ranging from huge oil tankers to trans-Atlantic liners and cargo ships now are flying the blue-and-white Greek flag on the seven seas.

This is the highest figure ever reached by this nation of seafarers. The 1,000 ships now under Greek registration represent more than 5,000,000 gross tons.

What is more, it is estimated that the Greek-owned merchant fleet sailing under various flags has reached a total of 1,549 vessels, totalling 12,535,900 tons.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Leaders Hopeful For Coming Year

NEW YORK (AP)—United States business eased into the last lap of the 1960 dollar race at hardly more than a trot this week but some economic leaders saw prospects of a quickened pace next year.

In the first week of the Christmas shopping season, retail trade was lower than a year ago. Volume was unchanged to 4 per cent lower.

Steel production made only a modest comeback from last week's holiday-curtailed operations.

A decline ended the stock market's post-election rally.

The government reported new orders received by manufacturers dropped 4 per cent in October, ending a two-month rise.

However, there were expressions of optimism for the future.

Chairman Henry C. Alexander of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York City said at the Investment Bankers Association convention: "I think we're going sidewise with a slight downward tilt. I'm certainly not looking for any deep recession. We have a pretty good level of business activity. I think there's a good chance that within a matter of months there will be a slight upturn."

EXPECTS REVIVAL

Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Electric Co. said he was confident of a business revival in 1961.

Tom Campbell, editor-in-chief of the trade publication Iron Age, said he looked for an upturn in steel production next March and a boom in 1962.

Steel output this week edged up only to an estimated 49.3 per cent of capacity from last week's 48 per cent. Steel executives forecast a further decline in December, traditionally a slow month.

Pay raises of 7 to 13 cents an hour went into effect for 500,000 steel workers as a result of the contract which settled last year's strike. There were no indications that an increase in steel prices is imminent.

The automobile industry was a bright spot in the economic picture.

Production jumped back from the U.S. holiday week with an estimated output of 141,000 passenger cars. Last week's total was 111,181.

The auto makers rolled out 597,116 cars in November, bringing the year's total to 6,172,075, more than 1,000,000 ahead of a year ago.

New Population Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final 1960 population figures for the 10 largest cities in the United States were made available Friday. The top 10 and their April 1 population totals, in order: New York City, 7,781,984; Chicago, 3,550,404; Los Angeles, 2,479,015; Philadelphia, 2,002,512; Detroit, 1,670,144; Baltimore, 939,024; Houston, 938,219; Cleveland, 876,050; Washington, 673,956, and St. Louis, 750,026.

Sailing Cancelled

Sailings of CPSS Princess of Vancouver will be cancelled Monday while hull and propeller inspection is carried out.

Affected are from Vancouver 5 a.m., 12.30 and 8.30 p.m.; from Nanaimo 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. The 1 a.m. Tuesday sailing from Nanaimo will also be cancelled.

FORD DEAL WILL GO ON SAYS BRITON

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Patrick Hennessey, chairman of the Ford Motor Company's British subsidiary, said Friday he has "absolutely no doubt whatsoever" that the purchase of British Ford shares by the American parent company would go on as planned.

The United States treasury disclosed Thursday it had asked Ford of Detroit to consider the impact of buying up complete control of British Ford shares.

Sugar Upset 'Temporary'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Although the Cuban situation has temporarily upset world sugar markets, there is reason to believe historic low prices will return again when the troubles are straightened out, the B.C. Sugar Refining Company says in its annual report.

"Our refinery does not rely on Cuba for raw sugar, but buys from British Commonwealth producers—hence disorder in Cuba would not affect our supply, but can have a definite effect on price.

"Historically an almost chronic difficulty of surplus supply has resulted in low price levels, and there is little reason to suppose that this condition will not again prevail when factors upsetting the market are straightened out."

Toronto Star Profits Down

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Star Ltd. Friday reported net earnings of $1,374,578 for the company year ended Sept. 30.

The figure, which included $200,000 from the sale of patent rights, was down $103,439 from that of the previous year.

J. S. Atkinson, president, blamed the decline on "substantial increases in the cost of operation."

Ex-Sask. MLA Dies

DUNNVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Herman Herminson, 79, a former member of the Saskatchewan legislature, died at his home Friday after a long illness. He sat in the Saskatchewan House from 1917 to 1925 when he moved to Winnipeg as district manager for Western Canada for Swedish-American Lines.

OIL DELIVERIES UP

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company reports that the total deliveries of crude oil for the month of November, 1960, averaged 113,559 barrels a day compared with 86,615 barrels a day during the same period in 1959.

HBC APPOINTMENT

WINNIPEG (CP) — Peter Inglis, editorial writer for the Vancouver Sun, has been appointed public relations manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, the company announced Friday. He will take over the post in January.

Island Copper Receives Boost

VANCOUVER (CP) — A five-year contract, expected to gross $18,750,000, has been signed between Coast Copper Company on Vancouver Island and Japan.

A Tokyo report says Coast Copper Company has completed a deal with Mitsubishi Metal Mining Company and Dowa Mining Company.

Coast Copper Company is controlled by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail.

The concentrate (26 per cent copper) is to be imported into Japan at a rate of 25,000 tons annually starting in 1962. This would make the total contract 125,000 tons at about $150 a ton—worth almost $19,000,000.

MARKETS IN REVIEW

Monotony Marks Week's Trading

By GREG MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Monotony was the keynote on the stock market this week as most sections rambled about at lower levels before showing any signs of life.

With the exception of a few individual speculative issues and a few strong industrials, there was little to cheer brokers or investors.

There was an 11-point drop on the New York market and a bad slump took place on the London market this week as a result of a not-too-good business outlook there and abroad.

Canadian and American business news continued to be dominated by adverse items and the general feeling was that few bright spots could be expected before Christmas. Under these circumstances there seemed little reason for Wall Street to advance, while the small industrial gain in Toronto bore no significance other than a dearth of investor interest as shown by the average daily volume — less than 1,700,000 shares.

On the industrial board at Toronto, banks seemed to be the only strong section during the week with most issues showing slight gains. Both Bank of Montreal and Canadian Bank of Commerce were helped along by good annual reports.

STEELS TAKE DROP

Steels were down on the week, following news that operations were down to 72 per cent of capacity. In addition, National Steel Car announced it would not declare its regular January dividend and stock dived to a low of 9¾.

Bell Telephone, CPR and Calgary Power continued to be the most active stocks and all three showed strong gains. Newsprints were generally lower. One issue, Fraser, omitted payment of its extra dividend and the stock immediately weakened a couple of points.

One issue that was strong most of the week on the base metal market was Consolidated Mining and Smelting. A steady silver price and improved zinc processing methods were a few of the factors reported that helped the stock along to a high of 21⅜.

Western oils were quiet throughout the week and the index showed only a fractional gain.

PROMOTED—Chrysler Corporation has appointed Lynn A. Townsend administrative vice-president. Position makes him No. 2 executive to board chairman and president L. L. (Tex) Colbert.

Flexibility Would Boost Wheat Sales

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Winnipeg Grain Exchange Friday recommended greater flexibility in wheat marketing to increase sales.

The exchange said that "greater use of all marketing facilities will create a greater volume of business." This would reduce stocks and allow the producer to deliver more wheat at country points.

The exchange was answering claims by a Calgary spokesman of the Canadian Wheat Board that those who want greater flexibility in prices of Canadian wheat are implying lower asking prices. He said they did not take into account whether lower prices would result in more sales.

Instead of recommending lower prices, the Winnipeg exchange said in a statement, it "is recommending a less restricted and freer flowing market, which it is convinced would lead to greater volume of sales."

The statement also said if the wheat board had followed indications showing demand for oats and barley at terminal positions, a large volume could have been sold this year. Britain and Europe had a reduced domestic production of the commodities, but non-Canadian exporters filled the demand.

However, the grain exchange congratulated the wheat board in releasing from delivery quota control those producers delivering wheat, oats and barley to designated feed mills.

Major Appliance Sales Here Suffer Sharp Drop

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Bell

Dollar volume of electric and gas appliance sales in the Vancouver Island area served by B.C. Electric declined again in October, latest month for which figures are available.

Total appliance sales for the area was $33,818 compared with $374,474 for September and $528,003 for October of 1959.

Some of the decline from September to October can be accounted for as a seasonal drop, but the almost $200,000 loss in sales from the previous year is a reflection of the generally lower economic level of the area.

Only bright spot in the appliance sales field is the upsurge of interest in clothes dryers. The trend across the country—and the Island is no exception—is for housewives generally to come in out of the rain and cold and let gas or electricity do their clothes drying for them. Dryer sales in this area were 74 for September, 113 for October and over 200 in November.

Final bulletin issued by the federal director of fisheries on the 1960 B.C. salmon pack shows that it is down to about 55 per cent of the average for the last six years.

Total pack this year was 632,089 cases — sockeye, 226,908; 306,425 pinks; 68,891 coho; 23,456 bluebacks; 5,913 springs, and 500 steelheads.

Last year's pack was 1,077,097 cases and the six-year average is 1,256,000.

Western Canadian Steamships' president J. S. Clarke reported an improved financial picture to shareholders at the annual meeting in Vancouver this week. Loss for the year ended June 30 was about half of that last year at $251,422.

Mr. Clarke stated that although the ocean freight rate situation had improved somewhat it was still not at a point where there was any incentive for the company to increase its tonnage. Company now operates only two vessels, Mv Lake Atlin and Mv Lake Pennask.

Automobiles Renault Canada Ltd., distributors of the small French autos, has dropped a bombshell into the foreign car sales industry with its announcement that there will be no price increase in its line to offset increases in taxes and duty brought about by Ottawa's change in evaluation of imported cars for tax purposes.

Company vice-president R. Le Bouedec also announced plans for extension of company's operations with establishment of a parts depot in Vancouver. Renault entered the Canadian market in 1957, sold 260 cars that year and expects that this year's sales will total 7,000.

Virtually all of the Shell Oil Company of Canada's 1961 advertising will be placed in newspapers, according to R.W. Southam, president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association.

The Shell program, named "Operation Top Performance," will be on a scale unilke anything the country has ever seen.

"It far outshadows anything ever attempted in Canadian newspapers by any advertiser for any single brand name in any category," according to Mr. Southam.

CPR Profits Show Decline

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway's net earnings for October totalled $3,073,803, it has been announced. For the same month last year earnings were $3,121,907.

Revenue for the month totalled $39,001,718, compared with $39,068,157 in Oct., 1959. Expenses amounted to $35,927,915 compared with $35,946,250 for the corresponding month last year.

Earnings since Jan. 1 were $383,799,217 compared with $399,595,023 for the same period in 1959.

Net earnings since the start of the year totalled $25,406,265. For the same period in 1959 they were $27,358,864.

Railway Merger Approved by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized a merger of three U.S. affiliates of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which will operate in future as a unified corporation to be known as the Soo Line Railroad Co.

The consolidation, expected to produce annual savings of about $1,200,000, involves the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railroad Co. (the present Soo Line), and the Duluth, Southshore and Atlantic Railroad Co.

Fullmer, Robinson In Title Clash Tonight at 7 on 4

Mort Sahl With Sullivan Sunday; Robert, Arlene Co-Host Special

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

There are three extra little electronic tidbits this weekend in addition to the normal Saturday and Sunday offerings.

The first is the title fight tonight at 7 between NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer and challenger, fifth-ranked Sugar Ray Robinson. The 15-round bout will be seen live from Los Angeles via Channel 4.

The other special takes place Sunday night at 10 on Channel 5 when Robert Young and Arlene Francis co-host an hour's show that will feature such entertainment personalities as Garry Moore, Ernie Ford, Art Linkletter, Dave Garroway, Janet Blair and Nat King Cole.

Then, on Ed Sullivan's show the same night at 8 admirers of satirist Mort Sahl will have an opportunity to see their hero in action on Channels 6, 2, 7, 11 and 12.

Of course there will be the usual football games Sunday and tonight at 8 Channel 5 will bring in the first of the University of Washington basketball games. This one pits the Huskies against Brigham Young.

Now on to each of the highlights in order of their appearance.

Mary Martin Flies Again!

New 'Peter Pan' Two-Hour Run— 7.30 Thursday

Omnibus Tours N.Y. 9.30 Monday; Working Mother Spec. 2 P.M. Thurs.

MARY MARTIN FLIES AGAIN!

That, obviously, is the best way to sum up what is bound to be next week's highlight.

At 7.30 Thursday night, Channel 5, Mary Martin will star in a two-hour color adaptation of James M. Barrie's classic, "Peter Pan," a new version of the show that she did almost five years ago, a show that was to make Mary Martin a household word and give the then struggling TV a new dimension.

Others in the cast include Cyril Ritchard as Capt. Hook and Mr. Darling. Maureen Bailey will play Wendy and Jane; Margalo Gillmore, Mrs. Darling; Sondra Lee, Tiger Lily; Jacqueline Mayro, Liza, and Joe E. Marks, Smee. Norman Shelly will turn up as the Darling's dog Nana as well as Crocodile.

Other programs worthy of note:

At 9.30 Monday night Omnibus will treat viewers to a 60-minute excursion of New York at night on Channels 6 and 2.

At 10 Tuesday night, Channel 5, David Susskind will present a special hour-long segment of his Open End discussion show to speak about humor with some of the best in the business, such as Groucho Marx and Joey Bishop.

At 10 Wednesday night, Channel 4, Closeup's hour-long documentary, "Yanki, No. 1!" will discuss the esteem held for the U.S. in Latin America —or lack of same.

At 2 Thursday afternoon, Women's 60-minute special will deal with "The Working Mother" on Channel 5.

And, finally, at 9 Thursday night, Channel 5 will present the hour-long Science Series that will explain some of the mystery shrouding heredity and chat about why no two human beings ever look alike.

STARS IN TWO-HOUR "PETER PAN"—Mary Martin will fly again in a two-hour musical adaptation of Barrie's classic, "Peter Pan," set for Thursday night at 7.30 on Channel 5. This is altogether a new show from the one for which she was acclaimed almost five years ago.

MONDAY

6.30: Channel 4: Filmed Football: Past games of the University of Washington will be discussed.

7.30: Channels 6, 2: Don Messer's Jubilee — in which Charlie Chamberlain will sing "Winter Wonderland."

8.00: Channels 6, 2: Danny Thomas' comedy—and Danny has an appointment with his dentist. This can be seen also on Channels 7 and 11 at 9.

8.30: Channels 6, 2: Jack Kane's half-hour musical. Guest is singer Sylvia Murphy.

Channel 4: Surfside 6 tells about a producer and his wife, the wife receiving a letter informing her that her hubby is a murderer and she's his next target.

9.30: Channels 6, 2: Omnibus treats viewers to a 60-minute excursion about New York at night. Stops include a bagel bakery, the Fultin Fish Market, Macy's toy department, police headquarters, a tattoo parlor, a Harlem night spot and others. Alistair Cooke is host.

10.00: Channel 5: Barbara Stanwyck presents "We Are the Women Who Wait," starring herself and John Kellogg. The airman's wife lives in dread during each mission yet doesn't tell hubby about the civilian job offered to him.

10.30: Channels 6, 2: People in Parties winds up its two-part series by wondering, "Who is really running the country." Davidson Dunton is host.

Channel 4: Peter Gunn's mystery, "Take Five for Murder." The teen-age idol tries desperately to keep his secret buried, that he was once in reform school.

Channel 5: Milton Berle's Jackpot bowlers include Jack Lang and Roy Lown.

TUESDAY

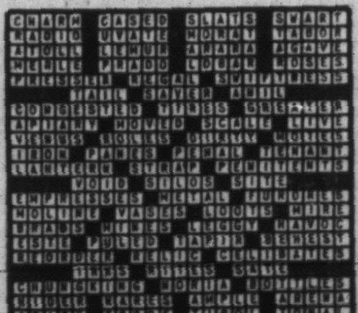
Solution of Last Week's Puzzle



TRY POURING OVER THE PUNCH

Christmas punch sufficient to fill three containers of different sizes will fill the smallest container four times; the largest container twice with four pints over; or the medium container three times with two pints left over. What is the capacity in pints of each container?

Perhaps it will help you to know that each of the three containers holds an even number of pints. But then again, perhaps it will not.

Answer: Eight, ten and fourteen pints respectively.

GOLFUN

Maurice Humber

We know you're an unselfish, devoted wife,
Anxious to put
... a little fun
in "his" life;
We also know
... you're no
spend-thrift,
When it comes to buying
"HIS" Xmas gift.
So . . . you're sitting there, in the kitchen nook,
Tapping your teeth, with that puzzled look???
Well . . . listen lady . . .
loosen that frown,
Go put on your duds & come down town.
Coz we've sliced the price down to the nubs,
So you could get him, these shiny golf clubs.

The "irons" all match. . . .
"Sam Snead" O.K'd their loft
& design.
And they'll LOOK so
Christmasy under the tree,
As gayly boxed, as you ever did see.
The "woods" come seperate, a box of their own,
And in the whole bunch, there isn't a groan.
So . . leave it to us . . . we're "pros" at golf,
Besides "he" may be another
. . . "Cary Middle-coff."
And get out there on that grassy highland,
And with "WILSON" clubs,
just to make it more fun,
They've a built-in backspin
. . . a Hole-In-One.

Then on "that" morn, just watch his face,
As he slings tinsel paper all over the place,
Then watch your lamps, & lookout for your rug,
And get all set "FORE" A GREAT BIG HUG.

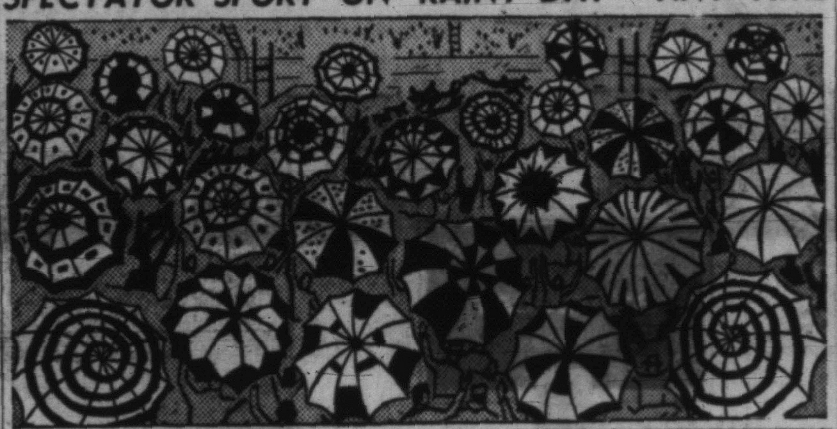
SPECTATOR SPORT ON RAINY DAY—ANY TIME



Football a spectator sport? Yes, suggests a devoted fan, in more ways than one. What with constant shuffling of folks in the stands, undivided attention to refreshment vendors, emphasis on spectular marching, etc., it has become increasingly apparent that the game itself is only incidental to the occasion. Sounds like a logical argument. Incidentally, a spectator at the game above found it noteworthy to report that two of the umbrellas are alike. Which two?

Answer: Third from top left is one—now see if you can find the other.

CLASSIC ENIGMA

There is in Voltaire's works an epigram that may be translated.

There's scarce a point whereon mankind agree
So well, as in their boast of killing me:
I boast of nothing, but, when
I've a mind,
I think I can be even with mankind.

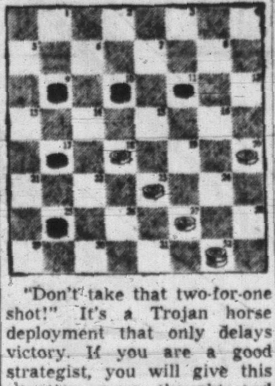
This epigram comprises a clever enigma also. What is the answer—i.e., the subject?

Solution: Time. Voltaire's title is On the Phrase, "To Kill Time."

IT'S YOUR MOVE



"Don't take that two-for-one shot!" It's a Trojan horse deployment that only delays victory. If you are a good strategist, you will give this situation more thought and discover a way of jumping five Black checkers in a row.

It's white's turn, moving up the board. He wins in just four moves. Can you make the winning moves?

Solution: White moves from 20-16. Black 11-20. White 27-24. Black 20-27. White 18-15. Black 10-19-26. White 32-23-30-21-14-5.

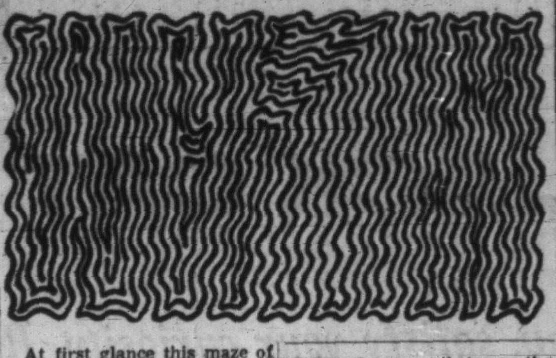
GREAT SHAKE IN HANDWRITING



At first glance this maze of lines (right) may suggest an optical illusion or the recording of an earthquake on a seismograph. However, the wavy lines shown actually form the letters of a familiar name. A certain amount of shading in spaces between the lines is required to make the name appear more plainly. How quickly can you fill it in?

Answer: The name is William which, if you look at it intently will appear plainly enough. William Shakespeare, 'tis related, had a shaky signature not unlike this one.

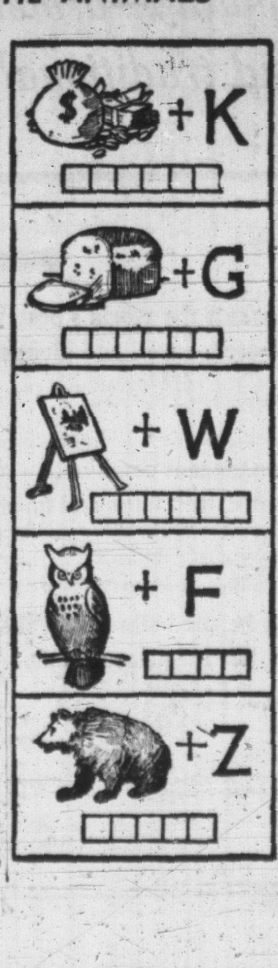
SPELL OUT THE ANIMALS

Names of five well-known members of the animal kingdom may be found in this rebus exercise.

To proceed spell out the name of the object shown in each of the panels at right, add the letter indicated and see if you can come up with the name of an animal.

In most instances, it will be necessary to rearrange many of the letters to reach an answer; in at least one case however, it will be sufficient to use the object's name as is, with the given letter inserted (example: let us suppose that one of the panels displays a hose; and the letter to be added is R. Inserting R between O and S, we get HORSE, the animal we're seeking.) As you will notice, one of the objects pictured is already an animal; but the answer is still another.

All of the animals involved are fairly common creatures at zoos. How quickly can you name them?



Answers: The animals are (from top to bottom)—monkey (money plus k), badger (bread plus g), weasel (easel plus w), wolf (owl plus f) and zebra (bear plus z).

FIND THE WORDS

All of the four missing words in the following verse are spelled with the same four letters. What are they?

With many —— to hunt for——
He sailed across the ocean's foam.
Soon had he ——for joy, were he
But safe and ——again at home.

Answers: Guns, gnus, sung, snug are the missing words.

ANATOMY OF NORTH ATLANTIC

The Boom Was Loud and Clear

(Bruce Hutchison, Editor of the Times, returned recently from a six-week fact-finding visit to the United Kingdom and Europe. Today he continues a series of articles on the effect that trade and economic policies now in the making there will have on Canada.)

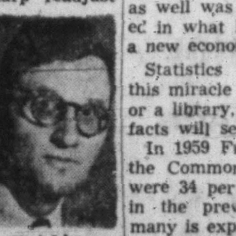
By BRUCE HUTCHISON

When six European nations grasped the nettle of a Common Market the effect was instantaneous and electrical.

Inefficient industries and comfortable old family firms suddenly found, as tariffs between the market members began to fail, that they must change their methods of business if they were to survive.

Their costs must be reduced, their machinery improved, their productivity raised.

The Six were exposed simultaneously to sharp readjustment and the chance to sell their goods freely among nearly two hundred million consumers. Europe, in fact, was getting for the first time the advantages of specialization, mass production and healthy competition.



Hutchison

The change came quickly because it was planned that way by the economic statesmen of France and Germany. They knew that the first plunge into a Common Market, where tariffs were to be reduced by stages and abolished within some ten years, would be a shock to countless industries and their workers.

Political Question

The real question in practical politics was whether the rewards of increased international trade would appear soon enough to counter-balance the businessman's natural fear of inpouring, competitive goods.

The answer came more rapidly than the most optimistic architects of the Common Market had hoped. The Six boomed overnight as a torrent of goods began to flow across the falling tariff barriers, consumption increased, living standards rose and unemployment literally disappeared.

To be sure, the reduction in tariffs, which has only got well started, is not alone responsible for the Common Market's prosperity.

They Worked Hard

The United States' Marshall Plan had given a ruined Europe its first chance of recovery from the war and, perhaps equally important, the European people worked, saved and produced as never before. But the tariff reductions so far and above all, the prospect of further reductions to ultimate zero, altered and improved all business calculation.

Once assured of a huge consuming population close at hand and open to imports, the industrialists of the Six were ready to invest in new factories, new processes and new production on a scale quite unimaginable so long as the continent was split between separate, tight economic parcels.

Capital Flowed In

The rewards of an abundant, integrated market were so clear that not only European capital but capital from Britain and the United States as well was massively invested in what had truly become a new economic system.

Statistics to demonstrate this miracle would fill a book or a library, but a few simple facts will serve here:

In 1959 France's exports to the Common Market nations were 34 per cent higher than in the previous year. Germany is exporting so much to its partners and the world that it has piled up gold reserves to the point of distorting and congesting the free world's money system while at home Germany suffers from a labor shortage.

Production Rising

Production among the Six is still rising but in Britain, the United States and Canada has failed to grow significantly, if at all, this year. The able research experts of the London Economist, projecting these trends ahead 10 years, foresee at best a slower growth in Britain than in any nation of the Six.

Of course the initial, spontaneous outburst of economic expansion in the Common Market could not continue at its original speed when the continent was feeling the effects of gigantic capital investment.

The growth rate of the Six is still high but it is tending to slow down and may decline still further, depending on conditions outside of Europe.

Nevertheless growth still continues, though it falters elsewhere, as Britain and the United States invest more money in a vast developing free-trade area certain to increase in wealth—always providing, of course, that the whole North Atlantic community does not undermine its future by short-sighted restrictionist policies.

The Big Spectre

For prosperous as they are, the Six cannot isolate themselves from any serious slump in the free world's total economy. Nor, in particular, can the Canadian economy, already in the deepest sort of trouble for native as well as external reasons.

Indeed, the overhanging spectre in the Common Market and in Britain—apart from the danger to peace — is not their own internal problems but the future of the North American economy as shadowed by the health of the United States dollar.

Just the same, Britain, which so far has refused to join the Common Market, has a grave problem of its own little understood, almost unknown to the Canadian people who will feel its results.

Auxiliary Firemen To Get Training In Civil Defence

For the first time in years civil defence training will be instituted soon for auxiliary firemen.

Training will be one night weekly at main fire halls throughout Greater Victoria.

Arrangements have just been completed at a meeting between CD officials and area fire chiefs.

At least 40 auxiliary firemen are expected to take the course, starting around mid-January.

Recruits must be in good physical and between ages of 18 and 45.

Trainees will receive instruction in their own municipal firehalls. Persons outside the four municipalities who wish instruction will get it at the nearest Greater Victoria fire station.

Training is being co-ordinated by CD in conjunction with Victoria Fire Chief James Bayliss, CD fire head for the Greater Victoria target area.

LOUISIANA BACKS PRIVATE SCHOOLS

Legislature Defies Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans ended 10 days of token school integration today with the Louisiana State Legislature offering new defiance of a federal court while moving toward a system of both public and private schools.

The weekend offered a respite from pickets who have screamed hatred at one school where a boycott of white pupils showed signs of weakening.

A boycott of white pupils held through the week at McDonogh No. 19 Elementary School, attended by three Negro girls in the first grade. Irate women and a few men concentrated their picketing on the William Frantz School, where 10 white children joined one Negro student Friday.

Only one white child was brought to the Frantz school last Monday. Five more showed up Thursday and another four Friday. The two schools have a total enrolmentof more than 1,000. Many of the pupils have been going to school in an adjoining parish.

The state House of Representatives gave quick, unanimous approval Friday to a bill providing grant-in-aid funds for parents who wish to send their children to private schools. A sponsor said the measure would not interfere with the public school system. The measure won speedy approval from a Senate committee Friday night.

Leases were signed on two buildings to be converted into private schools for pupils in the first three grades of Frantz and McDonogh schools.

A three-judge federal court issued injunctions against Governor Jimmie Davis, other state officials and the legislature Wednesday to prevent them from stopping integration. The court said any legislation that defeated the right of Negroes to attend public school is unconstitutional.

Despite this, state House Speaker Thomas Jewell announced Friday the legislature is withholding pay of teachers in the two integrated schools in New Orleans and has placed the teachers under investigation.

IN MEMORY OF SON

Work Under Way For Boys' Club

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

It has been estimated that the average boy has at least 3,600 free hours a year in which to get into trouble.

And in Victoria, as elsewhere, many of them do.

Col. and Mrs. R. O. Bull of Ardmore, V.I., are spending thousands of dollars on this problem. They are converting the old fire hall at Camosun and Yates into a club building equipped for the care and instruction of boys between the ages of eight and 18.

The renovated building will be known as the Boys' Club of Victoria and will be an independent unit of the Boys' Clubs of Canada, which are affiliated with similar clubs in Britain and the United States.

FIRST ON ISLAND

It will be the first of its kind on Vancouver Island, but there are seven such clubs in Vancouver and 41 across Canada, catering mainly to boys from poorer families who are not encouraged to join Wolf Cubs, Scouts or church groups.

"They are often the boys who are not wanted by such groups," Col. Bull said. "In fact, the Canadian YMCA has stated publicly that it will not take delinquents."

He and his wife are building the Boys' Club of Victoria as a memorial to their son, Flying Officer R. M. Bull, who was killed while flying with the RCAF in 1943.

The new club, scheduled to be completed by Dec. 22 next, will bear a simple stone plaque inscribed with his name.

"We like to think our boy's memory will be preserved in a living entity rather than a stone monument," Col. Bull said.

The old fire hall is being converted by the M. P. Paine Company of Victoria at a cost of $14,000. But at least $3,000 more will be spent on equipment.

Col. and Mrs. Bull have also agreed to pay school taxes on the building for the first three years.

"We want to get the club off to a good start," he said, "but we hope many other citizens will give it their support."

Work on the old fire hall was begun Thursday

PLACE FOR HOMEWORK

There will be facilities for table tennis and the teaching of arts and crafts, with a reading room, games room, gymnasium, darkroom, kitchen and study room.

Ronald Havard, a native of Victoria who has been studying in Montreal, is returning here to be executive director of the new boys' club. He is travelling across Canada by car and is expected to arrive next Friday.

Mrs. Walker Taylor will be in charge of the boys' library and she requests that anyone who would like to donate books should phone her at GR 5-1998.

Renovation work has been planned by Roderick Clack of the city's planning and inspection division.

Col. Bull has invited Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes to perform the opening ceremony around Dec. 22.

Hon. Frank Ross, the former lieutenant-governor, will be honorary chairman of the club and directors will include Mayor Percy Scurrah, Geoffrey Edgelow, Robert Phipps, Charles Mullins, Roderick Clack, Alan B. Macfarlane, E. R. Watt, D'Arcy McGee and executive director Ronald Havard.

MARY A. KING

'TREMENDOUS TASK'

Foster Home Leader Child Welfare Chief

The woman who started the foster home program of the Victoria Children's Aid Society has been appointed to one of the province's top welfare jobs.

Mary K. King Friday was named superintendent of child welfare for the B.C. government. She succeeds Ruby McKay, who resigned last month after an accumulation of differences with government policy and program.

Miss King, 52, said her work will bring her in close contact with the children's aid societies, the Supreme Court, and take her into the field throughout B.C.

"I realize it is an important and tremendous task I'm undertaking," she said. "I'll do my best to fulfil it."

Miss King said there are many dedicated people in B.C. who will make her job easier by their interest and efforts.

MISS McKAY SILENT

She made no comment on specific problems, or on Miss McKay's departure. Miss McKay herself has declined comment at this time on her reasons for quitting.

Miss King started a nursing career when she graduated from Royal Jubilee Hospital in 1929.

In 1932 she became the first social worker for the Children's Aid Society, and organized its foster home program here.

She went to the Toronto School of Social Work in 1935, and obtained her diploma there in 1937.

In 1939 Miss King was appointed deputy superintendent of child welfare for the B.C. government. However, she left shortly after to become assistant director of the Vancouver Children's Aid Society.

MANY APPLICANTS

She rejoined the government in 1947 as a field consultant and later was a regional administrator in the Fraser Valley. She took leave to obtain her master of social work certificate in 1955 from the Smith College School of Social Work in Massachusetts.

In 1958 she again became deputy superintendent, and will now take over as superintendent Jan. 1.

Government officials declined to say how many applicants there were for the job. However, it was learned there were several.

Soviet Dancers Coming to Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two leading Russian dancers will perform with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet for four performances Dec. 27 to 30, company manager Robert Johnston said Friday. The dancers, who will arrive in the middle of the month, are Olga Moiseeva and Askold Makarov of the Leningrad Ballet. The Winnipeg engagement will be their only performance in North America.

Professor Rapped By Judge Over Award

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes quashed an arbitration board award here Friday and at the same time criticized a law professor at the University of British Columbia.

The arbitration board award required the Howe Sound Company to pay pension benefits for persons it does not employ.

The award was signed by C. B. Bourne, chairman, and Harvey Murphy, nominee of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, Local 663.

In quashing the order, Mr. Justice McInnes said: "One should not be too surprised that Mr. Murphy saw fit to sign the ruling when it is realized that he is the business agent of the affected union.

"The matter of the chairman's attitude gives one more concern, particularly when, as I understand, he is a learned professor of law at the University of B.C."

The award had dealt with a claim by the union that Howe Sound Company, Britannia Branch, is bound by a bargaining agreement to pay pension benefits for employees of its predecessor, Britannia Mining and Smelting Company Ltd., whether they work for the Howe Sound Company or not.

SOROKIN TELLS SONS

No School, No Visit!

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Sons of Freedom Doukhobors acted Friday to keep their spiritual leader, Stefan Sorokin, among them, but all they got from him was a rap on the knuckles and a threat.

The radically religious sect, with little apparent understanding of the situation, blamed government for the fact that the leader who has not lived in British Columbia since 1953 has chosen to return home to Uruguay for a short while.

In protest most parents refused to permit their children—about 100—to go to school Friday.

Sorokin, a citizen of Uruguay, came to Canada in September in connection with a libel suit he has launched against the Trail, B.C., Times and a reporter. His visitor's visa expired Nov. 30 and he has asked for an extension which the federal immigration department says it is processing.

EVENTS CONFUSED

The confused sequence of events since Thursday: A delegation of women visited Magistrate William Evans of Nelson, one of the few persons connected with government that the sect trusts, to ask that Sorokin be permitted to remain in Canada.

The magistrate talked by telephone with Sorokin in Vancouver and told the delegation that Sorokin said he must return to Uruguay for reasons connected with his court case but that he would come back to Canada in the latter part of January. The case comes up in court Feb. 20.

The delegation took this information to a meeting at Passmore, in the heart of Freedomite area of the southeast Kootenays about 18 miles from here.

WOMEN ISSUE STATEMENT

Friday the women returned to Nelson with this statement: "We the delegates of the women's committee are sent from the mass meeting of Reformed Doukhobors to inform Mr. Evans, the press and the public in general that we have stopped sending our children to school because our leader cannot remain with us."

Later Sorokin issued a statement in Vancouver which said he "deplores" the action of the sect but added it was no doubt the result of misunderstanding.

"I want it to be known that the government of Canada cannot give me something I haven't asked for," the statement said.

A spokesman said Sorokin hoped to leave Canada Wednesday night but if the government granted an extension of his visa he would make a quick trip to the Kootenays first.

Magistrate Evans said later Sorokin warned that if the sect did not send the children back to school he would not come to the Kootenays.

YOUR HEALTH

The long-established principles of Naturopathic Medicine are proving justified by recent scientific developments. In nutrition, for example, Naturopathic Physicians have always advised low fat intake as a means towards health in this hemisphere. It is now widely recognized that fats can contribute to high blood cholesterol and heart disease.

The prescription and institution of proper nutrition is one of the effective therapies employed by Naturopathic Physicians. In combination with the use of electrical and manipulative forces, together with other "natural" agents, Naturopathic Physicians have maintained over many years a successful programme for the treatment of disease and the restoration of health.

NEW YORK TIMES ARTICLE FEATURES ISLAND HOME

In the New York Times magazine for Nov. 20, a two-page spread of pictures and text is devoted to a Vancouver Island home on a hill.

Described as "an apt example of the growing penchant for a romantic mood in architecture today," it is situated at Comox and was built by the late Robert Filberg Jr.

It took three years to build and was completed a few weeks after the death of the owner last April.

It was announced today that the architect, Arthur Erickson, had received a special award for the Filberg house design, in a Western Home Award Program jointly sponsored by the Architectural Institute of British Columbia and Western Homes and Living magazine.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Fascinating Hazel Bush Is Winter Garden Charmer

By JACK BEASTALL

The witch—or wych-hazels are hardly shrubs or small trees native to eastern North America and to Asia, some of which are valued as garden plants for their habit of blooming in early winter.

Although listed as reaching heights of 25 to 35 feet, such dimensions are not usual in this latitude. While near perfect conditions of soil and exposure have been known to give heights around 15 feet, the Chinese witch-hazel of our gardens is more often a shapely rounded bush reaching from six to 10 feet.

Jack

This Chinese witch-hazel is probably better known to some gardeners as Hamamelis mollis, a shrub which drops its leaves in late fall, gives fair fall color, and has flowers as odd as they are early.

Although we gardeners talk glibly of Latin names for plants it is surprising how many of our plants have names of Greek origin, and hamemelis is one.

The pronunciation may be the familiar ha-mam'-el-is or the more correct hama-me'-lis. "Hama" is the Greek for together, and "mela" means fruit, the combination being descriptive because some of the family have the fruits of one season on the plants together with the next season's blossoms.

DOWNEY

Quite a stretch of the imagination would be needed to call this an outstanding shrub during the summer, for there are many which are more attractive at this season.

The deeply veined leaves are characteristically hazel in appearance, and close inspection reveals a greyish downy underside due to the presence of hairs which are also a feature of the young shoots. The specific name, mollis, means downy.

The Chinese witch-hazel has the longest leaves of the group, being up to five inches in length and often almost as wide.

Autumn foliage color seems to be restricted to shades of yellow, but after coloring, the leaves remain for a considerable time to make a pleasant spot of sunshine for the first dull days of fall.

SURPRISE

It is after the rains and wind have ripped away the leaves that the witch-hazel comes into its own and holds the spotlight through the turn of the year.

To those unfamiliar with the plant the first surprise is to discover that the foliage has been hiding the flower buds.

So fascinating are these light brown woolly clusters they impel daily inspection until the yellow petals appear, and then we experience either delight or disappointment, according to our reaction to the curious flowers.

The petals, only four to each flower, are like one-half-inch lengths of very narrow yellow ribbon, of little interest individually, but striking when the groups of eight or ten blossoms form tassels which might have been wired to the bare branches for a Christmas decoration.

The exact time of flowering depends a lot on the location of the garden and the location of the plant in the garden, but we fully expect the rich, yellow, fragrant blossoms to be there on New Year's Day.

Hamamelis mollis is the first of the two Asian species to flower, and is the most spectacular.

FLOWERING PERIODS

The other, H. japonica, flowers a month to six weeks later with crumpled petals of bright yellow. Two varieties of this witch-hazel, H. japonica arborea and H. j. zuccarlhiana, have deep yellow and lemon yellow flowers respectively.

The two American species are quiet different in time of flowering, H. virginiana flowering in September, and H. vernalis in spring.

While H. mollis is readily available locally the others may be difficult to locate since they are of less garden interest.

Although there are many gardeners not acquainted with the Chinese witch-hazel, it is not by any means as new a plant as some would have us believe.

It was originally introduced to cultivation in 1879 by Charles Maries, a collector whose name is perpetuated by Platycodon mariesi (the balloon-flower), Hydrangea macrophylla var mariesi, and other plants.

The shrub itself is perfectly hardy here, even the flowers withstanding a few degrees of frost and retaining their freshness after a light covering with snow. On a mild, windless day their fragrance is perceptible for many feet.

COLOR COMEBACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—The revival of traditional 17th and 18th Century furniture is affecting colors in wallpapers.

The Wallpaper Council, Inc., reports a return to the darker, rich shades of paper and also to traditional patterns. Color revivals include deep, rich red, muted browns, dark yellowish greens, dark golds, deep blues and dark warm grays.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

BY JACK BEASTALL

Q.—What local firm handles plastic greenhouses? — Fred, Langford.

A. — Ready-made plastic greenhouses are not, to our knowledge, available. The light wooden members for the framework can be obtained from lumber yards and the plastic from the firms listed in the yellow pages of the telephone directory. Experimental greenhouses have been built at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanichton, where information on construction and materials may be obtained. Suppliers of plans will also give advice.

Q.—What temperature should be maintained in a small greenhouse over winter? —H.F., Cedar Hill.

A.—The answer depends on the plants which are being grown. A good average for a mixture of plants such as generally found in an amateur's greenhouse is about 55 deg. F. On sunny days this may rise to 70 deg. F., and on cold nights go down to 45 deg. F. Where specific plants of one kind are grown the temperature must be suited to their requirements.

Visit to Capital of Love

Sutton

VERONA — Seekers after culture have been to Las Vegas, the county seat of chance.

And to Atlantic City, the world centre of salt water taffy.

But who here has been to Verona, the capital of love?

As all who have read W. Shakespeare will remember, Verona was the city of Romeo and Juliet who have been handed down in history as one of the world's most celebrated love matches, along with Heloise and Abelard, Olive Oyl and Popeye, and Marilyn and Yves.

From its offices located in the Capulet family home, the Verona tourist bureau dispenses the local love story in folders embossed with the lovable legend, "Juliet's Town." The painted wooden ceiling of its first-floor information bureau is original and looked down on Juliet in her torment. Her bedroom upstairs is, of course, equipped with the famous balcony. Were she to issue her impassioned quotations from it today, Juliet would gaze upon a thicket of TV aerials. Romeo would be easy to spot in the flourescent glow from the lamp store and the coin shop in the square below.

But love lives in romantic splendor in the Convent of San Francisco al Corso where the lovers were secretly married and which now holds their tomb. A cloister, the marriage chapel and the grave are all that is left now of the convent, but it is a romantic corner of grassy plots, dripping fountains, cascading vines, and white doves which I suspect were installed by those hucksters of the heartthrob down at the tourist office. Also on view is a bust of the bard of Stratford-on-Avon who was not exactly solely responsible for the whole thing since he got the idea for the play from a story by Lugi da Porto whose royalties were as light as his fame.

Romeo was an aging 14 and Juliet a year younger when they decided to marry, providing inspiration for a popular madrigal of the day entitled, "They tried to tell us we're too young." Nonetheless, they were married in the convent chapel. Just outside it the city of Verona maintains to this day a mailbox where the lovelorn may deposit their problems. All are answered by a municipal employee who carries the title of Juliet's Secretary. The mailbox is allowed to fill up during the tourist season, and Juliet's Secretary spends his winter (yes, it's a he) dispatching counsel to the heartsick. Down a flight of steps lies Juliet's tomb, empty now except for dried flowers dropped by young lovers making pledges of the heart. All flowers are red, for as every lover knows, red is the color of l'amore.

Thankfully, Verona is not too lovesick to eat, and a busy market flourishes each day in a colorful square called the Piazza Erbe on the site of the old Roman forum. The awnings over the tops of the pushcarts and the stands make a canopy for the square. Poking up from the covering is a winged lion atop a marble column, marking the day in 1405 when the Venetians came to dinner. They left in 1797. The fountain called the Madonna Verona has been splashing in the square since 1360 and the Palazzo Maffei, with its six statues representing the six workdays, has been standing there like that since 1668. For shoppers beset with a sudden hunger there are hot chestnuts, hot sweet potatoes and big balooning fritters which the Veronese call bomboloni.

Verona sits on the flat northern Italian plain nestling against Lake Garda, from whose shores flow olive oil, peaches, and some of Italy's best wines. There are many ways of getting here of which I will tell you one that was easy. Winging in from Paris on a Caravel that took as long as it takes to eat lunch. Air France deposited me in Milan. I checked in for the night in the Principe e Savoie, a den of modernity where the Venetian blinds go up electrically, and the "Do Not Disturb" sign is stashed outside your door at a button's push. A new Opel ordered in the States from Auto Europe was delivered to the hotel the next morning, and the super-highway, once I got unravelled from Milan, lay at the door.

It is a flat 100 miles to Verona's Due Torri, one of the world's most unusual hotels. An inn from the 14th century to 1885, when it closed its doors, it received Mozart, Gothe, Garibaldi, and the Brandenburg knights of the Holy Roman Empire. It was redone and reopened two years ago in a welter of antique and incredibly rich trappings.

Europe Next Year?

Be FIRST for the MOST
More Canadians cross on the popular Homeric than on any other ship, year after year.
So it's not too early right now to book your Home Lines passage to Europe for next season. By reserving today you get the choicest accommodation aboard this magnificent liner. Wise travellers cross by sea for real relaxation before those exciting weeks in Europe; and the wisest choose Homeric for outright luxury in both First and Tourist — for world-famous cuisine, superb living at sea, rest or fun. Your travel agent will give you details.

DINER'S SPECIAL—Banff's Timberline Hotel had this prospect for its restaurant clientele recently — a mountain backdrop, new-fallen snow and a pair of curious and hungry mule deer. A single sheet of glass separated the deer from the diners. (CP Photo.)

In-Bond Shopping Paradise

The tourist can forget his shopping caveats in Jamaica. It's one of the Caribbean area's bargain basements, offering some of the world's finest wares at prices as much as 60 per cent below those in the United States and Canada.

What makes Jamaica such a paradise for the thrifty? It's "in-bond" shopping, simply another way of saying 'duty-free" shopping.

Compounding sensational low prices with convenience, in-bond shopping works like this: goods are stored in Jamaican Government warehouses in bond, with the government collecting no revenue on them. All the tourist has to do is order his goods from sample merchandise in a Jamaican in-bond shop, pay for them on the spot, and the items will be delivered to him from store houses to his plane or ship at the time of his departure. He pays no export duties.

As an additional convenience, in-bond shops will mail gifts to relatives and friends from Jamaica to the U.S. If these items are valued at less than $10, there is no import duty to pay.

The shopper has a wide selection in Jamaican in-bond shops. There are French perfumes, English china, Swiss watches, Scottish cashmeres, crystal ware, cameras, binoculars, leather goods, Jamaica rums, imported liquors and silverware. In addition, many local handicraft items such as straw hats, shopping bags, rag dolls, yo-yos, maraccas, calypso instruments, jewellry, skirts, blouses and wood work are available at song value.

On all purchases, in-bond shops caution buyers to give plenty of notice as to their intended departure from the island. They suggest two or three days before leaving at least.

Jamaica has close to 50 in-bond shops in its three largest cities, Kingston, Montego Bay and Ocho Rios.

Real Modern Flight Kitchen

Thai International's newly completed flight kitchen at Don Muang airport is the most modern in the entire Far East. It is equipped to prepare and serve 4,000 meals a week for in-flight service on Thai International, SAS and Swissair.

Smoked salmon from Scandinavia, caviar from Iran, pate de foie from Strassbourg, wines from France, fruits from Asia and Europe and both canned and fresh foods from all over the world are prepared here by a staff of five Scandinavians and 43 Thais.

National Parks Attract Tourists

OTTAWA (CP) — A record 5,111,819 visitors called on Canada's national parks and historic sites in the six-month period ended Sept. 30, the Canadian government travel bureau has reported.

The over-all increase on 1959 amounted to more than 525,000. Total attendance at the 16 national parks was 4,306,303 compared with 4,057,170 in 1959. Historic sites visitors totalled 805,516 this year against 528,746 last year —with no figures kept on five of the 22 sites in 1959.

Signal Hill in St. John's, Nfld., attracted 88,000 visitors this year—up 82,500—to top historic sites. Other leaders included Fort Langley, B.C., 50,250, up 36,000.

The figures for the national parks, with 1959 totals in brackets included:

Banff, 823,977 (754,131); Elk Island, Alta., 164,060 (175,943); Glacier, B.C., 287 (347); Jasper, Alta., 313,090 (285,095); Kootenay, B.C., 404,339 (382,210); Mount Revelstoke, B.C., 32,742 (12,609); Prince Albert, Sask., 134,916 (153,391); Riding Mountain, Man., 535,343 (568,269); Waterton Lakes, Alta., 336,897 (336,894); Yoho, B.C., 50,998 (68,543).

SOVIET TOURISTS TO CUBA

NEW YORK — Russian tourists will begin visiting Cuba in 1961.

Soviet travellers will be offered a visit to the tropical island, so long a favorite with U.S. visitors, in conjunction with trips to the U.S. Over 500 tourists from the Soviet Union visited the U.S. last year, but a Soviet spokesman expects the number to double in 1961.

'I Won't Take Any Pay'

Ald. Arthur Dowell, seeking re-election Dec. 8, today said he had no intention of collecting his civic pay if he's still an alderman when he takes a six-month trip to Europe next year.

"I have been criticized on this point and I want to make it perfectly clear to everyone that if I am re-elected, under no circumstances will I accept remuneration during my leave of absence."

Senior alderman on council, he said he felt justified in taking a trip back to his native England to see his relatives after 40 years because "during my 10 years on council I can safely say I have spent more time on city business than on my own."

During the past four years, Ald. Dowell has been acting mayor—a job requiring full-time attendance at City Hall for periods ranging from a day to a month while the mayor is away on city business or annual vacation.

MONDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Gyro Club: Noon, Ingraham Hotel. Classification talks.

Douglas Rotary Club: 6 p.m., Holyrood House. Ladies' Night. Speaker will be Mrs. R. D. Harvey of the Canada Council.

SUPREME COURT DECISION NEEDED:

Is Machine Queen's Record Clean?

A move to prevent Magistrate William Ostler and the city of Victoria from destroying a pinball machine known as The Carnival Queen was made in B.C. Supreme Court Friday.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane stood over the motion until Jan. 24 next because, it was said, the attorney-general of British Columbia had not been officially notified as required by law.

When the case comes up next month, Musicale Network System will argue that the Carnival Queen should not be destroyed because it was not in operation when city police raided a downtown gaming house.

The network will ask for a writ prohibiting Magistrate Ostler and the city of Victoria from destroying the pinball machine.

The Carnival Queen was seized when police raided the premises of Charles Lore last March. Mr. Lore was convicted of keeping a "common gaming house" and the crown prosecutor made application for destruction of the machine.

Police said when they raided the premises a Chinese gambling game known as Pai Gow was being played and it appeared there was "a 26 per cent rake-off."

A number of persons were convicted of playing Pai Gow on these premises and Mr. Lore was fined $250.

Herbert L. Matthews, for Musicale Network, claims that the Carnival Queen was on the premises at the time but was not in operation when police entered.

His argument will be that there can be no order for "forfeiture or destruction" of the Carnival Queen unless it is proved that the queen was used for gaming "or an illegal act."

Giant Liner Oriana Due In February

The 42,000-ton luxury liner Oriana, largest built in Britain since the Second World War, is due in B.C. waters Feb. 2.

The P & O Orient Lines' $40,000,000 giant left Southampton today on her maiden voyage.

She is booked to her 2,200-passenger capacity for the 16-week round trip. Even the waiting list has been closed off by Oriana's Pacific Northwest agents, with over 600 would-be voyagers hoping for cancellations.

From Britain she has ports-of-call scheduled at Naples, Port Said, Aden, Colombo, Fremantle, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland, Suva, Honolulu, Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Oriana, built in the Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire shipyards of Vickers-Armstrong in three years, has a speed of 27 knots, and recently logged 30.64 knots over a measured mile.

She will stop off the Victoria waterfront to pick up pilot, and customs and immigration officials, inbound for Vancouver.

Open Report Asked On Campaign Funds

A law demanding business corporations to disclose their political contributions should be put forward by the construction industry, CCF Leader Robert Strachan said Friday.

"It should either suggest such a law, or else forbid such contributions altogether," he said.

This course of action is open, he said, "if the construction industry really wants to contribute toward political honesty."

He was commenting on a request from the construction industry that the B.C. government wash out legislation making employers deduct union dues from wages, and another request that unions be forced to submit an annual financial statement to all members.

The construction industry contended dues checkoff should be abolished because the union will be making funds available for the New Party.

Mr. Strachan said that business uses funds it gets from the public by selling its goods for filling campaign coffers.

He contended buying a panel of plywood is just as much contributing to politics as paying union dues if both recipients of the money use it politically.

"If unions shouldn't contribute dues to political parties, then business shouldn't contribute campaign funds," the CCF leader said.

Union Chief Says Finance Books Open

A local trade union president today said his union's financial statement is available to all members, and the construction industry too if it wants to see it.

George Preston, president of the School District 63 branch of the National Union of Public Employees (B.C. Division), was commenting on a brief to the cabinet by the B.C. Federation of Construction Associations.

It called for a law compelling all unions to make annual financial statements to members, and for abolition of the law which allows checkoff of union dues by employers.

A copy of the NUPE financial statement is contained in a report of its B.C. convention in June, said Mr. Preston.

UP TO LOCALS

It is available to all members, he said, even if they didn't attend the convention, and it was made available to the press.

"Collection of money by unions for political purposes is up to the locals," he added.

COOL, SUNNY WEEKEND HAPPY PROSPECT HERE

A cool and sunny weekend is in prospect for the Greater Victoria area, with this morning's clouds and rain partially clearing this afternoon and evening.

Sunday is expected to be mainly sunny, with light winds of 15 miles per hour and less. Low tonight will be 37, high Sunday 47.

Esquimalt Vote Coming to Boil

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Storm and intrigue brew in the political cauldron for Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding.

Provincial politics pale beside struggling democracy in the federal field.

Already three parties have run into trouble and the fourth faces a possible blowup.

The Conservatives shied at an unwelcome guest from Vancouver.

The local Socreds jumped high as the proverbial kite that flew the prospect of oft-defeated Einar Gunderson as their man.

This week it came out that the Liberal nominee had held a Tory membership card.

As for the New Party, already there are rumblings on half a dozen names.

But all is not smooth and the rumblings may erupt Dec. 14 at the nominating convention with a scrap between old-line CCF vs. new-front New Party boosters.

Provincial officials hope External Affairs Minister Howard Green was just kidding in Seattle when he said the Canadian government is between the devil and the deep blue sea on the Columbia River hydro treaty, and that the devil might be north of the border.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner: "I recognize B.C. is between Ottawa and the U.S., but I hope Canada is on our side."

If there are any cracks in the treaty-to-be on the Columbia, they'll show at next week's meeting here between federal Resources Minister Walter Dinsdale and Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton with B.C. government officials.

After last week's Ottawa talks, says Attorney-General Bonner, "we're still dotting i's and crossing t's."

Complete treaty would be a nice Christmas present.

Ballots are already circulating among civil servants on affiliation with labor.

It seems a good bet the 11,000-member B.C. Government Employees' Association will "vote no" to affiliation with B.C. Federation of Labor.

New boy Frank Richter seems to enjoy his agriculture portfolio.

"Everything's going fine," he says, and has pitched in with confidence to a job that really needs some spadework.

His first meetings were with marketing board officials and he has expressed a willingness to meet farmers if necessary.

MONTE ROBERTS

This is National Safe-Driving Week.

A brilliant phrase with which to open a column, and one calculated to send the readers dashing madly out into the streets, cheering wildly, waving their hats in the air, and shouting "So what?"

The reason is, what driver needs to know anything about being a safe driver?

Every driver is a safe driver.

It is only the other drivers who aren't safe drivers.

Every driver I know—and every driver you know—has been driving safely for years.

Or at least weeks.

He will gladly tell you so, and explain with diagrams how some clunkhead who should never be let behind the wheel of an automotive vehicle refused to give way and thus placed your friend, the safe driver, in such jeopardy he had to force another car off the road to preserve his safe driving record.

Once a man slips into the driver's seat and turns the key in the ignition lock, he is the safest, most competent driver on the road.

If you don't believe this, just ask him.

"If it weren't for all those incompetent idiots driving the other cars," he will tell you, "safe driving would be a cinch.

"Just keep all those other drivers off the road," he will elaborate, "and I'll show you a safe driving record second to none."

There are many types of safe drivers: the safe driver who keeps a sedate pace with the left-hand wheels hugging the centre line, and who clearly signals before turning right; the 5 o'clock weavers, whose superb co-ordination and reaction keeps them perfectly safe as they veer through traffic like a hopped-up halfback on a benzedrine diet; the yellow light cruisers who are perfectly safe so long as no fool bumps them on the green light.

There are so many types of safe drivers, space forbids their listing here.

You, of course, are a safe driver.

The only important thing to remember during Safe Driving Week is, you are the ONLY safe driver on the road.

All the other drivers are either mad, impetuous fools, or stodgy slowpokes who hold up the normal course of travel.

So, as the only safe driver on the road, my advice to you during Safe Driving Week is, leave your car at home and let the mad, impetuous fools fight it out with the stodgy slowpokes.

As my old pal Mickey Lester used to say, take it easy, my friendlies; you'll last a whole lot longer and finish a whole lot stronger.

Eye-Popping Jaycees' Act Seeks Votes

Victorians could be forgiven today for thinking the circus was back in town.

Reason: a couple of Victoria Jaycees clowning around in the downtown area, bedecked from head to toe in weird creations.

But there was a serious side to the act—it was designed to publicize the Junior Chamber of Commerce's "get out and vote" campaign for the municipal elections on Thursday.

Wearing rubber duck decoys for head-gear, Ted Bird and John McArthur carried placards urging "Don't duck out of your duty, Dec. 8."

POSTAL DATES FOR CHRISTMAS

Christmas mailing dates for Canada and the U.S. were announced today by the Post Office.

Deadline for local delivery is Dec. 17, and for delivery elsewhere in B.C., Dec. 15.

For mail to Alberta, deadline is Dec. 14; to Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Dec. 12; Ontario, Quebec and Maritimes, Dec. 10, and to Newfoundland, Dec. 7.

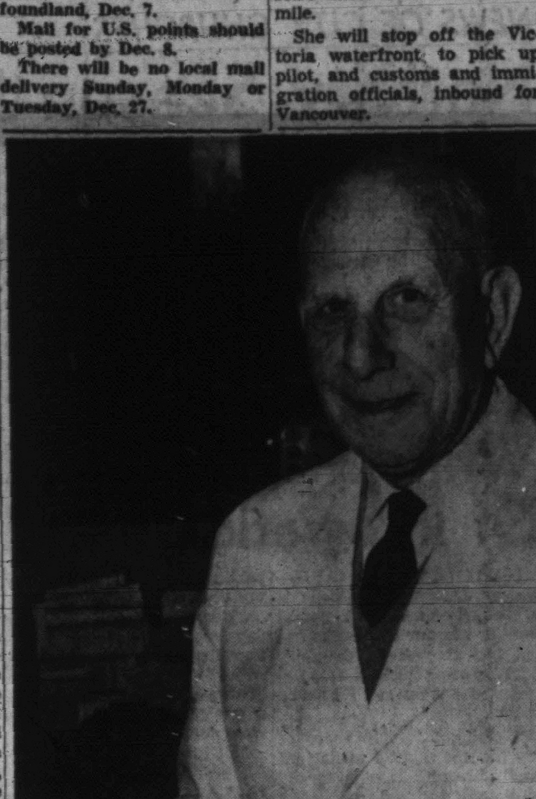
Mail for U.S. points should be posted by Dec. 8.

There will be no local mail delivery Sunday, Monday or Tuesday, Dec. 27.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Why did Iran and Thailand change their names from Persia and Siam, respectively? G.M.

A. Iran, as it is known today, is still called Persia in many countries. However, official name change was made in 1935 because the people consider themselves Irani (Aryans), though they had been known as Persians since early Greek times. Thailand, as it is called today, made the name change from Siam in 1939. Idea at that time was to include all Thai people within extended boundaries. These boundaries were extended, then reduced, in Second World War involvements, but the name remained.



THIS MORTAR AND PESTLE, implements of druggist's trade, have been used daily during the half-century Bert Aaronson has been a pharmacist in Victoria.

'PEOPLE ARE HEALTHIER TODAY'

Half-Century a Druggist

Bert H. Aaronson today marks 50 years in the drug business in Victoria.

With a half-century dispensing experience behind him, 72-year-old Mr. Aaronson believes people are healthier today than when he started business.

This is due mainly to antibiotics, he said.

"And in the old days people didn't go to doctors as often as today. They used home remedies.

People today also are "always trying to save a buck." These are the persons who want a pharmacist to take the role of a doctor. What happens?

"We send them to a doctor," said Mr. Aaronson.

But the prescription end of sales is not the heaviest, by any means.

Cosmetics constitute the main line, followed by linaments, aspirins and—a reflection on the fast pace of today—stomach powders.

A graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, Bert H. Aaronson went into business immediately on graduation. His store has always been in the same area, Cook and Fort, although the present store is the third site at the same intersection.

There were 12 drug stores in Victoria a half century ago, of which Aaronson's is the only one now operating under its original name.

The "H" in his name, incidentally, stands for absolutely nothing.

"I put it in as an uncle of mine had the same first initial. It was confusing. Names got mixed up."

His son Gordon is associated with Mr. Aaronson in his store operation, as is wife Marguerite, "down in the store now."

They live above the establishment.

When do you intend to retire?

"Someday."

Until that day comes along Mr. Aaronson will continue golfing, fishing, and continuing the job that "makes you mad, and makes you laugh."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A Langford man who failed to declare part-time earnings to the Unemployment Insurance Commission was fined $25 and $3 costs when he pleaded guilty to two charges in Colwood RCMP court Friday.

Donald M. Pedden, 2686 Selwyn, faced two charges of making false statements to the commission. Sentence on one was suspended by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

WITH TIME—'LOVE AND THE TRUTH'

Historic Meeting Touched 'Threshold of Problems'

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII said today his historic meeting Friday with the Archbishop of Canterbury "went only as far as the threshold of great problems," but left hope for their eventual solution.

The supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church made this comment to cardinals and archbishops on his 55-minute talk with the primate of the Church of England, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

"I admire the sincere force of goodwill which Dr. Fisher is carrying forward," the Pope said.

"Our meeting took place in an atmosphere of cordiality and understanding on both sides.

"Of course, our talks went only as far as the threshold of great problems.

"Naturally the crusts formed during four centuries are many, but with understanding and mutual contacts, in which Dr. Fisher courageously undertook to take the initiative, with time there could come love and the truth."

STARTED WITH HENRY

The Church of England and the Church of Rome have been apart since the 16 century when King Henry VIII broke away from papal authority.

The general view in church circles in Rome was that the meeting would stimulate other contacts between Catholic and Protestant churchmen seeking Christian unity.

Dr. Fisher, 73, said he considered Friday's meeting historic, and told reporter's "good examples are sometimes followed."

In a sermon here Thursday night he made it clear that he did not consider Christian unity necessarily means reunion with the Church of Rome.

There are reasons for the archbishop's caution because Pope John, 79, repeatedly speaks of his hopes that "separated" Christians will return to the Roman Catholic Church.

Il Quotidiano, daily organ of Italian Catholic Action, referred editorially today to Christians who "are still far from the true church."

PROTESTANTS ENVISAGE WORLD UNDER VATICAN

LONDON (Reuters)—The British Protestant Alliance met Friday night to protest the Archbishop of Canterbury's audience Friday with Pope John.

Rev. Robert Hood, an Anglican clergyman, told the gathering of about 80 persons that the visit to the Vatican by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher was "the greatest example of backsliding and back-pedalling the world has ever seen."

Hood said "with a Roman Catholic president of the United States to lead the free world, and the British heads of government gazing soulfully into the Pope's face, only the blind can fail to see the beginning of a Vatican-centred priest rule of the whole world."

'Momentous Event' Says British Press

LONDON (AP)—The meeting of Pope John and the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Vatican is hailed in the British press today as a momentous event.

But The Daily Express accuses some Vatican officials of trying ot play down the significance of the talks.

"Lower level officials were quite neurotic in their anxiety to pass off Dr. Fisher's visit as being nothing significant," The Express says.

"Tourists who are normally almost seized by the lapels and pulled into St. Peter's were herded away from the site of the steps where Dr. Fisher's car came."

The Express adds that "the more rigid of the old cardinals," in explanation of the cut-down welcome to the Anglican leader, says: "Well, in our view he is not a real bishop at all."

DIPLOMATIC WRANGLING

The Herald reports that after the meeting "there was a lot of diplomatic wrangling between the Vatican and Dr. Fisher's advisers about the statement on the talks."

It claims the text prepared by the Anglicans we rejected by the Vatican three times.

Speakers at a London meeting of the Protestant Alliance expressed misgivings that the Anglican Chuch might appear to be giving way before the Vatican. The 80 Protestants at the meeting carried a resolution calling on "men everywhere to maintain the liberties for which our fathers fought and died."

Yuletide Bazaar Nets Over $300

GANGES — More than $300 was realized from the annual Christmas bazaar held by the Women's Auxiliary of the United Church last Saturday in the church hall.

The room was decorated with Christmas trees complete with colored lights, balloons in gay colors that hung from the ceiling, and the tea table decorated with holly and red candles.

The bazaar was opened by Rev. Norah Hughes.

NEWS OF CITY CHURCHES

Nativity Season Prepared

Sunday marks the start of Christmas observances in Metropolitan United.

The minister, Dr. F. E. H. James, will preach in the morning on "The Glory of Advent."

In the evening, the Arion Male Voice Choir, assisted by Mrs. Peggy Walton Packard, will present a program of Christmas music directed by Frank Tupman.

Annual Christmas bazaar and tea will be held in the parish hall, St. David's-by-the-Sea, Cordova Bay, on Wednesday, starting at 2.30 p.m.

It will be under auspices of the Women's Guild and will be opened by Mrs. J. W. Forth, wife of Archdeacon Forth.

Gifts, suitable for all members of the family, will be on sale, including home cooking. A fish pond and other attractions have been arranged for the children.

Walter Pettigrew has been appointed verger at Christ Church Cathedral, succeeding Stanley Cole who has retired after three years' service.

Mr. Pettigrew was formerly assistant verger.

"Carols in the Candlelight," an annual event, will be presented by the senior choir of First United Church Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m.

A Christmas pageant, "The Christmas Star," by Rose Cordain, will be presented Sunday evening, Dec. 18, at 8 p.m.

White Mother Proud Of Integration Stand

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Daisey Josephine Gabrielle is a brown-eyed, dark-haired mother who for two weeks has led her six-year-old daughter past howling pickets into integrated William Frantz school.

"I think I lost 10 years of my life the night I made that final decision," the 42-year-old mother of six said.

Outside her sparsely-furnished housing project apartment, two plainclothes detectives sat in a parked, unmarked auto.

"I pulled Yolanda out the second Monday," she said. "I was so scared. Who am I to fight the whole state of Louisiana and the governor, I asked myself.

"But that night, my conscience tore at me. Are you going to give in to a mob? I knew if I gave up, the minister would give up, too, and there'd be no white child left."

Rev. Lloyd Foreman was for some time the only other white parent taking his daughter to Frantz.

MADE DECISION

"Whatever it was, I heard an inner voice. And when I got up that morning, I told my husband Jerry, I'm taking Yolanda back. All those women yell, 'we hate Niggers.' I don't hate any race or creed. I'm going to do what I think is the right thing."

"Jerry said: 'Go ahead, I'm with you.'

"Even when I walked past those screaming women, even when they shoved me I closed myself in. I didn't hear their voices.

"I felt at peace with myself. You know, I'd rather take a beating from a mob than from my conscience."

Friday was the brightest day for Mrs. Gabrielle since integration started Nov. 14. Ten white children reported to Frantz school and nearly two dozen telegrams and letters were delivered to her.

Not one was a crank letter. All praised her courage.

ON RECORD

Salvation By Phone

A new and unique service is now being conducted by Central Baptist Church.

"It's a "dial-a-thought" program.

You dial EV 5-2611 and receive a one-minute recorded message from the pastor, Rev. R. D. Holmes.

The message is changed daily.

Typical of Pastor Holmes' "telephone thoughts" is the one Friday. He says in part, with earnestness and sincerity:

"If you are too busy to pray, you are too busy."

Prayer, he adds, can become a habit, "a very good habit."

Then he gives a little homily about answered prayer.

"Call again tomorrow, will you?" Pastor Holmes concludes.

The thoughts are designed to bring inspiration and courage to those who dial.

FIRST FOR VICTORIA

It is already popular. Dialing the number often brings a busy signal.

The message functions "at any hour of the day or night.

The thinking behind the service comes from investigation by the church board which wanted to arrive at the best way to reach persons unable to attend church, and provide a continuous extension ministry.

The "dial-a-thought" program is being conducted elsewhere in Canada, but this is the first time for Victoria.

It shows every indication of bringing daily encouragement to people who seek and need it.

92nd Anniversary Marked by Church

(From Duncan Bureau)

Duncan United Church this week marked the 92nd anniversary of the beginning of Methodist and Presbyterian work in Cowichan Valley with special services and celebrations.

Chief speaker was Rev. Russell Ross, of First United Church in Vancouver, who spoke at the services and at a congregational supper in the church hall attended by 250 persons.

The first Methodist preachers held services in 1868 where Maple Bay Inn now stands, and the first church, built of logs, was erected the following year.

The present church was built in 1941, under direction of Rev. W. F. Burns, and was enlarged in 1954 while Rev. Frank Golightly was minister. Rev. B. Knipe has been minister since 1958.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Scarlet Roses Will Bloom On City's Christmas Trees

By PENNY SAVER

It's no uncommon thing to see roses blooming in Victoria gardens at Christmas time—but, on Christmas trees!!! Yet, that's exactly what will be seen if number of customers I saw buying new-type tree lights are any indication. They come in a set that has 20 lights that are in form of realistic red roses, each bordered by green leaves. There are also two spare bulbs included in set. These are the type that remain lit even when one bulb is burnt out. Set is selling at $9.

If you prefer red rosebuds, there's a set that has 24 red rosebuds and two spare bulbs. Bulbs are six to eight wattage and sets are selling at $6.98.

Another unusual set of tree lights consists of 24 star-shaped lights that come in glorious colors of amber, rose, green, blue, wine and fuchsia. This set is priced at $7.

For those readers that have phoned asking where they can get a star to place at the top of the tree, I'd suggest that they take a look at the illuminated white stars that have been put on sale at $1.49. Original price was $2.20. Stars are surrounded by a clear plastic halo for better lighting effect.

Tiniest tree lights I've ever seen would look perfect on miniature trees used on coffee tables or sideboards. There are 20 clip-on lights in each set that sells at $2.33. Colors include red, green, purple, amber and blue.

Although, at this point, it doesn't look as if Victorians will be having a white Christmas they'll still be able to have snowballs bordering outside of their homes and splashed on their decorated shrubs and trees. This is made possible by sets of new lights that look just like snowballs at any time when they are not lighted. When lit, if you so choose, you can have snowballs in either white, green, blue, violet, red or yellow. These lights sell at 35 cents each.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"Thank goodness this is my own home—I'd hate to meet someone looking like you in a dark alley!"

Queen of Midinettes To Be Crowned Tonight

MONTREAL (CP)—Seventeen young Montreal dressmakers will be presented at a big "coming out" party that is unique in Canada.

They will appear at the "Bal des Midinettes" tonight. But they won't be presented to the lieutenant-governor. Instead they will make their curtsies to Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

One of the 17 will be chosen "Queen of the Midinettes" and crowned with a thimble. Her sceptre will be an over-sized sewing needle.

The event was organized before the Second World War by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, to give—in the words of ILGW's education director Yvette Charpentier—"poor kids who work in shops an opportunity to go to a really big ball."

Discontinued for the duration of the war, it was resumed in 1946 and has been going strong ever since.

Young Misses' Party Dresses Prettiest Yet

By NONA DAMASKE

So many times you hear a woman say "I remember my first real party dress as clearly as if it was yesterday". Make Christmas 1960 memorable by giving your young miss a party dress that she will always remember.

Damaske

Anyone who has ever been around a little girl knows that she is the most fashion-minded creature on earth. She is fascinated with new shapes, new colors and new fashions worn by her own particular group of grown-ups.

Little girls spend hours making dolls clothes, dressing dolls, cutting "paper ladies" from magazines and dressing themselves up in Mommy's clothes.

BRILLIANT COLORS

A pretty new party dress will put added sparkle into the holidays for any one of these fashion-minded real live dolls.

Colors for them are festive, from bright reds and candy stripes to yellows and golds, whites, blues, greens and pinks with gay appliques and embroideries. Delicate narrow white lace, cross-stitching and rickrack often give an extra bit of high fashion.

There are floral prints, too, white ground with mauve or turquoise flowers and green leaves.

These dresses have deep Bertha collars and cummerbunds in violet or deep turquoise.

We all know how popular the brocade fabrics are for mother's late-day dresses and now brocade has been included in the party dress collections for young girls.

A gleaming ivory cotton brocade has tiny bodice buttons and wind around string sash in carmel satin.

Many of these dresses have their own crinoline but if they do not be sure to have a look at these fluffy confections.

Pink, blue and white froths of net and lace make a [illegible] addition to any [illegible] party dress.

Ready for Santa Claus—Crisp black and white checked cotton is combined with solid black in a holiday dress designed by Shirley Temple. The collar of the bibbed bodice and full checked gingham skirt are edged in white lace.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Now Is the Time to Give Your Hands Special Care

This is the time of year when hand care is of special importance. Many women hate to wear gloves and leave them at home much of the time or just carry them along. I am not speaking from the fashion angle now, but simply about the protection which gloves provide for the hands against the weathering elements.

Lowman

We can do without gloves with less penalty during warm weather than on zippy days. Even when gloves are not necessary for comfort we need them if we hope to keep our hands as young-looking as possible.

I think most women today are careful about using a hand lotion after the hands have been in water, but some may forget that our hands, just as our faces and necks, require more lubrication during cold weather. Before going to sleep at night, it is a fine idea to massage a cream into the hands, massaging from the tip of each finger down past the wrist. Many creams and lotions almost disappear into the skin. If you wish to use a heavier cream, wear the little hand mitts while sleeping.

You may also need to massage a cuticle oil or cream into the cuticle each night. Women often have trouble with dry cuticle in winter who do not have this difficulty during warmer weather.

If you would like to have my exercise for the hands send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 12. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY

Loaded Question!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our mother, age 70, eloped with the real estate dealer who sold her lovely big home for her. He claims to be 65, but he looks much younger. No one knew she was even interested in getting married again. She had been a widow for 14 years.

Mother isn't the smartest woman in the world and we think perhaps she has become old and foolish. This man is a pretty fast talker and we think he put over a pretty sweet deal for himself. All mother's holdings were to be divided equally among her children when she goes, but we understand that has been changed. Is it possible for children to get a parent's marriage annuled?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: It's possible, but you'd better talk to a lawyer about the probabilities. Are you sure your mother is "old and foolish"—or are you children just young and selfish?

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and my mother said if I started to go steady she would tan my hide. A real cute guy by the name of Jeff asked me to go steady. I can't say "Yes," but what reason can I give him? I hate to say, "My mother won't let me." (It sounds so babyish.) Please answer soon, because he wants to know right away.

BARBARA

DEAR BARBARA: Tell him you can't go steady because your mother doesn't "approve." There's nothing babyish about respecting your parents' wishes.

DEAR ABBY: I changed doctors and now I would rather have the first one. The first one knows I went to another doctor. Could I change back without having to explain anything? I have more faith in the first one than the second one. I will not go back to the second one if I can help it.

DUMMY

DEAR DUMMY: No explanations are necessary. Ask your first doctor for an appointment.

Yuletide Party Season Begins

December rings in the pre-Christmas party season in Victoria and social calendars are rapidly filling with coffee parties, luncheons, early-evening gatherings and dinner dates.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crick will be hosts at a dinner party in their Beach Drive home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Bert McGillvray who came recently from Regina to make their home at Ten Mile Point.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gregory are entertaining friends at a cocktail party in the Union Club this evening.

Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Corbett will be dinner hosts tonight in their home on Scolton Road. They entertained last Saturday also, at dinner and bridge.

Next Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wallace have invited friends to an early-evening party at their Beach Drive home.

Yesterday evening Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Speed Olson entertained with an after-five party in their home on Beach Drive.

Col. and Mrs. A. D. Murdoch entertained a group of neighbors early-evening Friday at their home on Uplands Road.

Mrs. A. Hershell Smith was hostess Thursday morning at her Thorpe Place home at a coffee party. The 40 guests were her neighbors. Presiding at the coffee table were Mrs. C. H. Ruttan and Mrs. K. MacLaren.

Next week, Mrs. Jack Gillespie will be hostess to friends at two coffee parties, the first on Wednesday and the second next Friday.

Retirement Party

Union Club was scene of party last evening in honor of Miss Emily Warburton and Mr. John Mackintosh, who are retiring from the Victoria telephone exchange. Party was hosted by members of exchange and 150 persons attended. Miss Warburton retires at end of year as district traffic supervisor and Mr. Mackintosh retired in November as district commercial manager.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Keuhl of Nanaimo announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverley Joan, to Mr. John Leslie Ashbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ashbaugh of Vancouver. The wedding will take place in Knox United Church, Vancouver, on Dec. 23, at 8 p.m. The bride-elect, formerly of Victoria, graduated from Mount View High School and the University of British Columbia and is now teaching school in Vancouver. The groom-elect is in his final year at UBC.

Kitchen Shower

Miss Margot Tomlin, whose wedding takes place today, was honored recently at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Nigel Tomlin in her Waterloo Road home. Silver and pink-covered wheelbarrow, centred with pink heather, was heaped with many gifts. Bride-elect was presented with corsage of pale yellow rosebuds and miniature chrysanthemums, while gardenia corsages were given to her mother, Mrs. G. S. Tomlin, and mother of groom-elect, Mrs. V. Orcutt. Guests were Mrs. G. M. Duncan, Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. Edwin Tomlin, Mrs. R. Hemmingsen, Mrs. R. Travis, Mrs. M. Beck, Mrs. H. Tomlin, Mrs. W. Rowbottom, Mrs. D. Kinghorn, Mrs. B. Hemmingsen, Mrs. W. Hill, Mrs. C. Ennals, Miss C. Orcutt and the Misses Sharon MacDonald, Jean Harrison, Rosanne Barrett, Florence Alberg, Mary Anne Kinnis and Denise Hansen.

Organ Music Played At Parents' Wedding

Strains of Schubert's "Serenade," which had been played at the wedding of the bride's parents, was again played at today's wedding in St. Aidan's United Church that united Miss Margot Marie Tomlin and Robert Lavin Orcutt. Rev. A. I. Avery and Rev. T. G. Griffiths officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon St. Leger Tomlin, 3817 Synod Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Vallen Orcutt of Sidney.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk taffeta that had an insert of lace and iridescent sequins highlighting the basque bodice. Bodice had a portrait collar and lily point sleeves. Full, hooped skirt that rippled from a banded Empire waistline was enhanced with lace paillettes and sequins. Tiny pearl droplets centred the front of the dainty crown of seed pearls that held a silk illusion veil. Gardenias and stephanotis were in the bouquet. Only jewelry was a pearl pendant, gift of the groom.

Pink organza in afternoon length was worn by the only attendant, Miss Carmen Orcutt. She chose a pink seed pearl tiara, highlighted with pearl droplets to complement her gown, pink shoes and short pink gloves. White feathered chrysanthemums bordered her bouquet of pink roses.

Wayne Kinghorn was best man and ushers were Edwin Tomlin and Gary Rogers.

Arthur B. Russ proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the home of the bride's parents.

BEIGE TONES

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to the United States the new Mrs. Orcutt wore a beige mohair suit, beige box hat, beige gloves and brown suede handbag and shoes. Jewelry was a strand of pearls and pearl earrings. A corsage of pink roses was pinned on her suit.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home at 1736 Cedar Hill Cross Roads.

Several out-of-town guests attended the wedding, among them were Mrs. Neville Gibson, Ladner; Mrs. and Mrs. L. Taplin of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. George Hemmingsen of Chemainus, Mrs. Charles Ennals, Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Willoughby of West Vancouver.

Clubwomen's News

New Officers—Mrs. W. B. Leach was elected captain at annual meeting of the ladies of the Victoria Golf Club held in the clubhouse recently. Also elected were Mrs. C. Chapman, vice-captain, and Mrs. R. A. Fortye, secretary treasurer. Members of the committee are Mrs. C. Hart, Mrs. H. H. Ellis, Mrs. J. D. Munro and Dr. A. Hassel-Gren. Retiring captain Mrs. S. A. Haynes reported on activities of past year.

Grand Tour—Meetings of Xi Beta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, held last month in the homes of Mrs. Jean Donaldson and Mrs. Barbara Brown, with Mrs. Marjorie Aldersmith presiding, featured a cultural theme, "The Grand Tour." Leaders were Mrs. Esther Speller and Mrs. June Braley. Mrs. Speller spoke on "The Face of the Earth" and Miss Louise Michaux and Miss Catherine Cameron on "Explorations of the North and South Poles." Conditions in Antartica were discussed by Miss Isabel Jewell and Mrs. Miriam Armstrong. Final arrangements were made for a carol supper for inmates of Rose Manor and for a Christmas party on Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Winnie Wardman. A combined birthday and Christmas gift was sent to the chapter's adopted ward in Dr. Barnardo's home in England.

Songs, Music Come Easily To Student

By SUSAN BUTT

Miss Ann Burridge

There's "music in the air" around 21-year-old Ann Burridge.

A glance at her record collection, ranging through opera, symphony and ballet to popular happy-time songs, suggests a person of many interests. Sampling of her large repertoire of musical ability indicates a girl with a lot of talent.

This sprightly redhead is as much at home playing Mendelssohn's "Song Without Words" on the piano as strumming an accompaniment to "Ain't She Sweet" on her ukulele. She has played the violin too but right now her "pet" is a colorful little concertina.

Besides all this, Miss Burridge possesses a lovely soprano voice and has often been soloist with the First United Church and Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Choirs. She has sung at weddings and participated in two Greater Victoria Music Festivals.

TV APPEARANCE

Highlight of her singing career, so far, was appearance on John Dunbar's television show in 1959. "I was a little nervous at the start of the program," says Ann, "but Jock went around behind the cameras and made funny faces at me. I just had to laugh."

A third-year nursing student at Royal Jubilee Hospital, Miss Burridge is at home this week nursing her own strep throat. "They don't want me and my bugs around the operating room, so they sent me home," she jokes.

Ann is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. L. Burridge, 2411 Queenswood Drive. Her future plans include a year nursing in the psychiatric ward of Vancouver General Hospital, followed by an European jaunt in the summer of '62 . . . "to hit all the festivals and have a whale of a time."

Skiing is one activity drawing Ann to Vancouver next year. She fell in love with the sport on recent trips to Sun Valley and Jasper. Other hobbies are horseback riding and badminton. In past years she has enjoyed figure skating. She also has a secret yen for languages which she hopes to follow up some day.

When Ann gets her singing practice in with all these activities, no one knows.

LOTS TO DO

"I used to consider singing for a career," she says, "but I couldn't be stuck in a house all day, practicing six or eight hours. There are so many wonderful things to do."

One gets the feeling Ann is just as happy singing for a group of friends as for a large festival audience.

"Sometimes in a group, I'll get up and sing, and soon everyone is singing—then, you just have a ball," she says cheerfully.

Ann can be serious, too, and some day in the future would like to sing Lieder. "You have to know your music and your German for these," she says. "They are art songs. You must feel them.

"Technical ability is secondary to feeling and emotional appeal in music."

Mrs. Roberto Wood, Miss Burridge's singing teacher, is well aware of her pupil's sportive nature. When asked, she said: "Potentially she has a very fine voice and considering how little she works she accomplishes marvellously. People always love her singing because through it she reveals a wonderful personality."

How well this supports Ann's closing remark: "Singing is a hobby with me. If I was really serious about it, I'd have to go all out—and then—look at all the parties I'd miss."

Proceeds Augment Prize Fund

St. Christopher's School parents' coffee party netted $60 which will go towards a prize fund for the school. Party was held at home of Mrs. G. P. M. Payne, 3175 Tarn Place, and Mrs. F. Caird, headmistress of school, received the guests. Cakes with school crests iced on top, were sold. More than 70 attended the party which will be made an annual event.

This Afternoon's Bride Chooses White Velvet Gown for Ceremony

A white velvet gown, cut on classic lines and afternoon-length, was worn by Miss Helen Diane Hull for her marriage to Kenneth Bernard Felker in Gordon United Church, Langford, this afternoon. Sequins trimmed the tiara-styled headdress that held a shoulder-length veil. She carried a sheaf bouquet of long-stemmed American Beauty roses.

White chrysanthemums decorated the church for the ceremony at which Rev. Gordon Dangerfield officiated. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey R. Hull of Langford and Harry A. Felker, Williams Lake, and the late Mrs. Felker.

Mr. Hull gave his daughter in marriage.

RED VELVET

Red velvet sheath gowns and matching bandeaux were worn by maid of honor Miss Lucille Hull, sister of the bride, and bridesmatron Mrs. Tom Forbes.

White flocked nylon with red velvet cummerbund and bandeau was worn by the junior bridesmaid, Miss Elsie Hull, another sister of the bride. All carried colonial bouquets of white flowers.

Chris Pollard was best man and ushering guests was Tom Forbes.

Red roses and white candles flanked a three-tier wedding cake that centred the head table at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. A cutwork, hand-embroidered cloth, made by the bride's grandmother, covered the table.

R. B. Marsh proposed the toast to the bride's happiness. Guests attending from Williams Lake included Norman Felker and Wilf Wright.

A three-piece ensemble in amethyst and black boucle was chosen by the new Mrs. Felker for travelling on honeymoon by motor to the United States. Hat and gloves were in vintage tones, while purse and shoes were black. Corsage was a white gardenia.

Newlyweds will make their new home in Victoria.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

They tell the story about a wicked bridge player who was condemned to play throughout eternity with nothing but nine and ten-card heart suits and a partner who would insist on spades.

SOUTH

♦J94
♣AQ

Both vulnerable

West	North	East	South
1♦	1♥	Pass	1♠
Pass	2♥	Pass	2♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♥10

Of course, after a few eons he might learn to give up and let his partner play the hand at a reasonable contract, but I doubt it. Most bridge players feel that a seven-card suit should be bid indefinitely, so that there is no stopping them when they hold a nine-carder.

Today's hand looks as if it is stacked for East and West. With 18 points between them they can make three no-trump, but needless to say they drop out of the bidding after West's opening diamond bid.

From then on it is a question of just how far North and South will go in bidding their seven-card suits against one another and if they get beyond the two-level whether or not East and West will go into the doubling business.

When the hand was actually played in the Desert Empire Regionals those North-South pairs who stopped at the three-level and went down one undoubled came close to top, but one pair actually managed to stop at two spades and wound up with a plus score.

It wasn't any great skill. South had his ace of clubs stuck in back of the queen and North just didn't feel like bidding.

LOOK NO FURTHER

If you've looked at the rest, come in and look at the best at 938 Fort St. For instance, we have the pride of Scandinhoovia—the Volvo—which in our opinion (shared by thousands of owners) is one of the world's truly fine cars. Swedish engineers and craftsmen have combined to produce a car that is unique in its field, combining sports car performance with family sedan room and comfort. No other car offers so much for so little. And, hold your breath; prices start at $2,095 delivered in Victoria. That's why we ask you to come in and let us show you this distinguished car.

GOING INTO THE COIN-OPERATED LAUNDRY STORE BUSINESS?

You're Wise—But Be Sure of the Distributor's Complete Program Before You Buy!

ASK THESE QUESTIONS:

Does the distributor have balanced laundry store equipment, or is he selling you untried, makeshift, hometype equipment? Does he inventory spare parts. Can he plan your store based on his own experience? What has been the success of stores he has sold? How many? Does he provide store opening and continuing promotion materials, and advertising?

ALD is the national organization that has planned and helped build over 10,000 Licensed Westinghouse Laundromat (R) stores throughout the United States and Canada. You owe it to yourself to compare our complete program ... compare the Westinghouse commercial Laundromat with the exclusive Wash 'n Wear cycle, cleaner and gentler wash and trouble-free operation. POST AND BEAM
CONTEMPORARY

Here is a truly beautiful contemporary post-and-beam constructed home. Let us look at some of the features: 1,500 sq. ft. of masonry and beautiful wood beams and panelling. The cathedral entrance brings you into a spacious living room with a solid floor-to-ceiling Swedish brick fireplace with floating hearth on the entire right wall, glass and aluminum sliding doors to patio—on the south wall and the rest of the decor features attractive wood panelling. The south wall has cantilevered valance board with concealed daylight fixtures addressing the curtains below and projecting upwards to the ceiling. An abstract design panel conceals a hallway leading to 3 good-size bedrooms, all panelled and featuring large step-in clothes closets. Master bedroom has vanity toilet and the master bathroom's 4-pc decor is attractively appointed in wood panelling and Arborite with vanity. Dinette with large windows to south has plenty of built-in cupboards and is adjacent to an attractive lunch counter. The neighboring kitchen is something unusual and a wife's dream. One wall is solid brick, matching the living room fireplace, contains built-in Tappan oven and space for the largest model of refrigerators. One counter contains the built-in Tappan counter-top with hood and fan above. Counter tops are finished in attractive Arborite to match the decor and the wood panelling and cabinets with glass sliding doors give the decor an even balance. From the kitchen you look through the windows to the utility area wired for washer and dryer with access to the basement and driveway. The house has a majestic double carport, giving the design a rustic appearance. The lot is 87x96, situated on the corner of an attractive crescent surrounded by large estates. Fully landscaped with lawns, shrubs and large mature trees. Should be seen.

U.S. Asks For Rocket Fragments

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States Friday asked Cuba to return any available fragments of the satellite rocket which fell on the eastern part of the island two days ago after being launched from Cape Canaveral.

The request was made by the state department through Daniel M. Braddock, acting U.S. ambassador in Havana. Braddock also was told to explain to the Cuban foreign ministry how the incident occurred.

LEARN CAUSES

Department press officer Joseph W. Reap said the United States wanted the fragments "in order that they may be identified and analyzed in an effort to learn the causes of malfunction." He said the rocket involved "has a record of proven reliability."

The Thor-Able-Star rocket, which had been designed to orbit two satellites, developed a malfunction shortly after the launch and was blown up by a safety officer at Cape Canaveral.

STILL OFF COAST

The state department said the decision was made to destroy the rocket when it was still off the coast of Florida and when there was "the greatest possibility of minimizing adverse consequences."

The department said the fact that most of the vehicle fell into the open sea was proof the action was taken at the right time. It added that "unfortunately, according to reports, some fragments of the vehicle fell on Cuban territory."

Newspaper Monopolies Rapped

LONDON (Reuters)—Labor members Friday called for a committee to investigate the British press as a result of what was termed a "monopolistic trend" which has seen 42 newspapers shut down or closed since 1957.

One member also said the newspaper situation should be referred to the monopolies commission.

Kenneth Robinson told the Commons three newspaper groups now control 75 per cent of the national daily newspaper circulation and two groups now control virtually all the periodicals.

Robinson also termed the entry of Canadian publisher Roy Thomson into the British newspaper field "alarming" and said he already controlled 82 newspapers in Britain and elsewhere and was reported to want to control 100.

LOCAL BRIEFS

The regular meeting of the L.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society in the Music Room of the Public Library next Thursday will feature a report by Arthur Gillman, the society's representative on the new committee of the Greater Victoria Welfare Council for Indian Affairs.

The meeting will be followed by an informal gathering at King Arthur's Round Table Restaurant next door.

A special candlelight service will be held in the YMCA, 7.30 p.m. Sunday, when 65 new members of the Hi-Y organization will be inducted by Clayton Cameron, the Y's youth secretary.

The Hi-Y, which stands for High School YMCA, is an international high school student movement. It has as its platform: "Clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship and clean living."

The induction service will be followed by a film show and refreshments.

A recent election in Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce has resulted in two appointments by acclamation.

Bud Simpson has taken over the post of secretary from Trevor Barlow, who has been elected to fill the position of exhibition director.

Bob Montgomery, the former director, was forced to resign because he is leaving the district.

Tires Stolen

Tires valued at $180 were stolen by a thief who broke into Joe's Tire Hospital at Duncan overnight Friday.

RCMP said the building was entered by smashing a window and nothing else in the premises was disturbed.

Loan for Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters)—The United States development loan fund has approved a loan of $40,000,000 to the nationalist government to build a 782-foot-high dam on the Tachia River in central Formosa.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Court Quashes LRB Decision

(Compiled From CP)

VANCOUVER—The province-wide certification of the Painters' Union for employees of 17 companies has been quashed by the Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan said the Labor Relations Board had exceeded its jurisdiction in granting the certifications.

He said the certificates gave an exclusive jurisdiction to the union so far in excess of the territorial limitations he said was the intention of the act.

The certifications were granted earlier this year to Local 138 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America to represent 126 employees of the 17 firms, all of them from the Lower Mainland, on projects in most of B.C.

The judge said each certificate purported to confer on the Vancouver-based local of an international union all bargaining rights for employees on present operations and those who might be employed in the future.

The employers complained that the exclusive certifications were oppressive and beyond the power of the Labor Relations Board to grant.

WANTED TO KILL

VANCOUVER—Police laid a charge of robbery against a 14-year-old runaway boy who said he wanted to be a gangster and kill "about 18 people." The boy was charged after an alleged attack on a young woman who lost her purse and was thrown to the ground.

BOY KNIFED

PORT COQUITLAM—A 16-year-old schoolboy, involved in a knife duel with another youth, was ordered to post a $500 bond to keep the peace for one year when he appeared in court here Friday.

Magistrate J. J. Lye ordered Arthur Hale to post the bond. Hale was charged with assault causing bodily harm to classmate Donald Urquhart.

The Uruquhart youth suffered a punctured lung in the duel.

TALLEST XMAS TREE

NEW WESTMINSTER—A 127-foot-high Douglas fir, billed as the tallest Christmas tree in the world, will be strung with lights in Moody Park here next week. Linemen will string the big fir tree with 425 lamps.

REMOVE CROSSINGS

TRAIL—Members of Parliament for the East Kootenays have been asked by Mine, Mill Union members in the Kootenays to recommend to the government that immediate steps be taken to remove all level railway crossings from Canadian highways. The recommendation comes after the recent level crossing disaster at Lamont, Alta.

YOUTH SENTENCED

VANCOUVER—A 16-year-old youth who admitted stealing 45 cars during several months was sentenced to a year definite and 18 months indefinite in police court here Friday. Gilbert Gillett, pleaded guilty specifically to two counts of car theft.

Prosecutor Roland Bouwman told court the boy gave police details on 43 other cars which were taken for joy-riding.

INJUNCTION GRANTED

VANCOUVER—Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan granted the Canadian Ironworkers Union, Local No. 1, an injunction here Friday against the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers, Local 97.

The injunction, granted in Supreme Court, restrains the international union from "coercing" members of Local 1 to withdraw from the Canadian local.

Windsor Store Blast Blamed on Negligence

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A coroner's jury Friday ruled gross negligence led to the death of 10 and the injury of more than 80 in the explosion of a Metropolitan department store.

The jury returned its verdict after 7½ hours of deliberations, ending a four-day hearing. More than 150 witnesses testified. Ruled grossly negligent were Jessop Plumbing Limited of Windsor and Union Gas Company of Canada Limited.

The jury found the explosion, which ripped through the busy store Oct. 25, was caused during installation of a natural gas furnace. It listed eight contributing factors to the explosion and 12 recommendations to prevent the recurrence of such explosions.

Manager Russel Perkins of the Union Gas Windsor office commented:

"We feel we are not negligent. We did not violate any of the codes."

'SUPERVISION LACKING'

The jury said there was definite lack of supervision, co-ordination and communication among those concerned with the installation.

In a major recommendation the jury said energizing new heating units in buildings where the public is likely to be present should be done after hours or when the building is empty.

Other recommendations called for an inspector with authority to be present when gas units are energized and urged that all jacket heaters "such as was used in the Metropolitan store be eliminated from public buildings as they are antiquated and dangerous."

MONEY WASTED ON MISSILES

LONDON (AP)—The treasury admitted Friday millions of pounds of taxpayers' money were wasted in the development of British guided missiles, which cost many times their original estimates.

"Very special attention" must be paid to financial control in the future, a treasury white paper added, in reply to criticisms by the parliamentary committee of public accounts.

The committee cited three examples of soaring missile costs and called for improvement in "seriously inadequate" financial controls. Of these three missiles — not identified specifically—one estimated at £1,500,000 actually cost £40,000,000.

Russians Pressure UN To Protect Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Former Premier Patrice Lumumba, facing trial for inciting rebellion in the army and other crimes, was moved out of Leopoldville and put under the guard of army chief Joseph Mobutu's most trusted commando troops.

Lumumba was driven to Thysville, 100 miles west of the capital, during the night under a strong escort of soldiers with heavy jeep-mounted machine-guns.

He was flown here Friday after being captured at Port Francqui, in remote Kasai province. His capture interrupted a flight by car to Stanleyville where he apparently intended to make a new bid for power.

Taken to Thysville with him were his three male travelling companions also arrested at Port Francqui.

Mobutu told reporters Lumumba would be tried "in due course" for inciting rebellion in the army and other "common law crimes."

The Soviet delegation at the United Nations in New York demanded Friday night that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold make an immediate report on steps being taken by the UN command to ensure the safety of Lumumba.

The Russians said in a statement the arrest of Lumumba, who accepted Soviet military aid outside UN channels when he was premier, was an "arbitrary and illegal act against the lawful Congolese government committed by an illegal, dictatorial regime."

Hammarskjold sent two messages to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu asking him to see that Lumumba gets a fair trial. One message was sent after a committee from Afro-Asian nations had expressed concern for Lumumba's safety.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Central Saanich police court Thursday:

Lawrence J. Eckert, 189 Helmcken, $25 for careless driving and $15 for driving without insurance.

G. B. James, Vancouver, $15 for speeding over 40.

Thomas M. Dignan, Brentwood, $35 for careless driving.

In Colwood RCMP court Friday:

Stanley B. Adamson, 619 Raynor, $40 and $3 costs for speeding over 40.

David Harold Walker, 225 Wilson, $15 and $3 costs for driving with over-width load and $10 and $3 costs for driving without a muffler.

One Man Held As Prowlings Cause Alarm

One man appeared in Esquimalt police court today after two prowlings were reported in Greater Victoria Friday night.

Donald Wilfred Ward, West Saanich Road, was charged with loitering or prowling at the home of Britton Bradstock, 848 Esquimalt. He was remanded to Monday for plea.

The other case reported to city police at 1.08 a.m. by A. D. Hitch, occupant of a room at Crystal Court Motel, 683 Belleville, who said when he went into a bathroom he found a large man standing in the bathtub.

Before he could switch the light on, Hitch said, the man climbed out a window.

Brentwood Ferry Schedule Change Starts Dec. 12

Starting Dec. 12, the Mill Bay-Brentwood ferry will leave Brentwood at 7.30 a.m., then hourly on the half-hour through 6.30 p.m.

It will leave Mill Bay at 8 a.m., then hourly on the hour through 7 p.m.

Extra round trips on Sundays and holidays will be made from Brentwood at 7.30 and 8.30 p.m., and Mill Bay at 8 and 9 p.m.

SAFE DRIVING WEEK

Two Crashes Upset Sidney's Good Mark

A near-clear traffic record for Safe Driving Week, recorded in Sidney area in recent years, was upset by two highway crashes Friday night—the second day of the annual campaign.

Oak Bay driver Grace McKenzie Farr, 2771 Burdick, came out almost unscratched—just a bruised leg—when the car she was driving left Patricia Bay Highway at McTavish, rolled over, landed on its wheels and crashed into a stump just after midnight.

Sidney RCMP said damage to the car was heavy.

An hour earlier, at Patricia Bay and Mills Cross Road, an estimated $400 damage was caused when cars driven by a 17-year-old North Saanich boy and 17-year-old Victoria boy collided.

There were no injuries and neither car left the highway.

The crash happened when one auto tried to overtake the other as the second was about to turn left.

Airline Tours Will Embrace World Shrines

Scandinavian Airlines System and Transmarine Tours have scheduled three national pilgrimage tours, each of 17 days duration.

The groups, which will travel under the auspices of the Guild of Catholic Travel, will visit eight countries. Among the cities to be visited are: Dublin, London, Paris, Lourdes, Lisbon, Madrid, Rome and Copenhagen. The itineraries include visits to Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin; Westminster Catholic Cathedral, London; Notre Dame, Paris and the Miraculous Grotto and Basilica, Lourdes.

Also, the Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima, Portgual, and the Vatican, Rome, where an audience with Pope John XXIII will be petitioned.

Inclusive cost from Montreal and Los Angeles are $776 and $972 respectively. Departures are set for Jan. 15, Feb. 12 and March 12.

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Common Sense

SIDNEY REVIEW.—Everything comes to him who waits. For years and years residents of this district have waited for the day when the Dominion government will implement its promise and lengthen the main runway at Patricia Bay Airport. Hot rumors from the federal capital today hint broadly that the government will move soon to lengthen the runway. The reasons will be twofold:

(a) because many jet flights are leaving Winnipeg and Toronto on regular schedule and are unable to land at Vancouver Airport because of heavy fog. These planes are obliged now to turn around and fly back over the Rockies to find a suitable emergency field; and

(b) because a lot of money is to be spent in the next year to relieve unemployment and the government is reluctant to face the electorate in this area again until the previous promise has been implemented.

When Hon. Geo. Hees, former minister of transport, visited Patricia Bay Airport a few months ago he was positive that the runway would not be lengthened. It was suggested to him that he was putting the cart before the horse to contemplate erection of a $1½ million airport administration building to serve a second-rate aerodrome. Mr. Hees looked with scorn on this suggestion.

Today the shoe may be on the other foot, say Ottawa reports. The transport department has a brand new minister. His idea of positioning the cart and the horse are reputed to be sharply different to that of his predecessor. So don't be surprised if an early announcement is made.

July 1 Fete

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS — The amount of enthusiasm shown by local organizations for the plans for the observation of July 1 next year is most gratifying and we hope it can be maintained until such time—and beyond—as the committee starts to make concrete plans for the celebration.

The Kinsmen, in trying to organize sports and activities for that day, have painted a bold and colorful picture of what could be done with enough organizational support and work. If only half the proposed plans are workable July 1 should be a memorable holiday and one well worth spending in the city.

A Fireman Dies

COWICHAN LEADER—The death of Alan Campbell last week in the service of this community as a volunteer fireman, and injury to a second fireman, Robert Lewis, ennoble the tradition of unselfish devotion to duty of the thousands of members of these groups across Canada.

It all happened so swiftly that the department has been stunned by the first death of a fireman in its 48 years of service since Duncan was incorporated. Volunteer firemen are drawn from many sources. The young man who died, junior accountant with "the Montreal," hurried from his evening meal at the Greenhaven Cafe as soon as the siren sounded. He expected to return to the table later. Lewis, insurance salesman with H. W. Dickie Ltd., was also in the area.

What occurred in Duncan last Wednesday evening bore the common tag tragedy, but with this difference, that the man who died and the man who was injured were working for their adopted community with happy hearts imbued by ideals of service, freely offered in the cause of community protection and betterment. Alan Campbell's sacrifice and Robert Lewis' injuries will not be forgotten.

CHELSEA CRUSHES ALBION 7-1

Greaves Nets Five Goals

LONDON (CP)—Jimmy Greaves, the England national team's inside forward, scored five goals as Chelsea crushed West Bromwich Albion 7-1 in a rain-soaked English League scorrer game here today.

The 20-year-old star, who already has scored more than 100 goals in his brilliant career, kicked home four goals by halftime, when Chelsea led 5-0, and added another in the second half.

It is the third time Greaves has performed the five-goal feat in a league game.

PLAY 4-4 TIE

First Division leader Tottenham Hotspur and reigning champion Burnley battled to a 4-4 draw on the other side of London.

The red-hot Spurs, beaten only once this season, appeared set for another decisive triumph when an anspired first-half burst brought them three goals in three minutes.

They pushed the lead to 4-0 but Burnley, which had a tough European Cup clash against Rheims in the Paris mud three days ago, fought back to make it 4-1 at the half.

NORMAN OPENS SCORING

Centre-half Maurice Norman started the Spurs' first-half spree with a goal in the 17th minute. Welsh winger Cliff Jones followed up with scores in the 19th and 20th minutes and Scottish wing-half Dave MacKay made it 4-0 after 26 minutes. Winger John Connelly netted Burnley's first a minute later.

Second-half goals by Jimmy Robson and Ray Pointer put Burnley back in the game. Then Connelly tied it 14 minutes from the finish.

The Spurs had their lead at the top of the standings cut from nine to eight points.

In another exciting clash, Everton beat Sheffield Wednesday 4-2 to jump past Wednesday into second place. Sheffield took a 2-1 halftime lead but Everton hit back with a penalty by Roy Vernon, a goal by Peter Johnson, and a fine solo score by Jimmy Harris.

Wolverhampton here in the 5-3 trimming of visiting Arsenal was centre-forward Ted Farmer, playing his 11th game of the season. Farmer crashed in three goals, one in the first half and two in the last 10 minutes to crush a gallant Arsenal team, still without new star George Eastham who will make his debut for the first team next week.

Streaks Snapped

NEW YORK (AP) — St. Louis Hawks defeated New York Knicks, 139-133, in an overtime national basketball association game before 9,298 fans Friday night, breaking their own two-game losing streak and ending the Knick's win streak at four.

At Boston, Los Angeles rookie Jerry West fired two baskets in the final 30 seconds to rally the Lakers for a 120-117 victory.

Remains of dwellings dating from about 100 BC have been found near ancient Pyrasos in Thessaly, Greece.

AUDIENCE OF 14 FOR 12 SPEAKERS

Saanich Civic Hopefuls Run Gamut of Subjects

A woman candidate Friday took a verbal swing at critics of Saanich zoning, planning and administrative policies.

Mrs. Mira Yarwood, a housewife and experienced business woman, seeking election to a council seat next week, told a public meeting she preferred a "firm and fair council" over one which followed a weak-kneed policy of expediency.

She was heard by about 14 ratepayers who turned up at an open election forum in St. Mark's Hall which was addressed by 12 candidates.

FORESIGHT NEEDED

"Your present council has served you well," she said. "I'm opposed to council representatives who follow a policy of 'let's try and keep everybody happy today' with no thought of tomorrow."

She said only careful and orderly planning will curb the rising tax rate.

"Services are poor in Saanich because of the cost of servicing sprawling subdivisions. The municipality shouldn't have been allowed to develop this way," she said.

She said present policies of Saanich were designed to encourage and promote compact and orderly development.

WOULD CUT COSTS

"This is necessary if services are to improve," she said. "It is less costly to service a compact development than a sprawling one."

Lionel Speller, an employee of the Department of Veterans Affairs, attacked the new apartment bylaw, sign bylaw and planning restrictions.

He claimed the restrictions are stopping industries from coming to Saanich.

"Signs bring in revenue," he said. "They help to keep taxes down."

ZONING ATTACKED

Robert Fleming said he is not totally against the sign bylaw, but found it too restrictive, especially with regard to oil companies.

He also said zoning and planning regulations are hampering the establishment of industries in Saanich, but felt this problem could be solved with the co-operation of councillors and civic officials.

But Robert W. Chard, lawyer, felt that some candidates are putting to much emphasis on bringing industries to Saanich.

"Let's be realistic," he said. "Industries are not establishing themselves in this area because of the cost of production and transportation. Some are even moving out because of these factors."

STRIKING EXAMPLE

He cited as an example Sidney Roofing which has moved to the mainland.

The future of Saanich lies in orderly planning, he said.

Frank G. Beamish, salesman, spoke highly of Saanich's new sign bylaw.

"I've traveled through the United States where you see mile after mile of signs," he said. "There are so many that each blots out the other."

He praised council for not allowing sign companies to draft its sign bylaw.

George Stanley Eden, businessman, said if elected he would strive to hold the mill rate at its present level.

"I also believe in practical planning with some regard to the future," he said. "But I don't go for this planning 50 years ahead. I won't be here and so won't you."

'MODERATE' PLANNER

Harold Todd, incumbent councillor seeking re-election, said he is a "middle of the road man" with regard to planning.

Albert E. Hull, a commissioner for Veterans' Land Act, blamed poor services in Saanich on "sprawl" development.

On school costs, he said, the government should give municipalities a broader field of taxation for school costs.

Beatrice Mundell, housewife, said if elected she would do all in her power for the construction of more sidewalks and improved street lighting.

Cunningham S. McMillan, retired, refuted some of his opponents' claim that more could be done to induce industries to come to Saanich.

"You might as well face the fact that Victoria is no longer the centre of Vancouver Island," he said. "Nanaimo is now the hub of the Island. Industries are going there because of transportation and production costs."

CANDIDATE CRITICIZES NEPOTISM BY TRUSTEES

A charge that close relatives or spouses of teachers are slowly infiltrating into school boards, was made by Richard B. Hilton, one of three Saanich candidates contesting a seat on School District 61.

He claimed this was one of the reasons why teachers were so successful in their wage negotiations with school boards.

George Curran said that while wages are still the biggest factor in school board's budget, they have decreased proportionately in relation to the whole of school costs since 1954.

David Nightingale said that he was strongly opposed to the method of raising taxes for schools.

SHOT 3 COW ELK

Hunters Fined $500, Given Verbal Lash

NANAIMO—Vancouver hunters Gunter Eschment, 31, and Horst Mueller, 41, were fined $500 each in police court here Friday when they pleaded guilty to killing three cow elk Sunday near Nanaimo Lakes.

In passing sentence, Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts called the incident "killing for killing's sake" and "disgraceful, indiscriminate shooting," then ordered the men's hunting licences cancelled and their guns confiscated.

Other hunters, members of the Nanaimo Fish and Game Association, witnessed the shooting in a logging company slash, and reported it to the company gate. Police and game branch officials also were notified, and an investigation was launched.

The magistrate said he would recommend that neither man ever be given a B.C. hunting licence again.

Farmers Hit Raising Lake To Aid Park

NANAIMO — Farmers at Brannan Lake near here are opposing a proposal to raise the level of the lake in order to provide a greater flow of water in Millstone River.

Nanaimo Civic Properties Commission wants the stream improved since its course is through city-owned Bowen Park, an area of considerable natural beauty. Last summer, however, the stream was almost non-existent.

The 20 farmers, who want to arrange a meeting with the commission and B.C. water rights comptroller, complain that raising the level of the lake by even two feet would inundate many acres of farm land.

Impaired Driver Ran Police Car Right Off Road

LAKE COWICHAN — A Lake Cowichan logger found out in court here Friday it doesn't pay to run a police car off the road.

John P. Carnduff, who was arrested Thursday night shortly after the car he was driving on the wrong side of the road without lights forced a police car into a ditch, was fined $200 for impaired driving. His driver's licence was also suspended for one month.

Skindivers Probe For Missing Man

PORT ALBERNI—A search by skindivers continued in the harbor here today for John Williams, 34, missing piledriver worker believed to have fallen from a wharf.

He was reported missing Thursday morning after he had failed to return to his home Wednesday night.

Lumber Shipping By Island Ports Down Last Month

CHEMAINUS — Waterborne shipments of lumber from the ports of Chemainus and Crofton were down in November from the October total but still a healthy 12,081,866 board feet. Total in October was 13,884,250.

'BRUTAL' BODYCHECKS PROTESTED BY SOVIETS

MOSCOW (CP)—A fast, young Soviet hockey team handed Chatham Maroons a 4-3 defeat today in a game played at Voskresensk, a town near Moscow.

The Canadian team handed out heavy bodychecks in the second period after they fell behind and the Soviet news agency Tass reported that the Canadians played "cruelly and sometimes even brutally."

Manager's Liquor Expenses Hit as Arena Probe Opens

Board Under Heavy Grilling

By JOHN MIKA

Charges that arena manager Joe Dukowski spent about $50 a month of arena money on liquor over a period of years—while the commission did nothing about it—were revealed today at an open meeting between city council and the arena commission.

About 30 people, including arena manager Dukowski, office manager Kenneth Noakes, and some other former arena employees attended the session in City Hall.

After almost two hours of preliminary hassles in a charged atmosphere, E. E. Pearlman, lawyer for Mr. Noakes, said:

"The commission is now trying to hide this by saying they knew nothing about it, and blame someone else.

"But I point out that vouchers for this have been available there a number of years, and the commission did nothing about it."

His statement came after Commissioner William Pinfold said a transcript of a commission hearing last month showed that Mr. Noakes knew about the liquor purchases, but never brought it to the commission's attention.

Mr. Noakes retorted that he did not dare go to the commission because he would lose his job.

"As far as I was concerned," said Mr. Pinfold, "I did not know of any authorization for expenditure of funds on liquor, except once, last fall, when there was a party for the hockey club representatives and the press."

Commissioner Saw No Liquor Cheques

Mr. Pinfold said during discussion at the commission hearing when the six former employees filed affidavits, that Mr. Pearlman was asked how much money was spent on liquor in a given year.

"When we tried to pin him down as to how much was spent in a year, the biggest figure he came up with was $300," said Mr. Pinfold.

Mr. Pearlman jumped up and snapped, "That is not correct. I stuck by my statement of $50 a month, and I suggested you look up your vouchers. Have you?"

Mr. Pinfold said he had never seen any cheques for liquor in the arena commission's monthly statement of accounts.

He said Mr. Noakes made out the vouchers, and "if there is anything covered up, shouldn't it be here in these vouchers?"

Mr. Noakes interjected that there was another sub-statement on cash pay-outs in the monthly reports. Mr. Pinfold replied: "but you knew that it was being spent for liquor, and you never brought it to the commission."

Mr. Noakes began replying "I never was in a position . . ."

"Just a moment," interrupted Mr. Pinfold.

"Let him finish his answer," burst out Mr. Pearlman.

"I wasn't in a position to bring it to your attention," continued Mr. Noakes, "while I was employed because I would have lost my job."

This brought a chorus of "No's" from some of the commissioners.

The liquor charges as outlined in Mr. Noakes' affidavit were revealed to the meeting after Mr. Pinfold began a synopsis of his interpretation of the controversy. He said Mr. Dukowski hired Mr. Noakes 11 years ago, and they had been very close friends, in a sense, "drinking together,

'DON'T NATIONALIZE UNLESS YOU HAVE TO'

MONTREAL (CP)—Prof. J. C. Welden of McGill University said today the New Party should not regard nationalization as a doctrine.

"Do not commit yourself to nationalization as a method," the Montreal economist said during a panel discussion attended by members of groups that will form the party.

Nationalization should be resorted to when part of the economy was not functioning properly or was not pulling its weight.

Trains Running As Bill Passed

Saves Nation From Chaos Says Dief; Opposition Attacks Gov't Methods

OTTAWA (CP)—By Parliament's edict, the trains are running today across Canada.

At the 11th hour Friday night, Parliament outlawed a country-wide walkout threatened for early today by 111,000-operating railwaymen.

In the face of fierce criticism from the opposition, Prime Minister Diefenbaker called on Parliament to pass an emergency law to postpone any strike action until after May 15.

It went into effect just half a day before the national strike was to start in Newfoundland and work its way westward by time zone.

The emergency law, Mr. Diefenbaker said, saves the nation from the chaos and catastrophe of a transcontinental tie-up of the major railways.

But opposition critics contend it also destroys the right of railwaymen to strike for better wages, discredits the conciliation process and merely shunts the rail crisis ahead to May 15.

TIME, TACTICS FOUGHT

The government had to fight fast-ebbing time and the delaying tactics of the opposition to get its special law through the Commons and Senate in time to prevent the walkout, set for 8 a.m. local time today.

The stop-the-strike bill was proclaimed law at 6.30 p.m. EST after a three-day emergency debate.

It postpones any strike action by "non-op" rail workers until after May 15, by which time the government hopes a more favorable atmosphere will exist for settling Canada's biggest labor scrap.

Faced with the ban, chief union spokesman Frank H. Hall suspended the strike order and told the members of the 15-union "non-op" group to remain on their jobs.

"We would have beaten the railways in a strike if the government hadn't come to their aid," he told reporters.

There was no immediate comment from the two major railways, the privately-owned CPR and the publicly-owned CNR.

MEETING SET

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons he will summon the disputants to regular meetings to try to resolve the dispute over a 14-cent hourly pay increase proposed by a federal conciliation board — accepted by the unions but rejected by the railways.

Mr. Hall said he would go to such meetings, but added

New Call For Summit

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government today called for another UN "summit meeting" next spring to take up the problems of world disarmament.

Western observers saw the call as a move by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to pave the way for another visit to the United States and a possible meeting with President Eisenhower's successor in the White House, John K. Kennedy.

The call for the summit meeting came in a point communique issued by the Soviet government and Premier Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, who just completed a visit to Moscow.

The communique said:

"The Soviet Union and Cambodia regard as advisable the convocation in the spring of 1961 of a special session of the UN general assembly with participation of heads of state or governments to examine the problems of disarmament."

Khrushchev headed the Soviet delegation to the general assembly during the opening days of its current regular session. But any hopes for a summit meeting then were dashed when French President Charles de Gaulle stayed home and President Eisenhower attended the assembly only briefly.

2-Prong Rebel Drive On Laotian Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—The Communist Pathet Lao radio said today that Red guerrilla forces had "surrounded" the Laotian royal capital of Luang Prabang. There were reports the Communists were advancing on the city to drive out rightwing troops.

The Communist broadcast said the Red guerrillas were making a two-pronged thrust at Luang Prabang, seized recently by rightwing forces led by pro-Western revolutionary leader Brig.-Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

Nosavan's revolutionary committee is one of three factions involved in the struggle for control in this southeast Asian kingdom. It has been involved in negotiations toward a new coalition regime with Premier Souvanna Phouma's neutralist government at Vientiane and the Pathet Lao Communist forces.

'Copter Lost on Island With 3 Men Aboard

A giant RCAF Piasecki helicopter from Sea Island started a search on Vancouver Island this afternoon for a smaller helicopter, with three men aboard, missing since 1 p.m. Friday.

The missing machine, owned by Northern Helicopers Ltd. of North Vancouver, and flown by a New Westminster pilot, RCAF-trained Roy Webster, 36, was on its way from a mining camp on Big Interior Mountain to Bedwell Lake, 25 miles west of Port Alberni.

Passengers, as yet unidentified, were diamond drillers from Vancouver and Quesnel who were making test drills in the wilderness north of Port Alberni for a mining firm.

The miners had a base camp at the head of Great Central Lake, and operated from there to prospect sites on Big Interior Mountain, about eight miles northwest of the base camp.

CARRYING SUPPLIES

It is understood they were on their way with supplies to Bedwell Lake when they went missing. Although the aircraft had radio aboard, and all ships in the Alberni area have been alerted, there has been no word of the missing men.

They were reported Friday at 11 p.m. as overdue. A search was made today by a B.C. Airlines light plane, but scattered cloud prevented close examination of the land where the 'copter is believed to be down.

The pilot and passengers had food and fuel, according to Air-Sea Rescue officials.

In the Piasecki, which was accompanied to the scene by an RCAF Canso, was a transport department official who has been investigating the crash of another Northern Helicopters machine in the area about a month ago.

Mr. Webster is the son of Mrs. E. G. Webster, 408 Dallas Road. He flew helicopters for the RCAF for about eight years, until his discharge two years ago.

Fiery Death For Canine Astronauts

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Two canine astronauts today were the martyrs of Russia's latest probe into space seeking answers to the problems of manned space flight.

The dogs — Pchelka (Little Bee) and Mushka (Little Fly) plunged to a fiery death Friday aboard Russia's third space ship satellite.

The space ship burst into flames when it hit the dense layers of the earth's atmosphere while Russian scientists were attempting to retrieve it from its elliptical orbit around the earth. Moscow radio, in its announcement Friday night of the failure to retrieve the space ship, said the five-ton vehicle descended along an "uncalculated trajectory."

The announcement said the order for the space ship's return was given after sufficient information had been obtained for manned space flight in the near future. The space ship which orbited the earth every 88.5 minutes followed its elliptical path for less than 48 hours.

'CHILDREN OF INDIA'

(Times Duncan Bureau)

The Times "Children of India" fund on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee is $5 richer today because a group of Duncan school children are more concerned with the plight of India's starving youngsters than with their own pleasures.

Children of the Duncan Christian School were saving to buy a badly-needed soccer ball when they heard about India's hungry youngsters.

"I showed them a copy of the Times with the picture of a starving Indian boy and told them about the fund," said teacher Miss Anne Bultsma. "They thought it was a wonderful idea to give the money to the fund and forget about the soccer ball for a while."

With one exception, the 18 youngsters at the school, which opened in September, are children of Dutch immigrants.

Chosen to bring the donation in to the Times bureau were Zweitse de Wit and Wesley Elzinga, both 11.

(Money or cheques made payable to the "Times Children of India Fund" may be brought to the main Victoria office, 2631 Douglas, or to the downtown office, 1215 Broad. Receipts will be given and donations are deductible from income tax.)

CRASH MOURNERS MARCH 'FROM CHURCH TO CHURCH'

CHIPMAN, Alta. (CP)—A giant procession of mourning relatives and friends moved from church to church in this village today to attend funeral services for 14 of the 17 teen-agers killed Tuesday in the collision of a school bus and train.

The services followed a joint prayer service and all-night vigil in the village school. By 10 a.m. today, church and school officials estimated 10,000 people had paid respects to the children. A steady procession moved past open coffins in the school auditorium until 4.45 a.m.

Members of the families remained on vigil all night.

From the school, the procession moved to the National Hall, next door to the Ukrainian Catholic Church, where services of that faith were conducted for three victims by Rev. Myron Daciuk of Mundare, Alta.

Four hundred people jammed the hall and stood throughout the service. There were no chairs. Scores stood on the steps and in front of the building.

Following the service, the throng moved to St. Bonaventure Roman Catholic Church, where Solemn Requiem High Mass was sung for seven victims. Among those taking part in the rites was Archbishop Anthony Jordan of Edmonton. Earlier, there was Low Mass in the temporary chapel at the school.

The final service was for four students at the Russian Greek Orthodox Church.

Meanwhile, services were being held for one student at St. Elias Ukrainian Orthodox Church in Edmonton and for another at St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic Church in Calmar, Alta. The 17th victim was buried Friday in Edmonton.

Throughout the night, women of the district served coffee at the National Hall to an estimated 4,000 people.

Many became hysterical and many more fainted. Six members of the St. John Ambulance Corps and two from Edmonton Ambulance Service were kept busy throughout the night tending to the overwrought relatives and friends.

BY HOWARD GREEN AND U.S. SENATE LEADER

WASHINGTON (CP)—Howard Green and Mike Mansfield have taken the usual action of joining directly to pledge to work for swift passage of a proposed Canada-United States treaty to harness the Columbia River for power.

The Canadian external affairs minister initiated the move in a letter to the Montana senator, expected to become majority leader in the U.S. Senate next January.

Replying Friday, Mansfield assured Green he will do "all I possibly can" on behalf of the treaty that would have to be ratified by the U.S. Senate and the Canadian Parliament before it became operative.

Mansfield, a Democrat, said he doesn't anticipate that "we will have much difficulty, as I see it at this time, of securing ratification."

Now majority whip in the Senate, Mansfield said he is glad to see the possibility of constructing the much-discussed Libby Dam is included in the agreement.

Even without Libby, he said, "it would be my intention to do my best to bring about a ratification of any reasonable agreement reached between our two countries."

. . . no difficulties

For a long time Canada held out against construction of the Libby Dam on the Montana-British Columbia border. This would freeze the Kootenay River into a pattern of flow that might prevent its use in purely Canadian power construction later.

However, the Canada-U.S. agreement forming the basis for drafting the treaty gives the U.S. a five-year option on going ahead with the project. Mansfield has said the option will be taken up.

Under the agreement, Canada will build a series of dams on the Canadian side of the Columbia in British Columbia. She will get one-half of the power produced on the American side of the border in return for her new water storage works.

Canada also will get a cash payment from the U.S. of $65,000,000, representing one-half the flood-damage saving made possible by the dams.

Normally, diplomatic correspondence between Canada and the United States is carried on between the external affairs minister and the U.S. state secretary who until next Jan. 20, is Christian Herter. However, Mansfield disclosed that he and Green have had previous exchanges on the Columbia negotiations.

KENNEDY KIN TOURS AFRICA

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Edward M. Kennedy, a younger brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy, is making a 15-day trip to 11 African nations and will give the president-elect a report when he returns.

The younger Kennedy flew Friday to Southern Rhodesia, where he will join Sen. Frank Church (Democrat—Idaho) and other members of the Senate foreign relations committee.

CASTRO PROTESTS

U.S. Aids 'Refugees'

HAVANA (AP)—The government-controlled press today charged the United States is giving aid to Cuban counter-revolutionaries by setting aside $1,000,000 to assist refugees from Fidel Castro's regime.

But the press refrained from mentioning the reason Washington decided to assist the refugees: the United States now considers Castro's regime Communist-controlled.

President Eisenhower announced Friday he was releasing the funds under terms of the Mutual Security Act, which provides assistance for refugees from Communist-dominated lands. About 30,000 refugees from Cuba have congregated in Florida.

More trouble was shaping up for Castro in his bitter fight with the Cuban Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Church sources said the hierarchy has drafted a strongly-worded reply to Castro's accusation that the clergy accepted bribes to preach against his regime.

Cuba's prelates met privately and drew up a firm rejection of Castro's attack last Sunday in which he termed priests "henchmen in cassocks."

In the Far East, Castro's diplomats have established formal relations with two major Communist states—North Viet Nam and North Korea.

Russia Backing Down In Colonialism Fight

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Soviet bloc, which has been bombarding the General Assembly with demands for an immediate end to colonialism, was reported giving ground today to a more moderate Afro-Asian proposal.

Informed sources said the Russians—realizing they have little chance to defeat 45 Afro-Asian countries backed by many Western states—have decided to support the rival plan.

The Soviet delegation has made overtures to get the Afro-Asians to make certain key changes in their resolution, which merely calls for "immediate steps" to get the colonial powers to grant freedom to their dependent territories.

The Russians want the Asian-African resolution to read more like their own, which demnads that independence be granted to all colonies "forthwith."

The Communists were said to be making little headway, however. Many of the more moderate members of the Afro-Asian bloc have cautioned that too quick a transition to freedom might be disastrous for some dependent peoples.

They have cited the chaos now existing in the former Belgian Congo as an example.

The marathon colonialism debate in which more than 70 nations were listed to speak, winds up its first week today.

The United States has been the main target of the Soviet-bloc nations. They accuse Washington of trying to crush independence and using its influence through NATO and SEATO to keep colonial regimes in power through the world.

City Council Flayed At Election Meeting

. . . 'who are they?'

City council was criticized for the arena controversy, loss of industries, poor traffic flow and a host of other problems by budding civic politicians Friday night.

The criticisms were made during an election forum in Newstead Hall sponsored by Victoria Ratepayers Educational Committee, which drew eight of the 11 aldermanic candidates and 52 persons to hear them.

W. C. Hudson, retired businessman, said he would work for attracting and retaining industry here, a one-way street system and a new City Hall. He added that he was sure present city council would "clean up" the arena situatoin this month but if it did not "it would be the duty of the new council in January to do so."

Charles Nelles, apartment house owner, said he would concentrate his efforts on "holding the line" on taxes. He said the city should increase attempts to persuade the outlying municipalities to share some of the extra costs placed on city ratepayers to provide area-wide amenities and he urged a drive to obtain relief from the three-mill cost of providing service to tax-exempt provincial property here.

Education Costs Up to Province

C. M. Parrott, retired businessman, said he would emphasize encouragement of industry here and claimed it "is the duty of city council to get together with the provincial and federal governments to get the expensive burden of education off the home-owner."

A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of Victoria Labor Council, favored evening council meetings so that working men could run for office. He also advocated more vocational facilities here, a multi-purpose auditorium which could handle large conventions, an industrial development commission and re-instatement of the former arena employees.

Elgin Neish, commercial fisherman, attacked council's decision to send Mayor Percy Scurrah to Ottawa in an effort to obtain federal assistance in developing off-street parking. He said citizens should "not finance this junket" because they rejected a parking by-law last year.

Mr. Neish also drew the only spontaneous applause of the meeting when he said today's council-arena commission meeting should be open.

"I say we ratepayers should plug that City Hall and force them to hold an open meeting," he stormed.

Tourists, Light Industry Boosted

Sam Lane, tourist industry spokesman, said he would work for greater development of the tourist trade to enable the city to benefit from the millions of dollars it could bring to the community. He also said he would support any plans that would encourage light industry to locate in the city.

Michael J. Griffin, plumbing firm director, said the administration of the city "should be operated on sound business principles." He advocated tax relief for persons improving their properties and said city council should give leadership in solving the problem of too many charitable appeals.

Victor Williams, real estate salesman, attacked closed arena commission meetings because "any troubles in City Hall are the public's troubles. If you've got dirty laundry it should be hung on the line so everyone can take a crack at cleaning it."

He favored more non-business representation on city council, comfort stations in the downtown area, free buss passes for senior citizens and efforts to obtain more equitable methods of civic taxation.

Absent from the meeting were candidates Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald A. I. Curtis and Mrs. Sarah Rogers, housewife.

'POLITICIANS'

Construction Association Castigated

Victor Midgley, Victoria representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Friday, termed the B.C. Federation of Construction Associations "just a bunch of politicians."

The association this week presented a brief to the cabinet requesting repeal of union dues check-off laws.

Mr. Midgley said the organization is an offshoot of the B.C. Federation of Trade and Industry.

"I would like to know where they were set up, who set them up and where is their charter?" he said.

The group claimed to represent 700 B.C. construction and contracting firms.

Mr. Midgley said the check-off doesn't affect the construction industry as members pay union dues to the secretary at the union hall.

This proved, he said the group had little or none of the affiliation it claimed with the construction industry.

'Neutralism Wrong For Canada'

TORONTO (CP) — Adlai Stevenson said today he believes it would be wrong for Canada to adopt neutralism in world affairs.

"I would have to take very sharp issue with the suggestion that Canada's future should be decided on a neutralist basis," Mr. Stevenson said.

"I think Canada has a very deep philosophic and ideological commitment to the issues of our time."

Mr. Stevenson, twice Democratic nominee for the United States presidency, was in Toronto today for speeches to two Jewish groups here.

CANADA SHOULD LEAD

"I think Canada should be a leader and not an escapist," he remarked, when asked at a press conference for comment on suggestions of neutralism by James M. Minifie, CBC Washington correspondent, in his recent book "Peacemaker or Powder-monkey."

Coventry Wins

COVENTRY, England (Reuters—Coventry City defeated Brentford 2-0 here Friday night in an English Third Division soccer game brought forward from today's league program.

Lachine, the Montreal industrial suburb with a population of 27,773, is named for explorer LaSalle's dream of a route to China.

The Background Comes First

WHEN YOU are not feeling well and are tempted to buy some remedy for which great claims are made, ask yourself a few simple questions. What is the background of the manufacturer of the remedy? Has he been educated in medicine, pharmacy, or chemistry? Are the claims made for his remedy based on scientific fact? Is it not possible that you have been influenced by exaggerated statements? Don't risk your health by experimenting with medicines of unknown value. Consult your physician. He alone is qualified to advise you in matters pertaining to health. If he prescribes, bring his prescription to us. It will be filled promptly with the finest ingredients obtainable.

Premiers Meet Again In August in P.E.I.

QUEBEC (CP) — The 10 provinces Friday launched a new co-operative enterprise with the establishment of periodic conferences dedicated to discussing policy matters solely within provincial jurisdiction.

Charlottetown, site in 1864 of a Maritime meeting that led to Confederation three years later, was picked as the site of the next meeting in August.

A standing invitation was extended to federal ministers to attend.

Toronto Star Profits Down

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Star Ltd. Friday reported net earnings of $1,374,578 for the company year ended Sept. 30.

The figure, which included $200,000 from the sale of patent rights, was down $103,439 from that of the previous year.

J. S. Atkinson, president, blamed the decline on "substantial increases in the cost of operation."

FORD DEAL WILL GO ON SAYS BRITON

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Patrick Hennessey, chairman of the Ford Motor Company's British subsidiary, said Friday he has "absolutely no doubt chase of British Ford shares by the American parent company would go on as planned.

The United States treasury disclosed Thursday it had asked Ford of Detroit to consider the impact of buying up complete control of British Ford shares.

Sugar Upset 'Temporary'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Although the Cuban situation has temporarily upset world sugar markets, there is reason to believe historic low prices will return again when the troubles are straightened out, the B.C. Sugar Refining Company says in its annual report.

"Our refinery does not rely on Cuba for raw sugar, but buys from British Commonwealth producers—hence disorder in Cuba would not affect our supply, but can have a definite effect on price.

"Historically an almost chronic difficulty of surplus supply has resulted in low price levels, and there is little reason to suppose that this condition will not again prevail when factors upsetting the market are straightened out."

Island Copper Receives Boost

VANCOUVER (CP) — A five-year contract, expected to gross $18,750,000, has been signed between Coast Copper Company on Vancouver Island and Japan.

A Tokyo report says Coast Copper Company has completed a deal with Mitsubishi Metal Mining Company and Dowa Mining Company.

Coast Copper Company is controlled by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail.

The concentrate (26 per cent copper) is to be imported into Japan at a rate of 25,000 tons nuually starting in 1962. This would make the total contract 125,000 tons at about $150 a ton—worth almost $19,000,000.

Flexibility Would Boost Wheat Sales

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Winnipeg Grain Exchange Friday recommended greater flexibility in wheat marketing to increase sales.

The exchange said that "greater use of all marketing facilities will create a greater volume of business." This would reduce stocks and allow the producer to deliver more wheat at country points.

The exchange was answering claims by a Calgary spokesman of the Canadian Wheat Board that those who want gretaer flexibility in prices of Canadian wheat are imply lower asking prices. He said they did not take into account whether lower prices would result in more sales.

Instead of recommending lower prices, the Winnipeg exchange said in a statement, it "is recommending a less restricted and freer flowing market, which it is convinced would lead to greater volume of sales."

The statement also said if the wheat board had followed indications showing demand for oats and barley at terminal positions, a large volume could have been sold thsi year. Britain and Europe had a reduced domestic production of the commodities, but non-Canadian exporters filled the demand.

However, the grain exchange congratulated the wheat board in releasing from delivery quota control those producers delivering wheat, oats and barley to designated feed mills.

Major Appliance Sales Here Suffer Sharp Drop

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Dollar volume of electric and gas appliance sales in the Vancouver Island area served by B.C. Electric declined again in October, latest month for which figures are available.

Bell

Total appliance sales for the area was $33,818 compared with $374,474 for September and $528,003 for October of 1959.

Some of the decline from September to October can be accounted for as a seasonal drop, but the almost $200,000 loss in sales from the previous year is a reflection of the generally lower economic level of the area.

Only bright spot in the appliance sales field is the upsurge of interest in clothes dryers. The trend across the country—and the Island is no exception—is for housewives generally to come in out of the rain and cold and let gas or electricity do their clothes drying for them. Dryer sales in this area were 74 for September, 113 for October and over 200 in November.

Western Canadian Steamships' president J. S. Clarke reported an improved financial picture to shareholders at the annual meeting in Vancouver this week. Loss for the year ended June 30 was about half of that last year at $251,422.

Mr. Clarke stated that although the ocean freight rate situation had improved somewhat it was still not at a point where there was any incentive for the company to increase its tonnage. Company now operates only two vessels, Mv Lake Atlin and Mv Lake Pennask.

Automobiles Renault Canada Ltd., distributors of the small French autos, has dropped a bombshell into the foreign car sales industry with its announcement that there will be no price increase in its line to offset increases in taxes and duty brought about by Ottawa's change in evaluation of imported cars for tax purposes.

Company vice-president R. Le Bouedec also announced plans for extension of company's operations with establishment of a parts depot in Vancouver. Renault entered the Canadian market in 1957, sold 260 cars that year and expects that this year's sales will total 7,000.

Virtually all of the Shell Oil Company of Canada's 1961 advertising will be placed in newspapers, according to R.W. Southam, president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association.

The Shell program, named "Operation Top Performance," will be on a scale unilke anything the country has ever seen.

"It far outshadows anything ever attempted in Canadian newspapers by any advertiser for any single brand name in any category," according to Mr. Southam.

CPR Profits Show Decline

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway's net earnings for October totalled $3,073,803, it has been announced. For the same month last year earnings were $3,121,907.

Revenue for the month totalled $39,001,718, compared with $39,068,157 in Oct., 1959. Expenses amounted to $35,927,915 compared with $35,946,250 for the corresponding month last year.

Earnings since Jan. 1 were $383,799,217 compared with $399,595,023 for the same period in 1959.

Net earnings since the start of the year totalled $25,406,265. For the same period in 1959 they were $27,358,864.

Railway Merger Approved by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized a merger of three U.S. affiliates of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which will operate in future as a unified corporation to be known as the Soo Line Railroad Co.

The consolidation, expected to produce annual savings of about $1,200,000, involves the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railroad Co. (the present Soo Line), and the Duluth, Southshore and Atlantic Railroad Co.

'I Won't Take Any Pay'

Ald. Arthur Dowell, seeking re-election Dec. 8, today said he had no intention of collecting his civic pay if he's still an alderman when he takes a six-month trip to Europe next year.

"I have been criticized on this point and I want to make it perfectly clear to everyone that if I am re-elected, under no circumstances will I accept remuneration during my leave of absence."

Senior alderman on council, he said he felt justified in taking a trip back to his native England to see his relatives after 40 years because "during my 10 years on council I can safely say I have spent more time on city business than on my own."

During the past four years, Ald. Dowell has been acting mayor—a job requiring full-time attendance at City Hall for periods ranging from a day to a month while the mayor is away on city business or annual vacation.

SUPREME COURT DECISION NEEDED:

Is Machine Queen's Record Clean?

A move to prevent Magistrate William Ostler and the city of Victoria from destroying a pinball machine known as The Carnival Queen was made in B.C. Supreme Court Friday.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane stood over the motion until Jan. 24 next because, it was said, the attorney-general of British Columbia had not been officially notified as required by law.

When the case comes up next month, Musicale Network System will argue that the Carnival Queen should not be destroyed because it was not in operation when city police raided a downtown gaming house.

The network will ask for a writ prohibiting Magistrate Ostler and the city of Victoria from destroying the pinball machine.

The Carnival Queen was seized when police raided the premises of Charles Lore last March. Mr. Lore was convicted of keeping a "common gaming house" and the crown prosecutor made application for destruction of the machine.

Police said when they raided the premises a Chinese gambling game known as Pai Gow was being played and it appeared there was "a 26 per cent rake-off."

A number of persons were convicted of playing Pai Gow on these premises and Mr. Lore was fined $250.

Herbert L. Matthews, for Musicale Network, claims that the Carnival Queen was on the premises at the time but was not in operation when police entered.

His argument will be that there can be no order for "forfeiture or destruction" of the Carnival Queen unless it is proved that the queen was used for gaming "or an illegal act."

Giant Liner Oriana Due In February

The 42,000-ton luxury liner Oriana, largest built in Britain since the Second World War, is due in B.C. waters Feb. 2.

The P & O Orient Lines' $40,000,000 giant left Southampton today on her maiden voyage.

She is booked to her 2,200-passenger capacity for the 16-week round trip. Even the waiting list has been closed off by Oriana's Pacific Northwest agents, with over 600 would-be voyagers hoping for cancellations.

From Britain she has ports-of-call scheduled at Naples, Port Said, Aden, Colombo, Fremantle, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland, Suva, Honolulu, Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Oriana, built in the Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire shipyards of Vickers-Armstrong in three years, has a speed of 27 knots, and recently logged 30.64 knots over a measured mile.

She will stop off the Victoria waterfront to pick up pilot, and customs and immigration officials, inbound for Vancouver.

Open Report Asked On Campaign Funds

A law demanding business corporations to disclose their political contributions should be put forward by the construction industry, CCF Leader Robert Strachan said Friday.

"It should either suggest such a law, or else forbid such contributions altogether," he said.

This course of action is open, he said, "if the construction industry really wants to contribute toward political honesty."

He was commenting on a request from the construction industry that the B.C. government wash out legislation making employers deduct union dues from wages, and another request that unions be forced to submit an annual financial statement to all members.

The construction industry contended dues checkoff should be abolished because the union will be making funds available for the New Party.

Mr. Strachan said that business uses funds it gets from the public by selling its goods for filling campaign coffers.

He contended buying a panel of plywood is just as much contributing to politics as paying union dues if both recipients of the money use it politically.

"If unions shouldn't contribute dues to political parties, then business shouldn't contribute campaign funds," the CCF leader said.

Union Chief Says Finance Books Open

A local trade union president today said his union's financial statement is available to all members, and the construction industry too if it wants to see it.

George Preston, president of the School District 63 branch of the National Union of Public Employees (B.C. Division), was commenting on a brief to the cabinet by the B.C. Federation of Construction Associations.

It called for a law compelling all unions to make annual financial statements to members, and for abolition of the law which allows checkoff of union dues by employers.

A copy of the NUPE financial statement is contained in a report of its B.C. convention in June, said Mr. Preston.

UP TO LOCALS

It is available to all members, he said, even if they didn't attend the convention, and it was made available to the press.

"Collection of money by unions for political purposes is up to the locals," he added.

MONTE ROBERTS

This is National Safe-Driving Week.

A brilliant phrase with which to open a column, and one calculated to send the readers dashing madly out into the streets, cheering wildly, waving their hats in the air, and shouting "So what?"

The reason is, what driver needs to know anything about being a safe driver?

Every driver is a safe driver.

It is only the other drivers who aren't safe drivers.

Every driver I know—and every driver you know—has been driving safely for years.

Or at least weeks.

He will gladly tell you so, and explain with diagrams how some clunkhead who should never be let behind the wheel of an automotive vehicle refused to give way and thus placed your friend, the safe driver, in such jeopardy he had to force another car off the road to preserve his safe driving record.

Once a man slips into the driver's seat and turns the key in the ignition lock, he is the safest, most competent driver on the road.

If you don't believe this, just ask him.

"If it weren't for all those incompetent idiots driving the other cars," he will tell you, "safe driving would be a cinch.

"Just keep all those other drivers off the road," he will elaborate, "and I'll show you a safe driving record second to none."

There are many types of safe drivers: the safe driver who keeps a sedate pace with the left-hand wheels hugging the centre line, and who clearly signals before turning right; the 5 o'clock weavers, whose superb co-ordination and reaction keeps them perfectly safe as they veer through traffic like a hopped-up halfback on a benzedrine diet; the yellow light cruisers who are perfectly safe so long as no fool bumps them on the green light.

There are so many types of safe drivers, space forbids their listing here.

You, of course, are a safe driver.

The only important thing to remember during Safe Driving Week is, you are the ONLY safe driver on the road.

All the other drivers are either mad, impetuous fools, or stodgy slowpokes who hold up the normal course of travel.

So, as the only safe driver on the road, my advice to you during Safe Driving Week is, leave your car at home and let the mad, impetuous fools fight it out with the stodgy slowpokes.

As my old pal Mickey Lester used to say, take it easy, my friendlies; you'll last a whole lot longer and finish a whole lot stronger.

Eye-Popping Jaycees' Act Seeks Votes

Victorians could be forgiven today for thinking the circus was back in town.

Reason: a couple of Victoria Jaycees clowning around in the downtown area, bedecked from head to toe in weird creations.

But there was a serious side to the act—it was designed to publicize the Junior Chamber of Commerce's "get out and vote" campaign for the municipal elections on Thursday.

Wearing rubber duck decoys for head-gear, Ted Bird and John McArthur carried placards urging "Don't duck out of your duty, Dec. 8."

Accompanying them, nine-year-old Jackie English, son of Jaycee George English, told shoppers "I'm too young to use a vote—you're not."

ASK The TIMES

Q. Why did Iran and Thailand change their names from Persia and Siam, respectively? G.M.

A. Iran, as it is known today, is still called Persia in many countries. However, official name change was made in 1935 because the people consider themselves Irani (Aryans), though they had been known as Persians since early Greek times. Thailand, as it is called today, made the name change from Siam in 1939. Idea at that time was to include all Thai people within extended boundaries. These boundaries were extended, then reduced, in Second World War involvements, but the name remained.

'PEOPLE ARE HEALTHIER TODAY'

Half-Century a Druggist

Bert H. Aaronson today marks 50 years in the drug business in Victoria.

With a half-century dispensing experience behind him, 72-year-old Mr. Aaronson believes people are healthier today than when he started business.

This is due mainly to antibiotics, he said.

"And in the old days people didn't go to doctors as often as today. They used home remedies.

People today also are "always trying to save a buck." These are the persons who want a pharmacist to take the role of a doctor. What happens?

"We send them to a doctor," said Mr. Aaronson.

But the prescription end of sales is not the heaviest, by any means.

Cosmetics constitute the main line, followed by linaments, aspirins and—a reflection on the fast pace of today—stomach powders.

A graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, Bert H. Aaronson went into business immediately on graduation. His store has always been in the same area, Cook and Fort, although the present store is the third site at the same intersection.

There were 12 drug stores in Victoria a half century ago, of which Aaronson's is the only one now operating under its original name.

The "H" in his name, incidentally, stands for absolutely nothing.

"I put it in as an uncle of mine had the same first initial. It was confusing. Names got mixed up."

His son Gordon is associated with Mr. Aaronson in his store operation, as is wife Marguerite, "down in the store now."

They live above the establishment.

When do you intend to retire?

"Someday."

Until that day comes along Mr. Aaronson will continue golfing, fishing, and continuing the job that "makes you mad, and makes you laugh."

Arena Probe Meeting

GET NEW MANAGER, TAKE BACK SIX, COUNCIL SAYS

Commission Stays on Job

By JOHN MIKA

A three-hour tension-packed meeting between city council and Memorial Arena Commission today wound up with a "suggestion" that the commission reinstate six former employees and find a new manager.

Both commission and council were to consider further their separate positions later. The commission indicated it would not resign.

Aldermen were told that affidavits and transcripts of statements made to a closed hearing by the commission last month would be opened to them.

They include a charge that arena manager Joe Dukowski spent about $50 a month for liquor which was consumed in the arena—one item revealed for the first time at today's open meeting.

'See That They Get Justice'

Commissioner Courtney Haddock several times threatened to resign over the "moral issue" of mistreating the six former employees but said he would stay on the commission to "see that they get justice."

Commission chairman Frank Mulliner said the commission had decided Friday night to carry on if council expressed confidence in it and "if we haven't your confidence, fire us."

He admitted he did not invite Commissioner Haddock to the Friday commission meeting because "I couldn't possibly ask him when he didn't ask us to his meeting with the press." It appeared he was referring to a statement by Mr. Haddock published by the Times.

Several times during the course of the meeting Mr. Mulliner, Aldermen Geoffrey Edgelow, M. H. Mooney and Arthur Dowell objected to lawyer E. E. Pearlman speaking for former arena office manager Kenneth Noakes.

Mr. Pearlman demanded to know whether council would deny Mr. Noakes his rights to counsel. Mayor Percy Scurrah, consulting with city solicitor T. P. O'Grady, said council could not prevent Mr. Pearlman from speaking for his client.

About 30 people, including arena manager Dukowski, ex-office manager Noakes, and some other former arena employees attended the session in City Hall.

After almost two hours of preliminary hassles in a charged atmosphere Pearlman said:

"The commission is now trying to hide this by saying they knew nothing about it, and blame someone else.

"But I point out that vouchers for this have been available there a number of years, and the commission did nothing about it."

His statement came after Commissioner William Pinfold said a transcript of a commission hearing last month showed that Mr. Noakes knew about the liquor purchases, but never brought it to the commission's attention.

Mr. Noakes retorted that he did not dare go to the commission because he would lose his job.

"As far as I was concerned," said Mr. Pinfold, "I did not know of any authorization for expenditure of funds on liquor, except once, last fall, when there was a party for the hockey club representatives and the press."

Commissioner Saw No Liquor Cheques

Mr. Pinfold said during discussion at the commission hearing when the six former employees filed affidavits, that Mr. Pearlman was asked how much money was spent on liquor in a given year.

"When we tried to pin him down as to how much was spent in a year, the biggest figure he came up with was $300," said Mr. Pinfold.

Mr. Pearlman jumped up and snapped, "That is not correct. I stuck by my statement of $50 a month, and I suggested you look up your vouchers. Have you?"

Mr. Pinfold said he had never seen any cheques for liquor in the arena commission's monthly statement of accounts.

He said Mr. Noakes made out the vouchers, and "if there is anything covered up, shouldn't it be here in these vouchers?"

Mr. Noakes interjected that there was another sub-statement on cash pay-outs in the monthly reports. Mr. Pinfold replied: "but you knew that it was being spent for liquor, and you never brought it to the commission."

Mr. Noakes began replying "I never was in a position . . ."

"Just a moment," interrupted Mr. Pinfold.

"Let him finish his answer," burst out Mr. Pearlman.

"I wasn't in a position to bring it to your attention," continued Mr. Noakes, "while I was employed because I would have lost my job."

This brought a chorus of "No's" from some of the commissioners.

The liquor charges as outlined in Mr. Noakes' affidavit were revealed to the meeting after Mr. Pinfold began a synopsis of his interpretation of the controversy. He said Mr. Dukowski hired Mr. Noakes 11 years ago, and they had been very close friends, in a sense, "drinking together,

Trains Running As Bill Passed

Saves Nation From Chaos Says Dief; Opposition Attacks Gov't Methods

OTTAWA (CP)—By Parliament's edict, the trains are running today across Canada.

At the 11th hour Friday night, Parliament outlawed a country-wide walkout threatened for early today by 111,000 operating railwaymen.

In the face of fierce criticism from the opposition, Prime Minister Diefenbaker called on Parliament to pass an emergency law to postpone any strike action until after May 15.

It went into effect just half a day before the national strike was to start in Newfoundland and work its way westward by time zone.

The emergency law, Mr. Diefenbaker said, saves the nation from the chaos and catastrophe of a transcontinental tie-up of the major railways.

But opposition critics contend it also destroys the right of railwaymen to strike for better wages, discredits the conciliation process and merely shunts the rail crisis ahead to May 15.

TIME, TACTICS FOUGHT

The government had to fight fast-ebbing time and the delaying tactics of the opposition to get its special law through the Commons and Senate in time to prevent the walkout, set for 8 a.m. local time today.

The stop-the-strike bill was proclaimed law at 6.30 p.m. EST after a three-day emergency debate.

It postpones any strike action by "non-op" rail workers until after May 15, by which time the government hopes a more favorable atmosphere will exist for settling Canada's biggest labor scrap.

Faced with the ban, chief union spokesman Frank H. Hall suspended the strike order and told the members of the 15-union "non-op" group to remain on their jobs.

"We would have beaten the railways in a strike if the government hadn't come to their aid," he told reporters.

There was no immediate comment from the two major railways, the privately-owned CPR and the publicly-owned CNR.

MEETING SET

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons he will summon the disputants to regular meetings to try to resolve the dispute over a 14-cent hourly pay increase proposed by a federal conciliation board — accepted by the unions but rejected by the railways.

Mr. Hall said he would go to such meetings, but added

Fiery Death For Canine Astronauts

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Two canine astronauts today were the martyrs of Russia's latest probe into space seeking answers to the problems of manned space flight.

The dogs — Pchelka (Little Bee) and Mushka (Little Fly) plunged to a fiery death Friday aboard Russia's third space ship satellite.

The space ship burst into flames when it hit the dense layers of the earth's atmosphere while Russian scientists were attempting to retrieve it from its elliptical orbit around the earth. Moscow radio, in its announcement Friday night of the failure to retrieve the space ship, said the five-ton vehicle descended along an "uncalculated trajectory."

The announcement said the order for the space ship's return was given after sufficient information had been obtained for manned space flight in the near future.

Lost Helicopter Found On Island Lake; Three Safe

A helicopter and its three occupants, missing for almost 24 hours, were reported safe today at Great Central Lake on Vancouver Island.

The helicopter left Great Central Lake, 25 miles northwest of Port Alberni, at 1 p.m. Friday on a 10-minute flight to Bedwell Lake.

Pilot of the helicopter was Roy Webster of New Westminster.

Passengers were Terry O'Neill and Emil Kuzyak, both employed by a Vancouver diamond drilling company. It is believed at least one of the men is from Quesnel.

Webster contacted the RCAF search and rescue unit here at noon, saying the party had returned to Great Central Lake shortly after departure Friday.

He gave bad flying weather as the reason for turning back.

The RCAF had started a search for the helicopter early today. One search aircraft had been sent out and others were preparing to join the hunt when Webster contacted RCAF officials.

The miners had a base camp at the head of Great Central Lake, and operated from there to prospect sites on Big Interior Mountain, about eight miles northwest of the base camp.

Mr. Webster is the son of Mrs. E. G. Webster, 408 Dallas Road. He flew helicopters for the RCAF for about eight years, until his discharge two years ago.

New Call For Summit

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government today called for another UN "summit meeting" next spring to take up the problems of world disarmament.

Western observers saw the call as a move by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to pave the way for another visit to the United States and a possible meeting with President Eisenhower's successor in the White House, John F. Kennedy.

The call for the summit meeting came in a point communique issued by the Soviet government and Premier Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, who just completed a visit to Moscow.

The communique said:

"The Soviet Union and Cambodia regard as advisable the convocation in the spring of 1961 of a special session of the UN general assembly with participation of heads of state or governments to examine the problems of disarmament."

Khrushchev headed the Soviet delegation to the general assembly during the opening days of its current regular session. But any hopes for a summit meeting then were dashed when French President Charles de Gaulle stayed home and President Eisenhower attended the assembly only briefly.

MONEY WASTED ON MISSILES

LONDON (AP)—The treasury admitted Friday millions of pounds of taxpayers' money were wasted in the development of British guided missiles, which cost many times their original estimates.

"Very special attention" must be paid to financial control in the future, a treasury white paper added, in reply to criticisms by the parliamentary committee of public accounts.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Court Quashes LRB Decision

VANCOUVER—The province-wide certification of the Painters' Union for employees of 17 companies has been quashed by the Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan said the Labor Relations Board had exceeded its jurisdiction in granting the certifications.

He said the certificates gave an exclusive jurisdiction to the union so far in excess of the territorial limitations he said was the intention of the act.

The certifications were granted earlier this year to Local 138 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America to represent 126 employees of the 17 firms, all of them from the Lower Mainland, on projects in most of B.C.

The judge said each certificate purported to confer on the Vancouver-based local of an international union all bargaining rights for employees on present operations and those who might be employed in the future.

The employers complained that the exclusive certifications were oppressive and beyond the power of the Labor Relations Board to grant.

WANTED TO KILL

VANCOUVER—Police laid a charge of robbery against a 14-year-old runaway boy who said he wanted to be a gangster and kill "about 18 people." The boy was charged after an alleged attack on a young woman who lost her purse and was thrown to the ground.

BOY KNIFED

PORT COQUITLAM—A 16-year-old schoolboy, involved in a knife duel with another youth, was ordered to post a $500 bond to keep the peace for one year when he appeared in court here Friday.

Magistrate J. J. Lye ordered Arthur Hale to post the bond. Hale was charged with assault causing bodily harm to classmate Donald Urquhart.

The Uruquhart youth suffered a punctured lung in the duel.

TALLEST XMAS TREE

NEW WESTMINSTER — A 127-foot-high Douglas fir, billed as the tallest Christmas tree in the world, will be strung with lights in Moody Park here next week. Linemen will string the big fir tree with 425 lamps.

REMOVE CROSSINGS

TRAIL—Members of Parliament for the East Kootenays have been asked by Mine, Mill Union members in the Kootenays to recommend to the government that immediate steps be taken to remove all level railway crossings from Canadian highways. The recommendation comes after the recent level crossing disaster at Lamont, Alta.

YOUTH SENTENCED

VANCOUVER — A 16-year-old youth who admitted stealing 45 cars during several months was sentenced to a year definite and 18 months indefinite in police court here Friday. Gilbert Gillett, pleaded guilty specifically to two counts of car theft.

Prosecutor Roland Bouwman told court the boy gave police details on 43 other cars which were taken for joy-riding.

WHITE AND STRIPES FOR WINTER—Skin-tight ski pants with bold horizontal stripes are topped by white coat and fur hat in outfit modelled at winter sports fashion show at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, West German ski area. The model is wearing fur-lined boots to keep her feet dry, warm and decorative. (AP Wirephoto.)

CRASH MOURNERS MARCH 'FROM CHURCH TO CHURCH'

CHIPMAN, Alta. (CP)—A giant procession of mourning relatives and friends moved from church to church in this village today to attend funeral services for 14 of the 17 teen-agers killed Tuesday in the collision of a school bus and train.

The services followed a joint prayer service and all-night vigil in the village school. By 10 a.m. today, church and school officials estimated 10,000 people had paid respects to the children. A steady procession moved past open coffins in the school auditorium until 4.45 a.m.

Members of the families remained on vigil all night.

From the school, the procession moved to the National Hall, next door to the Ukrainian Catholic Church, where services of that faith were conducted for three victims by Rev. Myron Daciuk of Mundare, Alta.

Four hundred people jammed the hall and stood throughout the service. There were no chairs. Scores stood on the steps and in front of the building.

Following the service, the throng moved to St. Bonaventure Roman Catholic Church, where Solemn Requiem High Mass was sung for seven victims. Among those taking part in the rites was Archbishop Anthony Jordan of Edmonton. Earlier, there was Low Mass in the temporary chapel at the school.

The final service was for four students at the Russian Greek Orthodox Church.

Meanwhile, services were being held for one student at St. Elias Ukrainian Orthodox Church in Edmonton and for another at St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic Church in Calmar, Alta. The 17th victim was buried Friday in Edmonton.

Throughout the night, women of the district served coffee at the National Hall to an estimated 4,000 people.

Many became hysterical and many more fainted. Six members of the St. John Ambulance Corps and two from Edmonton Ambulance Service were kept busy throughout the night tending to the overwrought relatives and friends.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Central Saanich police court Thursday:

Lawrence J. Eckert, 189 Helmcken, $25 for careless driving and $15 for driving without insurance.

G. B. James, Vancouver, $15 for speeding over 40.

Thomas M. Dignan, Brentwood, $35 for careless driving.

In Colwood RCMP court Friday:

Stanley B. Adamson, 619 Raynor, $40 and $3 costs for speeding over 40.

David Harold Walker, 225 Wilson, $15 and $3 costs for driving with over-width load and $10 and $3 costs for driving without a muffler.

One Man Held As Prowlings Cause Alarm

One man appeared in Esquimalt police court today after two prowlings were reported in Greater Victoria Friday night.

Donald Wilfred Ward, West Saanich Road, was charged with loitering or prowling at the home of Britton Bradstock, 848 Esquimalt. He was remanded to Monday for plea.

The other case reported to city police at 1.08 a.m. by A. D. Hitch, occupant of a room at Crystal Court Motel, 683 Belleville, who said when he went into a bathroom he found a large man standing in the bathtub.

Before he could switch the light on, Hitch said, the man climbed out a window.

SAFE DRIVING WEEK

Two Crashes Upset Sidney's Good Mark

A near-clear traffic record for Safe Driving Week, recorded in Sidney area in recent years, was upset by two highway crashes Friday night—the second day of the annual campaign.

Oak Bay driver Grace McKenzie Farr, 2771 Burdick, came out almost unscratched—just a bruised leg—when the car she was driving left Patricia Bay Highway at McTavish, rolled over, landed on its wheels and crashed into a stump just after midnight.

Sidney RCMP said damage to the car was heavy.

An hour earlier, at Patricia Bay and Mills Cross Road, an estimated $400 damage was caused when cars driven by a 17-year-old North Saanich boy and 17-year-old Victoria boy collided.

There were no injuries and neither car left the highway.

The crash happened when one auto tried to overtake the other as the second was about to turn left.

Airline Tours Will Embrace World Shrines

Scandinavian Airlines System and Transmarine Tours have scheduled three national pilgrimage tours, each of 17 days duration.

The groups, which will travel under the auspices of the Guild of Catholic Travel, will visit eight countries. Among the cities to be visited are: Dublin, London, Paris, Lourdes, Lisbon, Madrid, Rome and Copenhagen. The itineraries include visits to Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin; Westminster Catholic Cathedral, London; Notre Dame, Paris and the Miraculous Grotto and Basilica, Lourdes.

Also, the Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima, Portgual, and the Vatican, Rome, where an audience with Pope John XXIII will be petitioned.

Inclusive cost from Montreal and Los Angeles are $776 and $972 respectively. Departures are set for Jan. 15, Feb. 12 and March 12.

INJUNCTION GRANTED

VANCOUVER—Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan granted the Canadian Ironworkers Union, Local No. 1, an injunction here Friday against the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers, Local 97.

The injunction, granted in Supreme Court, restrains the international union from "coercing" members of Local 1 to withdraw from the Canadian local.

'DON'T NATIONALIZE UNLESS YOU HAVE TO'

MONTREAL (CP)—Prof. J. C. Welden of McGill University said today the New Party should not regard nationalization as a doctrine.

"Do not commit yourself to nationalization as a method," the Montreal economist said during a panel discussion attended by members of groups that will form the party.

Nationalization should be resorted to when part of the economy was not functioning properly or was not pulling its weight.

CHELSEA CRUSHES ALBION 7-1

Greaves Nets Five Goals

LONDON (CP)—Jimmy Greaves, the England national team's inside forward, scored five goals as Chelsea crushed West Bromwich Albion 7-1 in a rain-soaked English League scorrer game here today.

The 20-year-old star, who already has scored more than 100 goals in his brilliant career, kicked home four goals by halftime, when Chelsea led 5-0, and added another in the second half.

It is the third time Greaves has performed the five-goal feat in a league game.

PLAY 4-4 TIE

First Division leader Tottenham Hotspur and reigning champion Burnley battled to a 4-4 draw on the other side of London.

The red-hot Spurs, beaten only once this season, appeared set for another decisive triumph when an anspired first-half burst brought them three goals in three minutes.

They pushed the lead to 4-0 but Burnley, which had a tough European Cup clash against Rheims in the Paris mud three days ago, fought back to make it 4-1 at the half.

NORMAN OPENS SCORING

Centre-half Maurice Norman started the Spurs' first-half spree with a goal in the 17th minute. Welsh winger Cliff Jones followed up with scores in the 19th and 20th minutes and Scottish wing-half Dave MacKay made it 4-0 after 26 minutes. Winger John Connelly netted Burnley's first a minute later.

Second-half goals by Jimmy Robson and Ray Pointer put Burnley back in the game. Then Connelly tied it 14 minutes from the finish.

The Spurs had their lead at the top of the standings cut from nine to eight points.

In another exciting clash, Everton beat Sheffield Wednesday 4-2 to jump past Wednesday into second place. Sheffield took a 2-1 halftime lead but Everton hit back with a penalty by Roy Vernon, a goal by Peter Johnson, and a fine solo score by Jimmy Harris.

Wolverhampton here in the 5-3 trimming of visiting Arsenal was centre-forward Ted Farmer, playing his 11th game of the season. Farmer crashed in three goals, one in the first half and two in the last 10 minutes to crush a gallant Arsenal team, still without new star George Eastham who will make his debut for the first team next week.

Streaks Snapped

NEW YORK (AP) — St. Louis Hawks defeated New York Knicks, 139-133, in an overtime national basketball association game before 9,298 fans Friday night, breaking their own two-game losing streak and ending the Knick's win streak at four.

At Boston, Los Angeles rookie Jerry West fired two baskets in the final 30 seconds to rally the Lakers for a 120-117 victory.

Remains of dwellings dating from about 100 BC have been found near ancient Pyrasos in Thessaly, Greece.
